Alteration in position and in the sectors of Yellow Patch light—Howe or North Channel.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 59, dated the 5th ultimo, issued by this Office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 229 of 1890) that the illuminating apparatus of Yellow Patch light has been shifted to a light-room E. N. E. of the old light-house, and when in line with cape Moreton light bears E. by S. ½ S. southerly. This line of direction intersects that of Tangaluma and Cowan Cowan lights in line at the northernmost point at which that leading mark should be used.

The southern limit of the inner white sector of Yellow Patch light is on an E. ¼ S. bearing, as formerly. Vessels when northward of this southern limit must keep Tangaluma light, slightly open westward of Cowan Cowan light, and should not get westward of the leading mark of Tangaluma and Cowan Cowan lights in line while within the distance of one mile southward of the limit. With the lights in line, the depth abreast East bank does not now exceed 17 feet at low water.

The outer white sector of Yellow Patch light is obscured by the land eastward of the bearing S. ¾ E.

The inner limit of the red sector of Yellow Patch light leads northward of the floating beacon north of East bank, as formerly.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

PUBLIC DEBT.

No. 3117.

Simla, the 25th June 1890.

Whereas the 4½ per cent. Loans noted on the margin, which mature upon 15th September 1893, can be discharged at par on that date, provided three months' notice of payment shall have been given on the 15th June 1893; and whereas it is desirable to give holders of those loans the opportunity of tranferring their holdings into the ordinary 4 per cent. Loans; it is hereby notified that the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, has been authorised, until 30th December 1890, to deliver 4½ Per cent. Loan of 1878.

Transfer Loan of 1879, 4½ per cent. portion, including the 4½ Per, Cent. Loan of 1880.

4 per cent. Promissory Notes or Stock Certificates in exchange for 4½ per cent. Securities of the above loans upon the following terms:—

(1) Rs. 100 of 4 per cent. Promissory Notes or Stock Certificates will be delivered for every Rs. 100 of 4½ per cent. Securities received, and any interest (accrued and not already paid) on the 4½ per cent. Securities up to the last preceding half yearly date for the payment of interest, and also the excess interest payable upon them up to the date of maturity (15th September 1893), will be paid in cash. This excess in the case of Securities on which interest has been drawn up to 14th March 1890 is Rs. 1-12-0 per cent.

(2) The Promissory Notes or Stock Certificates delivered will be of the Loan of 1854-55, and interest will run upon them from the half-yearly date of that loan next following the last half-yearly date of the 4½ per cent. Loan (namely, 30th June if the Securities are presented for conversion between 15th March and 14th September, and 31st December if presented between 15th September and 30th December).

(3) Anticipation interest at 4 per cent. will be paid for the period (3 months and 15 days) between the last half-yearly date for payment of interest upon the 4½ per cent. Securities received, and the date from which the interest will run upon the Promissory Notes delivered in exchange. The amount of this anticipation interest is Rs. 1-2-8 per cent.

(4) A brokerage of 4 annas per cent. will be paid to the person who tenders the Securities.

(5) The Securities tendered for transfer should be receipted in the following form: Received in lieu of this note a note of the same value of the 4 per cent. Loan of 1854-55 bearing interest from 30th June 1890 (or 31st December 1890 if tendered after 14th September 1890).

2. Securities other than Loan Certificates, with coupons payable to bearer attached, tendered for transfer in India under this notification, should be presented on or before the 30th December 1890 at the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, or at a Presidency Bank or any of their branches, or at any Government Treasury in India. Loan Certificates, with coupons payable to bearer attached, tendered for conversion in India, must be presented at the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, together with the coupons with which they were issued, if any such remain which have not become due. When the Securities are presented at the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, that office will, as soon as possible after receipt of the Securities, issue the 4 per cent. Promissory Notes, and also pay the interest and brokerage. In other cases the Bank or Treasury receiving the Securities tendered will forward them to the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, which will, as soon as possible after receipt, furnish the Bank or Treasury concerned with the 4 per cent. Promissory Notes to be issued in exchange, and with a payment order for the interest and brokerage. The 4 per cent. Promissory Note will then be delivered, and the interest and brokerage paid by the Bank or Treasury concerned.

3. The Governor-General in Council reserves the right of withdrawing the authority given in this Notification at any time that he may see cause to do so.

4. The Secretary of State for India will issue a Notification in London stating the terms on which securities of the 4½ per cent. Loans mentioned in the margin of paragraph 1 will be received for conversion in England.

SEPARATE REVENUE.

OPIUM.

Price and sale of Opium.

The 27th June 1890.

No. 3142.—It is hereby notified—

(1) That in the calendar year 1891 not more than 57,000 chests of Bengal opium will be offered for sale, and not more than 4,750 chests in each month of the year;

(2) That of the quantity to be offered for sale each month, not more than 2,500 chests will consist of Benares, and not more than 2,250 chests of Patna opium; and

(3) That no reduction will be made in this quantity without three months' previous notice.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS FOR THE YEAR 1889.

RESOLUTION.

POLICE

Calcutta, the 27th June 1890.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Police Administration of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs for the year 1889.

Read also—

The Annual Reports of the Chief Presidency Magistrate and the Presidency Magistrate of the Northern Division on the Criminal Administration of their Courts for the year 1889.

The Reports for the year 1888 and the orders of Government thereon.

The following statement shows the number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta during 1889 and the two preceding years:—

		1887.	1888.	1889.
Cognizable	Penal Code*	6,485	8,619	8,421
	Miscellaneous	21,566	29,716	24,643
Non-cognizable	Penal Code*	6,566	5,759	5,627
	Miscellaneous	20,475	19,569	21,692
	Total	55,092	63,663	60,383

* As in previous years, some offences under other Acts are included in this table with offences under false cases has been steadily decreasing year by year. In the Town, out of 20 prosecutions for false complaints, 12 ended in conviction, in 6 of which the complainants were sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from two to six months, and in 6 only fines were inflicted. In 28 cases fines were inflicted under section 552 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, compensation being awarded in 25 cases to the aggrieved parties. In 3 cases the defendants were discharged, and in the remaining 9 cases the evidence was insufficient for further proceedings. No case was instituted by any Court suo motu.

In 10 out of the 16 prosecutions instituted in the Suburbs, the complainants were imprisoned for terms ranging from one to six months; in the other 8 false cases no persons were charged, and the complaints were not of a nature that warranted further proceedings.

4. Property stolen and recovered.—The value of the property stolen was Rs. 1,51,267 against Rs. 1,22,523 in 1888, and that of the property recovered Rs. 69,199 against Rs. 59,401 in 1888. In the Town the percentage of property recovered, 49·02, was the same as in the preceding year, but in the Suburbs there was a marked falling off from 43·89 to 35·06. This is said to have been mainly due to unsuccessful investigation in a heavy case of burglary which occurred near Tallygange.

5. Ratio of cognizable crime to area and population.—The ratio of cognizable crime to population in the Town and Suburbs was as follows:—

	Area in square miles.	Population.	Proportion of crime to population.
Town ...	7·8	433,219	1 to 16·83
Suburbs ...	23	251,439	1 to 34·66

6. Cognizable crime in the Town.—The following statement shows the number of true cognizable cases reported within the town during the last three years:—

Crime.	1887.	1888.	1889.
Abetment of offence not committed ...	.....	.....	1
Class I—Offences against the State, &c. ...	49	43	32
„ II—Serious offences against the person ...	213	182	186
„ III—Serious offences against person and property	185	163	189
„ IV—Minor offences against the person ...	58	71	53
„ V—Minor offences against person and property	2,223	2,037	2,309
„ VI—Other offences not specified above ...	4,408	7,710	6,891
Special and Local laws	16,009	18,950	16,074
Total ...	23,145	29,156	25,735

There was a satisfactory decrease in offences relating to coin, the number of which was 5 against 13 in 1888. Six persons were arrested, of whom 4 were convicted and 2 discharged. The maximum sentence inflicted was 6 months' rigorous imprisonment.

There were 4 cases of murder against 6 in 1888. In one of these cases the accused, a Burman convict in the Presidency Jail, who in a sudden fit of passion killed the convict-warder, also a Burman, by a blow from a heavy block of wood, was sentenced to capital punishment. The same sentence was passed upon a seaman of the British barque Roanoke, who committed an indecent assault on a young

Commissioner of Police observes that the natives of Lower Bengal possess many of the qualities essential for detective police work, but the salary of the two lower grades is altogether insufficient to induce young Bengalis of education to enter the police. The result is that the force is encumbered in these grades by an undue proportion of unintelligent up-countrymen who, except in physique, are inferior to the mass of people whose interests they are employed to protect. The question of raising the salary of the lower grade of officers to which Mr. Lambert properly attaches great importance should receive consideration of a separate communication. The percentage of casualties [illegible] 11·40 in the previous year. Fifteen members of soldiers [illegible] against 16 in 1888. Fifty-six men were [illegible] the second a man was [illegible] and 3 respectively in 1888. The [illegible] comment.

[illegible] The decrease occurred [illegible] lary rose from 161 to [illegible] perty stolen was [illegible] y of the four preceding [illegible] portion of property [illegible] ly 32·15 per cent. as compared with an average of 47·39 per cent. [illegible] our years. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Mr. Lambert in thinking that the conditions of Eastern life, the habit which prevails so largely among native shop-keepers in the town of quitting their shops at night, and the general insecurity of dwelling-houses in this country, are very favourable to the commission of the offence of burglary in Calcutta. None the less the offence is very much less frequent in Calcutta than in mofussil towns, a fact which must be attributed to the better watch and ward maintained on Calcutta.

In theft cases there was an increase of 283 as compared with 1888. No explanation of the increase is given. The percentage of cases detected was 48·94 against 47·32 in 1888. The number of cases of criminal breach of trust fell from 269 to 261 in 1889. The most audacious offenders are said to be drivers of bullock-carts who steal a registration plate, from some cart and hurry off with their load of cloth or grain into remote parts of the suburbs, or to the railway, having previously arranged for the disposal of the goods at some distant market. The tin ticket, the number of which has probably been taken down by the merchant's sircar, is then [illegible] paper ticket is re-affixed to the cart, or the cart is thrown aside [illegible] further use. Nine such cases were successfully prosecuted during [illegible] that the offenders were all [illegible] subsequently [illegible] sight sentences. The Commissioner [illegible] all serious [illegible] this nature should be [illegible] of this year charged under the Gambling Act, 441 were [illegible] of a gaming house in Jorabagan, who had been previously [illegible] on a warrant and sentenced to a fine of Rs. 5 only. Mr. Lambert [illegible] to such leniency on the part of the Magistrate who tried the case. Under the Stage Carriage Act there were 2,079 cases and 2,032 convictions, against [illegible] cases and 2,702 convictions in the previous year; the decrease is due to the fact that summary arrest is not now made for the offence of carrying excess passengers, procedure by summons being substituted for it. The officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals did much good service throughout the year in prosecuting offenders under the Act, and over 98 per cent. of the persons arrested were convicted and punished. The barbarous practice of flaying goats alive was for the first time exposed, but the leniency of Magistrates in such cases as these, as well as in the numerous 'phooka' cases, seriously detracts from the good effect of the prosecutions. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the serious nature of such offences will be duly weighed by all Presidency Magistrates in similar cases in the future.

7. Cognizable crime in the Suburbs.—The following is a comparative statement of true cognizable crime during the past three years:—

Crime	1887	1888	1889
Class I—Offences against the State, &c. ...	15	14	15
„ II—Serious offences against the person	77	53	75
„ III— Ditto against person and property	171	127	151
„ IV—Minor offences against the person	15	25	21
„ V— Ditto against property ...	709	738	680
„ VI—Other offences not specified above ...	717	1,534	601
Special and local laws	3,073	6,604	5,062

There was one case of an offence relating to Government currency notes. A native of Burrisal, in whose lodgings at Machooa Bazar counterfeit notes and two leaden plates prepared for forgery had been found, was sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment. An accomplice of his at Burrisal received a similar sentence, but it was quashed by the High Court. There were three cases of murder against one in 1888. In one of these cases the accused was on conviction sentenced to transportation for life. In the other two cases no clue was obtained to the murderers. There were three cases of culpable homicide, in one of which a Hindu of the labouring class, who committed a murderous assault on his wife, was sentenced to be hanged, but the High Court reduced the sentence to ten years' transportation. In a second case the accused were discharged by the High Court. In the remaining case the culprit escaped. It is satisfactory to observe that there were only 16 cases of grievous hurt against 21 in 1888 and an average of 25 in the five previous years. In one of these cases three policemen attached to the Tallygunge thana were on conviction sentenced to terms of rigorous imprisonment ranging from two to three years. There were 11 cases of kidnapping, in one of which a notorious offender, who decoyed a little girl from her house by promising her sweetmeats, and robbed her of her gold ornaments, was on conviction sentenced to seven years' transportation. The figures of detection and conviction under the head of burglary and lurking house-trespass are good, but the proportion of property recovered to property stolen is low, owing to the failure of the police to recover property valued at Rs. 6,500 stolen in one case near Tallygunge.

8. Non-cognizable crime in the Town.—As explained above, the large increase in the number of cases under this head occurred in conservancy prosecutions. There were 4 cases of forgery against 15 in 1888. Convictions were obtained in 2 cases. The number of cases of extortion was 15 against 17 in 1888. In two cases committed to the Sessions the offenders were sentenced to six and three years' rigorous imprisonment respectively. In one case a constable was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for extorting four annas from a milkman.

9. Non-cognizable crime in the Suburbs.—There was a decrease of 71 cases as compared with the previous year. This calls for no special notice.

10. Suicides.—The number of cases in the Town and Suburbs was 83 against 84 in 1888. In 36 per cent. of the cases death was caused by hanging, and in 28 per cent. by means of opium. Of the persons who committed suicide, 65 were Hindus, 10 Mahomedans and 8 Christians.

11. Accidental deaths.—There were 292 accidental deaths against 351 in 1888. One hundred and three deaths were due to drowning as against 152 in the previous year; 30 were caused by falls from trees and buildings, and 31 by carriages and horses. One hundred and forty-two drivers of public and private carriages were prosecuted for rash and furious driving, of whom 124 were convicted.

12. Arms Act.—The importation of fire-arms increased from 1,889 pieces in 1888 to 2,655 pieces in 1889. The Commissioner of Police attributes the increase to the importation of a cheaper class of weapon. There was an increase of 411 in the number of guns imported, and of 216 in the inland transport of guns. The imports of percussion caps rose from 15,470,000 to 23,384,000 in 1889, owing to the fact that the surplus stock in hand at the commencement of the year was much less than that at the commencement of 1888. The number of guns sold in Calcutta was 2,720 against 2,709 in 1888, of which only 957 were of native manufacture against 1,084 in 1888. There were seven prosecutions under the Act against 35 in the previous year.

13. European Vagrancy Act.—Thirty-three persons were admitted to the Workhouse under section 5 of the Act. Two persons were deported, 12 were shipped away as seamen, and 2 others provided with employment.

14. Fire-Brigade Act.—Nine fires occurred in the Town, 16 in the Suburbs and six in Howrah. The damage done is estimated at Rs. 1,38,490 against Rs. 12,53,480 in 1888. In only one case was there the loss of a human life. The most serious fire occurred at Narcoldanga, resulting in the destruction of a large quantity of hay and straw, and 14 tiled huts, worth in all Rs. 40,000. The fire lasted for four days and three hours.

15. Strength and cost of the Police.—The total cost of the Town Police was Rs. 4,52,725 against Rs. 4,60,302 in 1888, and that of the Suburban Police Rs. 1,58,255 against Rs. 1,60,066. The decrease in expenditure on both the Town and Suburban Police was due to minor causes and calls for no explanation.

16. The Police Force.—There were 1,972 up-country men in the police

Commissioner of Police observes that the natives of Lower Bengal possess many of the qualities essential for detective police work, but the salary of the two lower grades is altogether insufficient to induce young Bengalis of education to enter the police. The result is that the force is encumbered in these grades by an undue proportion of unintelligent up-countrymen who, except in physique, are inferior to the mass of people whose interests they are engaged to protect. The question of raising the salary of the lower grade of native officers to which Mr. Lambert properly attaches great importance should be made the subject of a separate communication. The percentage of casualties in the force was 9·74 against 11·40 in the previous year. Fifteen members of the force were punished judicially against 16 in 1888. Fifty-six men were dismissed and two men deserted, against 81 and 3 respectively in 1888. The number of vacancies was 288 against 337 in 1888. The decrease occurred chiefly under the heads of resignations and dismissals.

17. Hotels, liquor shops, &c.—Two hundred and sixty-eight certificates were granted for hotels, shops for the sale of exciseable articles, and native eating-houses in the Town, and 52 in the Suburbs, against 286 and 46 respectively in 1888. The fees realized amounted to Rs. 822, against Rs. 1,180 in the Town and to Rs. 235 against Rs. 198 in the Suburbs.

18. Property found and restored.—Property to the value of Rs. 20,668 was picked up and brought to the police office, and 88 per cent. of the amount was restored to the owners.

19. Old offenders.—Two hundred and seventy-eight old offenders were convicted in the Town against 257 in 1888. Of these, 80 had been convicted more than three times. In the Suburbs the corresponding figures were 83 and 16 against 132 and 19 in 1888. Eighty-eight notorious offenders were photographed on their release from jail, and their names registered by the Detective Department.

20. Judicial work.—The number of cases instituted in the Northern Division was 14,053, in the Southern Division 13,415, and before the Bench of Presidency Magistrates 21,149, against 15,289, 15,820 and 18,941 respectively in 1888. Of 35,768 persons appearing before the Courts, 32,732 were convicted and 2,911 acquitted. The ratio of conviction in cognizable cases was 96·84 in the Northern Court, 95·58 in the Southern Court, and 70·37 in the Bench Courts, and 57·78, 40·7 and 40·44 respectively in non-cognizable cases (excluding conservancy prosecutions). The total amount of fines imposed in the Southern Division was Rs. 37,253, of which Rs. 34,633-8-3 was realized; the corresponding figures in the Northern Division were Rs. 22,424-6 and Rs. 21,425-10. Sentences of whipping were passed on 75 persons, and 15 juvenile offenders were sent to the Alipore Reformatory. The total amount of fines imposed by Benches in municipal cases was Rs. 30,078 against Rs. 28,947 in 1888.

21. Adjournments—The total number of cases adjourned was 422, of which 187 were before the Northern Division Court, 183 before the Chief Magistrate, and 52 before the Benches. Of these 52 cases only 34 were adjourned once. Out of 338 adjourned hearings in the Northern Division Court, 45 were heard on the following day; the corresponding figures in the Chief Magistrate's Court being 342 and 61. The Commissioner of Police considers that the practice of adjourning cases which are ready for hearing to some distant date not only imposes hardship on the large body of witnesses who belong to the poor and labouring classes, but exposes them to improper overtures from parties who will suffer if the witnesses speak the truth, and that efforts should be made to shorten the periods of adjournments in both the Presidency Courts. He is further of opinion that no case should, in the absence of special reason, be made over to a Bench which cannot be disposed of at a single sitting. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees in this view, and desires that the attention of the Chief Presidency Magistrate be drawn to the matter.

22. Benches—The Chief Magistrate observes that, though there have been fewer cases of absence without notice on the part of Honorary Magistrates, absence on insufficient notice still continues. The list of attendance shows that out of 105 Honorary Magistrates only 13 have attended 20 times and more. The Lieutenant-Governor appreciates the services which these gentlemen have rendered to the administration of justice. There were 46 Honorary Magistrates who attended less than 10 times during the year.

Most of those who never attended at all were either in Europe or have since resigned.

23. Personnel of the force—Mr. J. Lambert was Commissioner during the greater portion of the year, while Mr. A. B. Barnard held the office of Deputy Commissioner throughout the year. The acknowledgments of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to both these officers for their efficient administration of the Department during the year. The names of the subordinate officers favourably mentioned have been noted.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information, and for communication to the Presidency Magistrates, and to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. C. STEVENS,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 1st July 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 27TH OF JUNE 1890.

TOWARDS the end of last week the unsettled conditions resulting from the depression which had formed off the Orissa coast and thence moved in a north-north-westerly direction, had almost entirely disappeared, and at the beginning of the present week a very shallow low-pressure area remained in Lower Bengal. This depression gradually developed at first with an easterly motion, but afterwards it moved to the north-west, exerting an important influence on the weather conditions and rainfall distribution over Bengal up to the last two days of the week. Unusually heavy rainfall and very low temperature have been recorded in all districts except Orissa, where temperature has been very low, but rainfall has also been below the normal.

On the 21st pressure was less than a twentieth of an inch below the normal over almost the whole province, while at Jessore, Dacca, and Burrisal defect was slightly over that amount. This very shallow depression appears to be the commencement of the disturbed conditions, for on the 22nd a rapid fall was general in the eastern districts, the area of lowest pressure extending from the head of the Bay to Mymensingh and as far east as Silchar. The depression was therefore well to the east on Sunday, and over the greater part of Bengal winds were cyclonic. Heavy rain had begun to fall, Midnapore reporting eight inches, and all the southern stations from Calcutta eastwards from two to four inches. On the following day the depression had moved very nearly due west, the centre of lowest pressure and of the cyclonic circulation being between Berhampore and Burdwan. A very perfect cyclonic circulation obtained, with strong winds at the head of the Bay and in Lower Bengal. Rainfall was heavier than on the 22nd at all stations to the south of the centre, Jessore and Akyab reporting ten inches, Raneegunge and Krishnagore eight inches, Burdwan seven inches, and several other stations from three to six inches. Wind velocity at Saugor Island and Gopalpur averaged more than 30 miles for the twenty-four hours previous to 8 a. m. on the 23rd, at which hour it was 36 miles at Saugor Island and 40 miles at Pooree. Up till 8 a. m. on the 24th the stormy weather intensified, the depression moving in a north-westerly direction, but it would appear that it broke up, one portion being near Allahabad, and the other near Purneah and Bhagulpore when observations were taken on the 24th. Pressure at Purneah was 29·344 inches and at Bhagulpore 29·349 inches, defect at these two stations exceeding a quarter of an inch, while gradients were steep over the province and the Bay, the difference between Purneah and Tavoy exceeding six-tenths of an inch. The average wind velocity at Saugor Island rose to 42 miles an hour, and strong winds were blowing over the northern half of the Bay and at all inland stations except those in the extreme north. Falls of three and four inches of rain were common on this day in the west and south, but in North Behar and the greater part of North Bengal comparatively small amounts were reported. A vary rapid rise followed, and by the 25th the depression near Purneah had completely filled up, excess pressure being general in all districts except the west of Behar. Heavy rain continued to fall till the 24th, and for the last two days ordinary monsoon conditions prevailed over the whole province, cloudy skies with moderate wind and light rain being reported from all except the Orissa stations.

Pressure—Changes have been roughly given above for those stations near which the area of lowest pressure passed. As the depression advanced, the fall of pressure was very rapid, but it recovered much more rapidly after the passage of the centre. Defect near the centre was about a quarter of an inch, and pressure changes at those stations varied from ·15 inch to ·33 inch, the latter occurring at Purneah on the 26th. As the distribution was below the normal during five days out of the seven, the means are below the normal in all districts except Orissa.

Temperature—Has been largely below the normal, the defect in the means for the week in the large divisions being—Chutia Nagpur 4·6°, South Behar 3·9°, South-West Bengal 3·2°, East Bengal and North Behar slightly over 2°, Orissa 2,° and North Bengal 0·5°. The area, therefore, over which the lowest temperatures have been recorded include the western districts from South Behar to Orissa.

Rainfall.—Unusually heavy rain fell during the early part of the week in all districts except Orissa, the average amounts in South-West Bengal, South Behar, and Chutia Nagpur being three times the normal, in North Behar and East Bengal twice the normal, and in North Bengal 1·5 inches in excess. Expressed as percentages of the normal for each district we get—South Behar 332, South-West Bengal 330, Chutia Nagpur 280, East Bengal 203, North Behar 192, North Bengal 128, and Orissa 74. The falls in South-West Bengal were generally over 6 inches, except in the Midnapore and Nuddea districts, and over 10 inches in Burdwan and parts of Khoolna and Jessore, the heaviest falls being 15 6 inches at Jessore and 16 inches at Bagirhat. In East Bengal the heaviest were 23 inches at Cox's Bazar and 13 inches at Chittagong and Fenny, but falls were generally between 5 and 8 inches. The lightest falls in North Bengal were 2 to 4 inches in Maldah and Dinagepore, but in the other districts 6 to 7 inches were very frequently reported. In Behar the same uniform distribution prevailed, and in Chutia Nagpur from 4 to 6 inches fell except in part of Manbhoom and Hazaribagh, where a few stations reported over 10 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 27th of June 1890 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the New Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV. and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

N. B.—In the weekly report from 8th to 14th June 1890 read 29·605 for 29·65 as the mean of pressure of the 13th June 1890.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 14th June 1890.

Births.

The births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 14th June 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal correspond to an annual rate of 13·9 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is 5·2 lower than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years, with which comparison is instituted, vide the figures below :—

It will be seen that last week the highest birth-rate was returned from Comillah (38·5) and the lowest from Chupra (4·). No births were registered during the week in Darjiling town.

Deaths.

The deaths registered during the week under review correspond to an annual rate of 23· per 1,000 of the population. The rate of the week is 1·2 lower than the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is higher than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years except 1885 and 1886, vide the figures below :—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years 1885-89.	1890.

Exact position of point Divi light-house.

THE following Notice to Mariners, No. 289 of 1890, issued by the British Admiralty, is republished :—

The following information has been received from Commander R. F. Hoskyn, R. N., in charge of India Marine Survey, relative to the position of point Divi light-house :—

Point Divi light-house is situated on the bank of the river, not on the coast, S. 7° W. $9\frac{3}{10}$ miles from Masulipatam flagstaff, or in lat. 15° 59′ 30″ N., long. 81° 8′ E.; it is on the eastern bank of the river, but owing to the inaccuracy of the existing chart, the above position places it on the western bank. The configuration of the coast has also much altered since last surveyed.

Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 3, Financial (Funds), dated the 15th May 1890, and enclosures.

ORDERED that a copy be published in the Gazette of India for general information, with the remark that, in accordance with the Regulations, the payment of donations on birth of children will cease with effect from the 1st July 1890.

FINANCIAL, (FUNDS).
No. 3.

INDIA OFFICE,
London, 15th May 1890.

To His Excellency the Most Hon'ble the Governor-General of India in Council

MY LORD MARQUIS,—I forward herewith, for the information of Your Excellency's Government, a Report and Abstract of Valuation by Mr. Willis Browne, F.I.A., of the Assets and Liabilities under Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations as at 30th September 1888.

Indian Civil Service Family Pensions. Valuation as at 30th September 1888.

2. Bearing in mind the limited period which has elapsed since the regulations came into force, and the small number of subscribers contributing for pensions for their families at the date of the valuation, it is impossible to form any trustworthy conclusions as to the financial prospects in connection with the regulations in the future.

3. Mr. Browne is of opinion that the surplus of 3,945*l.* brought out at the date of the valuation may be attributed to the fact that the annual income derived from the contributions of bachelor members has in a great measure exceeded the sum required as a rate in aid to provide pensions for children. This fact, he states, does not of itself prove that the unmarried rates of subscription are too high, but arises from the circumstance that, whilst the number of unmarried officers is abnormally large, the number of children is at present abnormally small. The contributions of married officers are, it appears, no more than adequate, and there is, therefore, no reason for making any alteration in the general rates of contribution at the present time.

4. Mr. Browne states his reasons for believing that the rate of subscription for unmarried men after retirement must have been inadvertently inserted in the rules, and that so high a rate as 35*l.* per annum is not necessary. I have consequently sanctioned a reduction in the rate of subscription payable by bachelors from 35*l.* to 25*l.* per annum.

5. Mr. Browne further proposes that the payment of donations on birth should be abolished. These donations were strongly objected to by the Government of India in their letter dated 15th October 1883, No. 295; and as the rates of subscription in force are in themselves sufficient to meet the liability incurred on account of the prospective pensions of children, I sanction their abolition.

6. The sum charged for expenses of management for the year ended 30th September 1888 was 344*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*, representing the value of Rs. 5,000 at the average rate of exchange obtained for bills on India. The charge was fixed at Rs. 5,000 in Financial (Funds) Despatch, dated 11th March 1886, and there seems to be no reason for increasing the amount (which now represents about 10 per cent. on the total receipts) for some time to come. I have, however, decided, with a view to facilitate the valuation of this charge, that it shall in future be entered in the pro formâ account in sterling, and be taken for the present at 350*l.* per annum. This will render any further entry in rupees in the account in India unnecessary.

7. The rate of exchange at which the sterling contributions are now converted into rupees is 1*s.* 8*d.* the rupee; and Mr. Browne states that, in view of the abnormally large influx of unmarried subscriptions that may be expected for some years to come, "the Fund will still be in a position to maintain its present financial equilibrium," should it be determined to continue the rate now in force. I therefore authorize Your Excellency's Government to notify to the subscribers that for the present the rate of exchange fixed to determine the contributions in India will be taken at 1*s.* 8*d.* the rupee.

8. I am not, however, satisfied that the principle of using a surplus to lessen the effect on the payments in India of a fall in the value of silver is a sound one, and the question of adopting the principle originally advocated by Mr. Sutton, viz., that the rupee payments in India should vary annually according to the value of the rupee, in order that the equivalent of the fixed contributions in sterling may be paid by the subscribers in India, will be considered in connection with the reports of the Actuaries on the Military Service Family Pensions, which are now under my consideration in Council.

9. A copy of the regulations, revised in accordance with the terms of this Despatch, is forwarded herewith. You will observe that the contributions and payments are given throughout in sterling, and although for the present the sterling contributions are to be recovered in India at an exchange of 1*s.* 8*d* the rupee, the pensions, when paid in that country to annuitants residing there, must be issued at the official rate of exchange. The option of receiving the pensions in sterling in England may, however, be granted to annuitants residing in India, but this option having once been exercised, any subsequent change can only be permitted at the commencement of the official year.

I have, &c.,

CROSS.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE FAMILY PENSION FUND.

Valuation as at 30th September 1888.

This Fund was opened in the year 1881, and it cannot therefore be considered to have passed through the period of its infancy. Having regard to this circumstance, and to the principles upon which the scheme is based, it is unnecessary to remark that the abstract of valuation discloses but very little information of material value. The results therein shown will, in consequence, be accepted as not more than a faint indication of the Fund's future prospects.

It may be convenient to refer to one or two of the chief features of the scheme.

The first, and perhaps the most important, is that the obligation of the Fund in respect to any individual officer may be said to commence at the date of the officer's marriage. There is of course a potential liability at the date when he becomes a subscriber, but the construction of the scheme is such that all potential liabilities have a corresponding potential asset in the form of equivalent contributions. It follows that if on the one side of a valuation account there appear an item for potential liabilities, there would necessarily appear on the other side a corresponding potential asset of exactly equivalent estimated value. At the time of an officer's marriage he at once pays a donation and commences to pay subscription, which together are estimated to be equivalent to the value of his wife's contingent pension.

Then there is the principle, as in the Military Fund, of the contributions of bachelor members forming a rate in diminution of the subscriptions of married officers for the purpose of providing pensions for their children.

Again, there is the principle, for which I am responsible, by which promotion from class to class takes place after certain specified periods of service, irrespective of the officer's rank.

Unlike the Military Fund, which at its inception embraced a large body of officers, married and unmarried, this Fund was opened in 1881 with the 23 members who entered the Service in that year. It is no matter of surprise therefore that the number of married members now subscribing represents but a small proportion of the total number of subscribers.

	Married Officers.		Bachelors.
	Age.	No.	Age.	No.
Class IV	28	6	27	2
				12
Class V	23	2	21	2
	25	6	22	20
	26	5	23	35
	27	3	24	42
	28	1	25	25
			27	12
	Total married ...	23	Total unmarried	171

Thus it is seen that the number of married officers represents somewhat under 12 per cent. of the total number of subscribers. In Class V the married members represent between 9 and 10 per cent. of the officers in that class, whilst in Class IV the percentage of married subscribers is about 33.

Of the 23 married officers,—

3	contracted	marriage	at	an	age	between	21	and 22 years.

1	,,	,,	,,	,,		26	,, 27	,,
2	,,	,,	,,	,,		27	,, 28	,,

From the age of 25 upwards there are at the present time 21 married and 72 unmarried members, the former representing not far short of 23 per cent. of the total number, viz., 93

I am inclined to think that the above facts, when considered in connection with the scale of pay obtaining in India, indicate in some measure that the marriage rate among Indian Civil Servants will not fall short of that hitherto ruling. In estimating therefore the aid to be derived hereafter from bachelors, I have not adopted the proportion of married to unmarried members shown above, but one based on a full service, thereby avoiding the possibility of overestimating its value. Were I to base my calculations on the numbers as they now obtain, no subscriptions whatever would be shown to be required from married officers on account of their children. The present numbers, however, will not be relatively maintained ; and as the proportion of married to unmarried increases, so will the rate in aid decrease, until, eventually, it will have reached a point at which it may be expected to remain. In the meanwhile, until that point is reached, the yearly amount received over and above the rate assigned will help to form a fund to meet the charges of management.

General Hannyngton, in his report on the scheme, wrote : "In the early years of the new arrangement the proportion derivable from unmarried members will be larger than that herein assigned. This will have a favourable effect on assets for some time to come."

The number of married members as shown above = 23, and the number of unmarried members = 171, making together 194. For a full service it is estimated that the proportion of married to single will be 848 : 537.

At the present time the subscriptions of bachelors are derived from members of the junior classes only. As the proportion of married to unmarried members, and also the average number of children to each married member, have been estimated on a full service, it follows that a full service must be taken for the purpose of estimating the amount of annual subscriptions to be received from unmarried members, that is, at a time when their members shall be distributed throughout the several classes. To ascertain this I have taken the combined services of the three Presidencies as they existed in 1875. For that year only do we possess accurate data. These data were furnished in connection with the transfer to Government of the three Presidency Funds, the service being then in a condition as near normal as we may expect it to be at any future date.

The number of married members at the time referred to was 848, and the number of unmarried members, including widowers, who subscribe at bachelor rates was 537. These figures give the proportion shown above. Applying the present rates of subscription to the 537 unmarried officers, and assuming that the present rules governing promotion from class to class were then in force, I find that the numbers subscribing in the several classes and the amount of annual subscription would have been as follows :—

Class.	Numbers.	Yearly Subscriptiom.	Amount.
V	147	15	2,205
IV	112	21	2,352
III	57	31·2	1,778
II	39	43·2	1,685
Ic	28	57	1,596
Ib	11	69	759
Ia	8	87	696
	402		11,071
Retired members ...	135	25	3,375
	537		14,446

It will be observed that I have taken the subscription of an unmarried retired officer at 25*l.* instead of 35*l.* per annum as laid down in the rules. The reason for this I have explained hereinafter.

Thus the annual subscription derived from 537 bachelors, had the present rates been in force, would have amounted to 14,446*l.*

I am not certain, however, that a greater proportion of bachelors than hitherto will not, under the present regulations, withdraw from the Fund on retirement, and I have considered it advisable therefore to assume that the proportion of retired bachelor subscribers will, in future, be only half that shown above. By this assumption the amount will be reduced from 14,446*l.* to 12,759*l.*

For the purpose of estimating the number of children, widowers must be included among the married members, thus increasing their number from 848 to 935.

It has been generally assumed that, after excluding sons who have attained their majority, and daughters who have contracted marriage, the number of children, with fathers living, gives an average of about 2½ to each married member, and statistics confirm the correctness of this assumption in respect to some of the Services. According, however, to the records of the three Presidency Funds for 1875, I find that the number of children with fathers living was 2,450, and the number of married members, including widowers, 935. The average obtained from these figures is 2·62. It would seem desirable, however, to leave a small margin for safety, and I have consequently assumed an average of 2¾ to each family, or 11 children to four families.

Taking the proportion of married members as above, viz., 935, the number of children would be $935 \times 2\frac{3}{4} = 2{,}571$. The proportion hitherto existing between the number of daughters and the number of sons was found to be 562 : 438. This proportion applied to the number of children shown above, viz., 2,571, would give—

Daughters	1,445
	2,571

Taking into account the amount of annual subscription payable by married members for daughters and sons respectively, and the relative proportions of the values of the joint life annuities of father and daughter and father and son, also the relative values of the contingent pensions, I find that the amount of rate in aid to daughters and sons should be in the following proportion :—

	1·0000

So that, of the annual sum shown above, viz., 12,759*l.*, the amount to be appropriated towards the subscriptions on account of 1,445 daughters = 12,759*l.* × ·6029 = ... £7,692
And on account of 1,126 sons = 12,759*l.* × ·3971 = ... „ 5,067
£12,759

These rates I have adopted in the valuation.

In respect to the charges for management, no special provision was made in the scheme, but in estimating the contributions, the exact amounts calculated as necessary to meet the liabilities were slightly increased, but only in a degree sufficient to avoid fractions. This, together with the aid derivable in the earlier years of the Fund's existence from the subscriptions of bachelors over and above the amount assigned for children, was considered at the time to be sufficient, and there is now every indication of the opinion then formed proving to be correct. The value which I have placed upon these charges appears of course very great as compared with the value of the assets, or of the contingent liabilities, representing, as it does, between 20 and 21 per cent. of the latter; but as marriages occur, thereby increasing the value of the assets and liabilities, so will the value of the charges represent a decreasing proportion. Had the Fund been valued at the date of its establishment, the only item that would have appeared in the abstract of valuation would have been a debit on account of management charges. For the first few years the charges in India varied, but in March 1886 the Government of India were informed that the Secretary of State was of opinion that a sum of Rs. 5,000 per annum would prove sufficient for the first quinquennial period. For the years 1881 and 1882 no charge whatever was made. The charges for 1883 and subsequent years are given below, together with the percentages that they represent upon the total annual receipts—

	Charges for Management.	Percentage on Total Receipts.
Year ending—
31st March 1883	410·6	106·9
„ „ 1884	406·8	42·9
„ „ 1885	403·3	28·9
Half-year ending—
30th September 1885	195·4	25·5

31st March 1887	184·4	13·7
30th September 1887	176·4	13·6
31st March 1888	175·7	10 9
30th September 1888	168·9	9·9

The percentage will of course continue to diminish year by year so long as the annual charge is not increased.

The following statement is interesting, as showing the amount debited to the Fund account for management charges in each of the years from 1882-83 to 1887-88, as compared with the amount of interest allowed by the Secretary of State on the accumulated capital:—

Year.	Interest at 4½ per cent. on Accumulated Capital.	Management Charges.
1883-84*	Nil	406 16 3
1884-85	22 14 6	403 5 7
1885-86	80 3 6	383 7 5
1886-87	149 14 5	361 8 3
1887-88	248 8 0	352 0 9
Half-year to 30th September 1888	169 1 1	168 18 1

It will be seen that there was no credit for interest in the year 1883-84. The reason for this is apparent. In the previous yea 1882-83, the amount charged on account of expenses of management not only exhausted the whole of the capital, but actually left the Fund in debt to the extent of 36*l.* 12*s.* 4*d.* On the 31st March 1888 the capital had accumulated to an amount such that the interest allowed thereon was just sufficient in the succeeding hal-year to meet the charge made for office expenses.

The total amount debited to the Fund on account of these charges up to 30th September 1888 was 2,486*l.*, and the total amount of interest credited thereto was 671*l.*

* No capital.

The sum debited to the Fund account for the year ended 30th September 1888 was 344*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*, representing the value of Rs. 5,000 at the average rate of exchange obtained for bills on India. In estimating the value of the management charges, the calculation is based on life annuities for the periods intervening between the date of valuation and the dates at which the officers at present in the Service may be expected to retire. On the average, these intervening periods may each be taken at 25 years. Thus the impossibility of correctly estimating in sterling the value of the charge is manifest, for it would entail an assumption of an annual average rate of exchange for 25 years following the date of valuation. But the motive for fixing the charge in Indian currency is not apparent. All the contributions and benefits are specified in sterling money, and I am not aware of any reason why this charge should form the one exception. It is, I think, improbable that any objection would be raised to the charge of management being specified in the same currency as are all the other charges appertaining to the Fund; and, in anticipation of an instruction to this effect, I have, for the purposes of valuation, assumed an annual charge of 350*l.* In due time, perhaps at the date of the next valuation, when the present charge may be expected to represent a fair percentage on the receipts and disbursements, the question of increasing the charge will have to be considered But the prospect of an increase in no way affects the value which I have arrived at. The present valuation appertains only to existing members in their present state, and any increase that may hereafter be determined upon should be proportionate to the additional receipts arising from the altered position of the present members, and from the contributions of new entrants. It follows that the value of any additional charge would appertain to assets and liabilities, which, as affecting the valuation, are at present non-existent.

In the earlier years of a Fund's existence the charges of management must of necessity appear exorbitant, but after a term, say of from 12 to 15 years, when a considerable income may be anticipated, the charges should, I think, be so fixed as to represent a fair percentage on the receipts and disbursements.

In these circumstances I estimate the value of the office charges at 4,208*l.*

The value of future subscriptions for existing wives is estimated at 17,008*l.*, being 1,359*l.* less than the value of their contingent pensions, which is estimated at 18,367*l.*

The value of the future subscriptions for existing children is estimated at 2,502*l.*, being in excess by 155*l.* of the value of their contingent pensions.

The capital in hand amounts to 9,057*l.*, which, added to the value of the contingent assets, brings the total up to 28,567*l.* On the other side of the account the total value of the liabilities, including 4,208*l.* for management charges, amounts to 24,622*l.*, leaving a balance in favour of the Fund of no less than 3,945*l.*, which represents about 16 per cent. of the value of the liabilities.

There are at present no incumbent pensioners. The death of but one married officer might reduce the surplus by about 2,500*l.*

In dealing with the question of the "rate-in-aid," I mentioned the fact that I had assumed the rate of unmarried retired subscription to be 25*l.*, instead of 35*l.* per annum as laid down in the rules.

A reduction in this respect is, I think, worthy of consideration; and I would venture to express a hope that it may receive the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council. There are two reasons which may be urged in favour of this reduction. Firstly, in the scheme devised by the late General Hannyngton, that officer fixed the subscriptions at such rates as to represent on the average about 2½ per cent. on salaries, but in the rules the rate of retired subscription is stated at 35*l.* per annum, representing 3½ per cent. on the full annuity of 1,000*l.* There are many officers who retire on smaller annuities, and it would press very heavily upon that class. In General Hannyngton's scheme there is no mention of a retired subscription for bachelors, and I think that the rate, as laid down in the rules, must have been inserted inadvertently. Secondly, so high a rate of subscription is not required. In fact, the calculations upon which the scheme was based were made irrespective of any subscription whatever from retired unmarried members.

There is another question that I would desire to bring prominently to notice, viz., that relating to the payment of birth-donations for children. Their abolition would, I think, be in every respect desirable. It happens that these donations are payable just at a time when their burden is most felt, and, moreover, in individual cases, they become not only a hardship to the officer, but also an unnecessary gain to the Fund. As an illustration I will refer to a case that has but recently occurred, and compare the amount that was paid by the officer with the amount that he would have been called upon to pay had no donation been required, but in lieu thereof an increased subscription of exactly equivalent estimated value. For the first few months after birth the life of a child is very uncertain. It is laid down in the rules that the donation will not be required should the child die before attaining the age of thirty days; but this period of grace is really quite inadequate in its effect as a safeguard against loss arising from the abnormally high rate of mortality that obtains during the first year of a child's existence. A donation is in reality the commuted value of a portion of subscription, and it might be argued with some reason that an officer is placed at an undue disadvantage in being compelled to commute at a time when the state of his child's health is unusually precarious. No injury would be sustained by the Fund if the subscription were fixed at a rate such that its value would be equivalent to that of the contingent pension. The case I desire to refer to is that of a subscriber, not to this, but to a sister

Fund. A son was born to him on the 8th April, and died on the 8th of the following month. Consequently, the child having lived just thirty days, the officer was required under the regulations to pay the specified donation, viz., 15*l.* This sum represents the commuted value of a subscription of 3*s.* 2*d.* per mensem payable during the joint life of father and son Had, then, this portion of the subscription not been converted into a lump sum payable at birth, the father would have been required to pay 3*s.* 2*d.* plus 1*s.* 11*d.*, instead of 15*l.* plus 1*s.* 11*d.* The value of the risk borne by the Fund in the interim on account of the child's contingent pension is calculated to be less than one shilling.

The above is not my only reason for desiring the abolition of birth donations. In the scheme devised by the late General Hannyngton, that officer calculated the aid to be obtained from bachelor members on the rates of subscription hitherto paid by them, and not on the rates fixed for the future. This was clearly a mistake. He also took no account of the subscriptions payable by retired unmarried members. I believe that at the time he constructed the scheme he had not entertained the idea of requiring retired unmarried members to subscribe. The result was that he obtained an average annual payment of 4·279*l.* in aid of the contributions for each daughter, and of 3·334*l.* in aid of the contributions for each son. The rates obtained by me for the daughters and sons respectively are 5·323*l.* and 4·5*l.* as hereinbefore shown. These rates added to the subscriptions payable by married officers on account of their children give an annual subscription for each daughter of 18·073*l.*, and for each son of 11·35*l.* The value at the date of the child's birth of the former subscription is 163·2*l.* as against 161·87*l.*, the value of a daughter's contingent pension; and the value of the latter is 93·524*l.* as against 93·51*l.*, the value of a son's contingent pension. Thus it is seen that the rates of subscription now in force are, in themselves, sufficient to meet the liability incurred on account of the prospective pensions of children.

The abolition of the birth donations, if sanctioned, should not be considered as an ordinary adjustment due to the existence of a substantial surplus arising, say, from the fact of the rate of mortality proving not so high as predicted, or from other such causes, but one rather of an exceptional character, due to the correction of an error in the original scheme.

It will probably be desired that I should state the amount of liability already incurred by the Government of India, over and above that arising from the concession of a favourable rate of interest. I apprehend that I am not expected to show the value of potential liabilities i. e., liabilities which have not yet commenced, but those only which appertain to existing wives and children. It will of course be understood that the liability of Government will increase year by year in the same manner as that for which the subscribers are responsible.

The benefits conceded by Government are as follow:—

Financially, the abstract of valuation may be considered to indicate a not unprosperous future. The result, namely a very considerable surplus, may be attributed to the fact that the annual income derived from the contributions of bachelor members has in a great measure exceeded the sum required for the purpose of affording the necessary assistance to married officers in the matter of providing pensions to their children. It must not, however, be inferred that, for this reason, the unmarried rates of subscription are excessive They are certainly at the present time greater than is requisite to accomplish their object, but they will not ultimately be so, should the Life Tables now in use prove hereafter to be fairly correct. The excess income is due entirely to the circumstance that, whilst the number of unmarried officers is abnormally large, the number of children, on the contrary, is abnormally small—a circumstance which in the earlier years of the Fund's existence is unavoidable, and which indeed must continue, and with beneficial effect, for yet a very considerable period. In substantiation of the above statement as to the source from which the surplus is derived, I have deemed it expedient to submit a valuation of the assets and liabilities appertaining to married officers only. In this view I have carefully investigated the accounts of the Fund up to the 30th September 1888, and I find that, after apportioning to the credit of the married members so much of the capital as properly belongs to them, including the assigned "rate in aid" from bachelors, but less a proportionate share of the charges made on account of office expenses, the following results obtain—

Contingent pensions (present values)—	£		£
Wives	18,367	Capital in hand	2,218
Sons	942	Subscriptions for wives ...	17,008
Daughters	1,105	„ „ sons ...	1,173
Office charges ...	618	„ „ daughters ...	1,329
	21,032
Surplus ...	696
	21,728		21,728

From this statement it will be seen that the contributions of married officers, assuming the correctness of the tables, are no more than adequate, and that the surplus is due to the cause indicated above.

The rate of exchange at which the contributions are converted in India at the present time is 1*s.* 8*d.* per rupee. It now becomes necessary for the Secretary of State in Council to determine the rate for the next quinquennial period. In view of the abnormally large influx of unmarried subscriptions that may be expected for some years to come, I am of opinion that should it be determined to continue the rate now in force, the Fund will still be in a position to maintain its present financial equilibrium.

The tables of the Fund are incomplete, and are so constructed as to render them almost useless for valuation purposes. I have in consequence been under the necessity of making a special calculation for each individual. At the earliest available opportunity it will be my duty to prepare tables similar in form to those constructed by the late General Hannyngton for the Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund.

THE INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE FAMILY PENSION REGULATIONS.

The following regulations are designed to secure suitable provisions for the widows and orphans of members of the Covenanted Indian Civil Service not being subscribers to the Bengal, Madras, or Bombay Civil Funds.

The Secretary of State for India in Council reserves to himself the absolute right to regulate from time to time the contributions to be required from Civil Servants under these regulations and to make any alterations in the regulations themselves that may appear to him equitable: provided always that the scale of pensions fixed thereby shall not be reduced in the case of actual incumbents. The Secretary of State in Council will endeavour to adjust the contributions to be levied from officers exactly, so that they shall neither be too large nor too small to supply the pensions provided for by these regulations. But if it should appears on experience that they have been fixed too low, the Government will not require any supplementary retrospective payments; and if they are found to have been fixed too high, no claim to refund will be admitted.

No insurance fund is established by these regulations. The contributions will be credited and the pensions charged directly to the Indian revenues as civil receipts and charges. But in order to adjust the rates of contribution from time to time to what is necessary to supply the pensions provided for by these regulations and no more, a separate pro formâ account will be kept of all contributions levied and all payments made under these regulations, and of the interest which would have been allowed upon such contributions if a mutual insurance fund had actually been established.

In accordance with the principle announced in this notification, that the Government does not intend that the pensions provided by these regulations shall bring any charge on the Indian revenues in excess of the amount specially sanctioned for the purpose, the rates of interest and of exchange with England, to be allowed in this pro formâ account, will be the rates which may be fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State in Council, upon a consideration of the market rates of the day.

All needful statistics of ages, births, deaths and marriages will be carefully registered, and these statistics with the pro formâ accounts will be submitted at such periods as may be determined by the Secretary of State in Council to such actuary or actuaries as he may select, with instructions to investigate and ascertain whether the rates of contribution are such as will, at the rate of interest and exchange then to be reconsidered and refixed, supply the pensions payable under these regulations, and no more. The expense of such actuarial inquiries and reports shall be debited in the pro formâ accounts reported upon.

Upon the report of the actuary or actuaries, the Secretary of State in Council will order any necessary alterations in the rates of contribution.

The report of the actuary or actuaries, with the orders of the Secretary of State in Council thereupon, shall be published in the Gazette of India, and no alteration ordered in the rates of contribution will take effect before the beginning of the month following the date of such publication. No retrospective adjustments will be made.

The benefits provided at the cost of the State are shown in the regulations; but should it at any time appear from a valuation that the aggregate liabilities on account of those benefits, when the pension list shall have reached a normal state, will exceed 35,000*l.* per annum, they will be subject to such reduction as may be necessary to restrict the annual assistance to 35,000*l.* per annum, but the reduction shall in no case affect the benefits payable to incumbent annuitants.

Regulations for the Provision of Pensions for the Widows and Orphans of Covenanted Civilians in the Service of the Government of India.

1. Every covenanted civil servant, not being entitled to the benefits of any of the late Civil Funds, must, as a condition of his appointment, make the contributions and payments prescribed by these regulations according to his class, whether he is married or unmarried, and with or without children. Subscriptions will commence from the date of arrival in India.

2. For the purposes of these regulations civil servants are classed as follows:—

Class I.—From 18 years' completed service.
" II.—From 15 to 18 years' completed service.
" III.—From 12 to 15 years' completed service.
" IV.—From 7 to 12 years' completed service.
" V.—Up to 7 years' completed service.

3. The pensions provided under these regulations are payable quarterly in advance, on or after 1st January, 1st April, 1st July, and 1st October.

4. The amounts of the pensions provided are as follow:—

The pensions of motherless orphans at all ages will be made up by the Government to 100*l*.
On marriage, daughters will be granted a donation of 250*l*., to be provided by the Government.
Annuitants residing in India may either receive their pensions in Indian currency at the official rate of exchange, or in England in sterling, but having once exercised the option any subsequent change can only be permitted at the commencement of the official year.

5. The pension of an minor orphan will be paid to his or her mother, or other duly appointed or recognised guardian.

Contributions.

6. The contributions for pensions under these regulations, and the pensions of widows, will be regulated by the class of the contributing member. A subscriber cannot secure a higher pension for his widow by contributing as if he belonged to a higher class.

7. Contributions will be deducted from salaries at the time of issue.

8. The circumstance that an officer is not in receipt of pay does not relieve him from the necessity of paying his contributions.

9. Donations may be paid in one sum, or in twelve equal monthly instalments. If a donation be paid in instalments, interest on the unpaid portion will be levied at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum. The balance of any contribution due at an officer's death will be recovered rateably, without interest, from the pensions of his widow and orphans in four quarterly instalments.

10. Contributions which become due from subscribers when in Europe must be paid in England in sterling. If a subscriber, previous to quitting India, has commenced the payment of any donation by instalments, he may either complete the payment of the donation in India before leaving or pay the remaining instalments in England at English rates.

11. The following are the rates of donations, disparity fines, and monthly contributions prescribed for the present:—

The monthly contribution continues in the case of sons until 21 years of age, and for daughters until marriage.

Arrears.

12. Interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum will be charged on arrears. Donations become due from the date of marriage; but interest will not be charged on sums paid within one month from the date on which they become due.

Reports of Marriages, Births, and Deaths.

13. A Civil Servant who is married at the date of his admission into the service must report the fact of his marriage* at the time, and the names and dates of birth of his children, if any have been born to him. A member in the service must report his marriage,* or the birth of a child born in wedlock, or the death of a wife or child, within one month of the occurrence, to the Accountant-General in the Presidency to which he belongs, or the Director of Funds, India Office, when an officer is out of India.

14. The birth of every child born alive must be reported; but if a child die before it is thirty days old, no payment in respect to it will be required. If the report of birth be not made within one month of the occurrence, a fine of 12*s.* will be imposed, and an additional 2*s.* will be charged for each succeeding month's delay.

15. If the report of a marriage be not made within one month of the occurrence, the donation payable will be increased 2½ per cent., and interest thereon charged from the date of marriage. After six months' delay the donation will be increased 5 per cent., and interest charged as above.

16. In the event of the report of a marriage or the birth of a child not being made by a subscriber during his lifetime, in accordance with the rules, the widow or child will not be entitled to any benefits.

Posthumous Child.

17. A pension will be granted to a posthumous child without any payment, provided the birth be reported within one month of the occurrence.

Duration of Pensions.

18. If a widow re-marry she will retain half her pension during coverture, but if she again become a widow she will be entitled to revert to full pension as widow of her first husband, or, if her last husband have been a contributor, to receive a pension at her option as his widow. A widow can only receive one pension.

19. The pension of a male orphan is payable until he attains the age of 21 years.

20. The mother or guardian of a male orphan who has completed the age of 16 may, at any time thereafter, have the residue of his pension commuted into a single payment, for the due application of which the mother or guardian will be held responsible.

21. The pension of a female orphan continues until her marriage, and then ceases absolutely. It does not revive on widowhood.

Good Conduct.

22. The pensions provided under these regulations shall in all cases be held during good behaviour only, and will be withheld if any pensioner is found to be leading an immoral

* Reports of marriage must be accompanied by a certified copy of the registry, together with the dates of birth of the member and his wife.

life, or on proof of any gross misconduct. The order of the Secretary of State for India in Council in any such case shall be final and conclusive.

Alienation of Pension.

23. A pension paid under these regulations may not be transferred or assigned, or in any way alienated from the pensioner to whom or for whose benefit it is payable.

Retired Members.

24. All members who retire from the service on annuities may continue to subscribe at the monthly rates laid down in these regulations.

25. Married annuitants may commute their monthly contribution by a single payment representing the value thereof during the joint lives of husband and wife, and father and child.

26. In the event of the wife dying after the date of commutation, contribution at the unmarried rate must be resumed, or, as an alternative, it may be commuted.

27. An annuitant who has commuted will on re-marrying become liable for marriage donation and the difference between the married and unmarried rates of contribution, or the commuted value on the joint lives.

28. Widowers and bachelors may also commute their monthly contribution for life. On each subsequent marriage they will become liable for the donation and difference of contribution laid down in the previous article.

29. Contribution or its commuted value must be paid for all children born to a subscriber after his retirement from the service.

30. An annuitant withdrawing his name from the list of subscribers will forfeit all claim to pension in respect of his widow and children, and will not be entitled to any refund of his payments under these regulations.

Dismissed Members.

31. A subscriber who is dismissed the service by competent authority will cease, ipso facto, to be a contributor. He will have no claim to any refund, and his family will not be entitled to any pensions under these regulations.

Certificates.

32. Declarations as to continued widowhood and the survival of children must be furnished quarterly to the Accountant-General, India Office, by whom pensions in Europe are paid under the authority of the Director of Funds, or to the proper Officer in India.

Note.—In England all reports and applications for pensions must be made to the Director of Funds, India Office, Whitehall, London, S.W.

JUDICIAL.

No. 617.—In continuation of the notification of the Government of India in the Military Department, No. 1066, dated the 20th December 1889, the Governor-General in Council has been pleased to make the following rules, under section 26, clause (21), and section 27, sub-sections (2) and (4) of the Cantonments Act, 1889, and to direct that they be put in force in all cantonments in British India:

1. As many hospitals as may be necessary, within or without the limits of the cantonment as the Cantonment authority with the concurrence of the District Magistate may determine, shall be maintained at the expense wholly or in part of the Cantonment Fund for the treatment of persons suffering from infectious or contagious disorders.
2. A medical officer, to be appointed in such manner as the Local Government may direct, shall be in charge of every such hospital.
3. A person admitted to such a hospital shall be treated gratuitously, and if such person is without means of support, and is either a resident of the cantonment or was admitted to the hospital on the request of the Cantonment authority or of any officer of that authority, shall receive from the Cantonment Fund such subsistence allowance, not being less than the lowest allowance for the time being fixed by the Local Government under section 338 of the Code of Civil Procedure as the Cantonment authority may determine.
4. If the medical officer for the time being in charge of a hospital maintained under these rules for the treatment of persons suffering from any infectious or contagious disorder, certifies in writing to the Commanding Officer of the cantonment that any person is suffering, or is supposed by such medical officer to be suffering, from the disorder, and such person either refuses to go to the hospital, or having gone to the hospital leaves it before such medical officer has pronounced such person to be free from the disorder, the Cantonment Magistrate may, on the application of such medical officer, order such person to remove from the cantonment within twenty-four hours, and prohibit such person from remaining in or re-entering it without the written permission of such medical officer.

5. If a person having been prohibited under the last foregoing rule from remaining in or re-entering a cantonment remains in or re-enters the cantonment without such written permission as is mentioned in that rule, such person shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to eight days, for every breach of the said prohibition.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with ıe registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet igher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of :mperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·5 higher; and nally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's ffice during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, hich is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

CALCUTTA, the 8th July 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 4TH OF JULY 1890.

THE weather during the present week has been affected throughout by the depression which formed near the head of the Bay about the beginning of July. Though the cyclonic disturbance crossed the coast late on the 1st or early on the morning of the 2nd, moving rapidly in a westerly direction into Central India, the after-effects in the form of violent atmospheric oscillations continued till the end of the week, the waves moving from east to west across Bengal and the northern half of the Bay.

The depression began to form on June 28th, the first day of the present week, appearing as a local shallow depression over South-West Bengal and Orissa, the lowest pressure after a slow fall in these parts being 29·585 inches at Balasore. Pressure distribution over Bengal was very nearly normal, a small excess of two-hundredths of an inch being reported from the stations in the north-west corner of the Bay, while towards the east coast it increased to nearly a twentieth of an inch. Westerly winds were blowing at Cuttack and False Point, and the easterly element in directions at eastern stations had become more pronounced. Rainfall was generally light and local in the south-west corner of the province, but was heavy and general in North Bengal and Behar. On the 29th the fall of pressure was brisk in all districts except to the west of Behar, and was most rapid in North Bengal and Assam, but when compared with the normal distribution, a diffused shallow depression covered the whole of the northern half of the Bay, extending from Diamond Island in a north-westerly direction as far as Ranchee, while rainfall becoming more general within the shallow depression, was more local and much lighter in the other parts of the province. Wind circulation was more distinctly cyclonic, and the centre lay about midway between Balasore and Calcutta. After this a somewhat rapid deepening occurred towards the east of the low-pressure area, and on the 30th the centre of lowest pressure was to the east of False Point and north of Saugor Island. The largest changes were in Arakan, the fall at Akyab being over a tenth of an inch, and in consequence of the rapid fall in East and North Bengal, a trough of low pressure extended from the Bay in a northerly direction, so that the storm seemed likely to move in that direction. Weather was stormy with heavy rain squalls over the northern half of the Bay to the rear of the depression, but in Bengal the only important falls of rain were in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, East and North Bengal being almost rainless. On the 1st July the storm showed further signs of development and was moving slowly towards Orissa, so as to pass over False Point. Northerly winds were blowing at all the Orissa stations and in Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal as far north as Ranchee and Berhampore. Pressure was lowest at False Point, measuring there 29·39 inches, and gradients were much steeper over the Bay, the difference between False Point and Tavoy being half an inch. The slow westerly motion of the centre continued, and it passed over False Point about midnight, the lowest pressure reported from that station being 29·09 inches. On this day fairly heavy rain was falling at all the Orissa stations, wind force was steadily increasing, and after the centre crossed the coast and southerly winds set in, a strong gale blew to the north of Gopalpore. A very rapid rise of pressure followed, and by 8 a. m. on the 2nd there had been a rise of half an inch at False Point, while in the east of the Bay and over the eastern districts of Bengal the very rapid rise of from ·15 inch to 2 inch was reported. This rapid rise continued on the following day, and there was then over the whole of Bengal very high pressure, excess varying from ·1 inch in East Bengal to ·2 inch in Orissa, so that from being half an inch below the normal, an excess of two-tenths accumulated in about 28 hours. This high pressure prevented the influx of moist winds to South-West Bengal, which was to be expected after the westerly motion of the storm, and though easterly winds still blew in Behar, a westerly current was setting in, and after the rapid fall of pressure on the 4th in the east and north, became general in all districts of the province. Rain was practically absent on Friday over the western half of Bengal, and moderate amounts were falling in East and North Bengal. The weather over the Bay rapidly improved, and by the afternoon of the 2nd only moderate winds were blowing.

Pressure—Changes, as detailed above, have been very rapid and sudden, especially after the passage of the depression. As there has been a large defect at one time, and a large excess at another, the means for the week have been very little influenced, and thus in Orissa, where the largest difference from the normal would be expected, there is defect of only two-hundredths of an inch. In the other districts the means are very nearly normal, generally differing from it by only a few thousandths of an inch.

Temperature—Has been low in the western districts, but changes have been of very little importance and of the usual oscillatory nature, with a rather more rapid and general rise towards the end of the week. Defect is 2° in Chutia Nagpur, 1·2° in Orissa, while in South Behar and South-West Bengal it is about half a degree. In Assam, North Bengal and North Behar excess is about 1°, and in East Bengal ·6°.

Rainfall—Has been largely below the normal except in Orissa, where the heavy rainfall during the passage of the storm has caused an excess of 3·4 inches, the average fall being 220 per cent. of the normal. In East Bengal less than half the normal amount has fallen, and in South-West Bengal, North Bengal, and North Behar the proportion is very little larger. The fall in Orissa is 6·25 inches, in Chutia Nagpur 2·17 inches, while in all the other districts the average fall is very nearly 1·5 inches slightly over this amount except in South-West Bengal, where it is 1·3 inches. The heaviest falls reported from Orissa are—Pooree 9·6 inches, Balasore 8·4 inches, Bhuddruck 6 inches, and Kendrapara 5 inches. Very heavy rain fell in North Bengal on Saturday, the 28th of June, Alipore Dooar reporting 8 inches and several other stations from 3 to 4 inches. In these districts, viz., Julpigoree, Cooch Behar, and the Darjeeling Hills, falls were much lighter and more local till the last day of the week, when some heavy rain was again reported. Generally over Bengal falls have very seldom been over 3 inches, and frequantly under 1 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 4th of July 1890 :—

ıe mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph m observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

ıe maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the meters are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the bservatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet he ground.

ıe barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly Surveyor-General's Office.

ıe hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in leorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

ıe directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

ıe mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 21st June 1890.

BIRTHS.

THE births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 21st June 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal, correspond to an annual rate of 14·2 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is 4·2 lower than the average rate of the corresponding weeks of the past five years, and is also lower than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years, with which comparison is instituted, vide the figures below:—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years 1885-89.	1890.
Ratio of births per 1,000 of the population per annum	21·1	16·0	18·0	17·3	19·3	18·4	14·2

The births registered in each of the last four weeks in each of the twenty-seven principal towns correspond to the following rates per 1,000 of the population:—

Comparative Statement of the principal commodities carried over the Bengal Central Railway during the month of April 1890.

	Tons.
Increases.
Coal	817
For railway and flotilla consumption.
Betel-nuts	899
Principally from the B. C. F. Company.
Decreases.
Oilseeds	878
A gneral decrease in despatches from principal stations said to be due to late crop and dull market.
Sugar	1,545
The decrease in despatches from Jhikargachi during the month was 34,564 maunds, but Maslandpur, Gobardanga, Jadabpur, Nabharan and Jessore also show a falling off. The demand in Calcutta for date sugar appears to have absolutely ceased.

Explanation of increases and decreases in the principal commodities carried during May 1890.

Increases.

	Mds.
Coal and coke	16,919
Due to construction of Sitamarhi extension.
Piece-goods	5,340
Due to greater requirements of Nepal and to prosperous season.
Gunny bags	3,471
Due to increase in bagged goods.
Iron	18,888
Due to importation of drainage pipes for water-works at Khatmundu.
Oil	2,910
Due to old stock having been exhausted.
Railway materials	59,143
Due to construction of Sitamarhi and Kanwa Ghât extension.
Salt	32,897
Due to old stock having been exhausted and to the merchants laying in a fresh stock before the rains.
Saltpetre	2,483
Due to greater demand and favourable rates at Calcutta.
Seeds	55,983
Due to good crop and favourable market.
Spices	4,640
Due to greater requirements at Nepal and to old stock having been exhausted.
Sugar and jaggree	4,216
Due to good production and favourable rates.
Tobacco	8,479
Due to good production and favourable rates.
Timber	3,760
Due to greater despatch by Messrs. Dear and Co. from Segowlie.

Decreases.

	Mds.
Food-grains	68,708

Last year, owing to the scarcity in Tirhoot, a good quantity of food-grains was imported in the district, which has not been done this year as the crop is abundant ; hence the decrease.

NOTIFICATION No. 178Mne.

The 15th July 1890.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 6 of Act X of 1889 (the Indian Ports Act), the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules under sub-section 1, clause (p) of that section, for regulating the action to be taken by a master when there is disease or sickness or a dead body on board his vessel in the port of Calcutta.

Rules.

1. On the occurrence of a case of cholera, small-pox, or other dangerously communicable disease on board any ship lying in the port, the master shall, as early as possible, send the affected person to hospital, and shall cause the flag R to be hoisted at the fore as a signal to the Health Officer of the Port, and such signal shall not be lowered until the Health Officer has visited the ship.

2. The master shall afford such information in regard to the occurrence of the disease as the Health Officer may require, and shall carry out such reasonable instructions regarding the cleansing and disinfection of the vessel, and the disposal of polluted clothing, bedding, &c., as that officer may consider it necessary to give.

3. If, by reason of the prevalence of any dangerously communicable disease on board any ship, the Health Officer and one other medical officer in the service of the Government at Calcutta jointly consider it absolutely necessary for the safety of the crews of other vessels that such vessel should be seggregated, the Health Officer shall furnish the master with a certificate to that effect. The master shall, on receipt of such certificate, forthwith give notice accordingly to the Harbour Master, and the vessel shall be removed to Mateabrooj, or such other place as the Port Commissioners may direct.

4. On the occurrence of a death on board, the master shall, without delay, inform the River Police, whose permission shall be obtained before the corpse is removed.

Exact position of point Divi light-house.

THE following Notice to Mariners, No. 289 of 1890, issued by the British Admiralty, is republished :—

The following information has been received from Commander R. F. Hoskyn, R. N., in charge of India Marine Survey, relative to the position of point Divi light-house :—

Point Divi light-house is situated on the bank of the river, not on the coast, S. 7° W. $9\frac{8}{10}$ miles from Masulipatam flagstaff, or in lat. 15° 59′ 30″ N., long. 81° 8′ E.; it is on the eastern bank of the river, but owing to the inaccuracy of the existing chart, the above position places it on the western bank. The configuration of the coast has also much altered since last surveyed.

The Indian Law Reports,

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases decided by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.*

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 3rd July 1890:

NO. 7 OF 1890.

A Bill to amend the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Indian Evidence Act, 1872.

1. (1) For the Explanation to section 14 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, the following shall be substituted, namely:— Amendment of section 14, Act I, 1872.

"Explanation.—Except in the cases hereinafter mentioned, a fact relevant as showing the existence of a relevant state of mind must show that the state of mind exists, not generally, but in reference to the particular matter in question. The cases above referred to as excepted are criminal proceedings in which—

(a) the fact so relevant is a previous conviction of the accused person, or

(b) the accused is tried under section 234 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, at one trial for three offences of the same kind, and the fact so relevant is otherwise relevant to prove any of the offences, or

(c) the accused is tried for an offence punishable under Chapter XII or Chapter XVIII of the Indian Penal Code." XLV of 1

(2) For Illustration (b) to the same section the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"(b) A is accused of fraudulently delivering to another person a counterfeit coin which, at the time when he delivered it, he knew to be counterfeit.

The fact that, at the time of its delivery, A was possessed of a number of other pieces of counterfeit coin is relevant.

The fact that A had on a previous or subsequent occasion delivered a counterfeit coin to another person is relevant.

The fact that A had been previously convicted of delivering to another person as genuine a counterfeit coin knowing it to be counterfeit is relevant."

2. In section 15 of the said Act, after the word "intentional" there shall be inserted the words "or whether an act was done with a particular knowledge or intention"; and for Illustration (c) to the same section the following shall be substituted, namely:— Amendment of section 15, Act I, 1872.

"(c) A is charged with cheating B by pledging as diamonds articles which he knew were not diamonds.

The question is whether A knew that the articles were ot diamonds.

The facts that A, soon before or soon after he pledged the diamonds to B, pledged counterfeit diamonds to C, D and E are relevant as showing that A knew that the articles he pledged to B were not diamonds."

3. To section 26 of the said Act the following shall be added, namely:— Addition to section 26, Act I, 1872.

"Explanation.—In this section 'Magistrate' means a person exercising all or any of the powers of a Magistrate under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882." X of 1882.

4. (1) For section 43 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:— Amendment of section 43, Act I, 1872.

"43. Convictions or sentences, and judgments, orders or decrees, other than the judgments, orders or decrees mentioned in sections 40, 41 and 42, are irrelevant, unless the existence of the conviction or sentence or of such judgment, order or decree is a fact in issue or is relevant under some other provision of this Act."

(2) To the same section the following Illustrations shall be added, namely :—

"(e) A is charged with theft and with having been previously convicted of theft. The previous conviction is relevant as a fact in issue.

(f) A is tried for the murder of B. The fact that B prosecuted A for libel and that A was convicted and sentenced is relevant under section 8 as showing the motive for the fact in issue."

Substitution of new section for section 54, Act I, 1872.

5. For section 54 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Previous bad character not relevant, except in reply.

"54. In criminal proceedings the fact that the accused person has a bad character is irrelevant, unless evidence has been given that he has a good character, in which case it becomes relevant.

"Explanation 1.—This section does not apply to cases in which the bad character of any person is itself a fact in issue.

7 Wm. III, 5 Vict., c. 116, 5 Vict., ss. 9

"Explanation 2.—A previous conviction is relevant as evidence of bad character."

Amendment of Explanation to section 55, Act I, 1872.

6. In the Explanation to section 55, after the word "but" there shall be inserted the words and figures "except as provided in section 54".

Amendment of, and addition to, section 86, Act I, 1872.

7. In section 86 of the said Act, for the words "resident in" the words "in or for" shall be substituted, and to the same section the following shall be added, namely :—

"An officer who, with respect to any territory or place not forming part of Her Majesty's dominions, is a Political Agent therefor, as defined in section 3 of the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879, and section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be a representative of the Government of India in and for the country comprising that territory or place." XXI of 1879, X of 1882.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882.

Amendment of section 310, Act X, 1882.

8. To section 310 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, the following shall be added, namely :— X of 1882.

"Notwithstanding anything in this section, evidence of the previous conviction may be given at the trial for the subsequent offence, if the fact of the previous conviction is relevant, under the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872." [24 & 25 Vict., c. 98, s. 116.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE principal object of this Bill is to amend section 54 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, so as to render the previous conviction of an accused person irrelevant when it is sought to prove the conviction with the object merely of showing that the accused is a man of bad character and is therefore more likely to have committed the offence with which he is charged. The fact that a person has been previously convicted of an offence has of itself little probative force to establish the fact that he has committed another offence, and it is not expedient to admit evidence which can only prejudice the accused. By section 5 of the Bill, therefore, it is proposed to repeal so much of section 54 as provides that in criminal proceedings the fact that the accused person has been previously convicted of any offence is relevant. The result of this amendment of the law will be that the rule as to the relevancy of a previous conviction will be contained in section 43 of the Act. The existence of the judgment convicting the accused will be relevant only if the fact of the conviction is a fact in issue or is relevant under some provision of the Act.

2. It seems necessary also to amend the Act so as to show, first, that in criminal cases, where evidence of character is relevant, a previous conviction is relevant to prove bad character, and, secondly, that a previous conviction may be relevant to prove a relevant state of mind, for instance, guilty intention or knowledge. It is proposed to effect the first of these amendments by adding an Explanation to section 54 as amended by section 5 of the Bill. The second it is proposed to effect by section 1 of the Bill, which amends the Explanation to section 14 of the Act, so as to allow a previous conviction to be proved in order to show a guilty knowledge or intention.

3. In English law for the purpose of proving guilty knowledge evidence of other acts of a nature similar to that charged may be given in cases of uttering false coin or disposing of forged bank notes (I Russell, 233). On the whole, evidence of this nature has been confined to cases of coining and forgery, but there is one case, Reg. v. Francis (43 L. J. M. C. 97), in which such evidence was admitted on a charge of obtaining money on false pretences. In that case Lord Coleridge, C. J., said :—"It seems clear, upon principle, that when the fact that the prisoner has done the thing charged is proved, and the only remaining question is, whether at the time he did it he had guilty knowledge of the quality of his act, or acted under a mistake, evidence of the class received must be admissible." This case of Reg. v. Francis probably goes further than any other case, and the amendment, which has been proposed, of section 15 seems to provide sufficiently for the class of cases in which the peculiar nature of the offence makes this question the crucial test. Section 1 of the Bill accordingly allows evidence of this class in the case of offences punishable under Chapter XII (OFFENCES RELATING TO COIN AND STAMPS) and Chapter XVIII (FORGERY) of the Indian Penal Code.

4. As regards the admission of evidence of other similar acts to prove guilty knowledge in cases other than offences under Chapter XII and Chapter XVIII of the Indian Penal Code, it is thought that such evidence might be admitted in cases in which an accused person is under section 234 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, charged with, and tried for, three offences of the same kind at one trial. That is to say, it is proposed to allow the evidence brought forward to prove one of the three offences to be relevant to prove guilty knowledge or intention in the case of the other offences. As the accused is charged with and is being tried for all three offences, he has an opportunity of disproving the evidence brought against him. Issues are not raised which are foreign to the charge, and the chief objections to the admission of evidence of this class do not exist. The provision in 34 & 35 Vict., c. 112, s. 19, as regards dishonestly receiving stolen property supports this proposal. In section 1, clause (b), an amendment of the Explanation to section 14 of the Act in order to admit evidence of this description has been made.

5. Section 310 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, seems to require amendment with reference to the question whether a previous conviction can be proved as relevant evidence of the subsequent offence. As the amendments proposed will prevent a previous conviction being proved in order merely to prejudice an accused person, it will be safe to provide that nothing in section 310 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, is intended to exclude the evidence of a previous conviction when such evidence is relevant under the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. The result will be that, if an accused person is charged with an offence committed after a previous conviction, the previous conviction will be relevant to prove guilty knowledge or intention, and also to rebut evidence of good character produced by the accused. Section 8 of the Bill contains the proposed amendment.

6. Briefly stated, the amendments proposed to be made in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, by the Bill are as follows :—

(1) the provision allowing a previous conviction to be proved in all cases will be repealed ;

(2) a previous conviction will be relevant under section 43 when it is a fact in issue or otherwise relevant under the Act ;

(3) a previous conviction will be relevant as evidence of bad character, when such evidence is relevant ;

(4) a previous conviction will be relevant to prove guilty knowledge or intention ;

(5) in cases of offences relating to coining and forgery, facts showing the existence of any state of mind, such as intention or knowledge, will be relevant although those facts do not show the existence of the state of mind in reference to the particular matter in question ;

(6) in cases where the accused is tried under section 234 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, at one trial for three offences of the same kind, the evidence relevant to prove one offence may be used as showing guilty knowledge or intention in the case of either of the other offences ;

(7) the fact that an act formed part of a series of similar occurrences, in each of which the person doing the act was concerned, will be relevant to prove guilty knowledge or intention.

7. Sections 3 and 7 of the Bill have reference to the cases reported at I. L. R. 2 Mad. 5 and 14 Cal. 546, respectively.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 3rd July 1890:

NO. 8 OF 1890.

A Bill to amend the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Substitution of new section for section 1, Act I, 1871.

1. For section 1 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

Title and extent.

"1. (1) This Act may be called the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, and (2) It extends to the whole of British India except the Presidency-towns and such local areas as, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, may from time to time exclude from its operation.

(3) The Local Government may at any time cancel or vary a notification under sub-section (2)."

Additions to section 12, Act I, 1871.

2. (1) To the first paragraph of section 12 of the said Act, prescribing the scale according to which the pound-keeper is to levy a fine for every head of cattle impounded, the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that, when it appears to the Local Government from the report of a Magistrate of a District, or on the representation of a local authority as defined in Act No. XVIII of 1883 (an Act to amend the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871), that, in any local area subject to the jurisdiction or control of such Magistrate or authority, cattle are habitually allowed to trespass on land and damage crops or other produce thereon, the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that, for every head of cattle of any kind specified therein which may be seized within such local area and impounded as aforesaid, the pound-keeper shall levy such fine, not exceeding double the fine mentioned in the foregoing scale, as may be prescribed in the notification."

(2) After the third paragraph of the same section the following shall be added, namely:—

"Where a fine exceeding that mentioned in the scale set forth in the first paragraph of this section has been levied in pursuance of a notification under the proviso to that paragraph, the Magistrate of the District, or any Magistrate either generally or specially empowered by the Local Government in this behalf, may, on cause shown to his satisfaction by the person from whom the fine was levied, direct the refund of so much of the fine as is in excess of that leviable according to the scale aforesaid.

The Local Government may at any time, by notification in the official Gazette, cancel or vary a notification under the proviso to the first paragraph of this section."

Amendment of section 25, Act I, 1871.

3. In section 25 of the said Act the words "under the next following section or" shall be inserted between the words "Any fine imposed" and the words "for the offence of mischief".

Addition to section 26, Act I, 1871.

4. To section 26 of the said Act the following shall be added, namely:—

"The Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, may from time to time, with respect to any local area specified in the notification, direct that the foregoing portion of this section shall be read as if it had reference to cattle generally, or to cattle of a kind described in the notification, instead of to pigs only, or as if the words 'twenty-five rupees' were substituted for the words 'ten rupees' or as if there were both such reference and such substitution.

The Local Government may at any time, by notification in the official Gazette, cancel or vary a notification under this section."

Commencement and effect.

5. This Act shall come into force on the first day of January, 1891, and Act No. XVIII of 1883 (an Act to amend the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871) shall be read as if that Act had reference to the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, as amended by this Act. I of 1871

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IT has been repeatedly represented to the Government of India that the provisions of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, are insufficient to meet the case of cattle which are not only not prevented from trespassing but are actually, in some parts of the country, encouraged by their owners to do so.

Renewed representations from Southern India and Behar, as well as reports from Western India, have recently been received by the Government of India, and it has now been decided to introduce this Bill for the purpose of authorising Local Governments to prescribe the imposition, in special localities, of heavier penalties for cattle-trespass than are allowed by the general law.

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS IN BENGAL.

No. 1289, dated Simla, the 3rd July 1890.

From—C. J. LYALL, ESQ., C.I.E., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India, Home Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department

I AM directed to acknowledge receipt of your letters No. M $\frac{1-H}{1}$ 28, dated 19th April, and No. M $\frac{1-H}{2}$ 16, dated the 21st April last, to the address of the Department of Finance and Commerce, with which His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor submits a correspondence which has passed between the Government of Bengal and various Public Bodies and Associations, and makes proposals for the notification of certain days as public holidays in the Lower Provinces of Bengal under section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act.

The Lieutenant-Governor recommends that the holidays which have hitherto been gazetted as public holidays under section 25 of the Act should in future be distributed between two notifications, the first, issued under the Act, dealing with those Hindu holidays only the observance of which is absolutely required in order to enable Hindu employés, whether in the service of Government or of private persons, to fufil their religious duties, and the second, issued as an executive order, including the remaining days hitherto observed as public holidays and applicable to all public offices and Magisterial and Revenue Courts under the Government of Bengal. It is explained that the ground of the distinction made is that the former class, which are days of religious obligation, are distinct from the latter, which are days of social observance only; that the effect of notifying all holidays without distinction under the Negotiable Instruments Act is to interfere most seriously with trade, shipping, and monetary business; and that the course which is recommended in regard to the Hindu holidays included in the second notification is that which has always been pursued in regard to all Muhammadan holidays, and has not been found to cause inconvenience. His Honour has no intention of in any way curtailing the holidays at present allowed to public servants in Bengal, but merely wishes to remove what he regards as a reasonable source of complaint to the mercantile community, who are unable to transact business on days notified under the Act, although large numbers of vessels arrive by sea and leave the port of Calcutta, large quantities of goods are received by rail, and bills mature and ought to be paid.

2. In reply, I am to say that the Governor-General in Council has carefully considered the proposals made in your letter and the correspondence forwarded with it, and desires me to convey his acknowledgments of the thoroughness with which the matter has been investigated and the thoughtful and considerate spirit in which His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has dealt with this difficult subject. The main principle of the proposals, to make a distinction between those holidays which require to be notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act and those which do not require to be so notified but may be allowed as a matter of executive arrangement, is one which has long been recognized in other Presidencies, and has in fact been always in force in Bengal in regard to the Muhammadan holidays, which are observed by one-third of the population of the province. It appears to the Government of India that, in view of the consequences which ensue from the notification of holidays under the Act, such notification should clearly be restricted to those days when a cessation of business is absolutely necessary, and that there is no need to apply the same process to days which are only occasions for festive and social gatherings The proposals made by the Lieutenant-Governor have reference only to the Durga Puja holidays, and in regard to these it is shown, in paragraph 10 of your letter, that the restrictions upon business which the system hitherto followed imposes are not observed by the native community themselves. His Honour writes:—

> It is not to be forgotten that in all places in Bengal, and especially in Calcutta, the Durga Puja holidays are the season of the busiest life in all the year. The shop-keepers have no holiday, the cloth-sellers, the money-changers, the confectioners, the grocers and the general dealers are busy all day long; in the bazar there is no holiday, but business is as brisk as it can be. The clerks and sircars in the bazar are not idle men. It is only in the public offices that stagnation reigns. It is not therefore a real or just ground for complaint if in a few public offices for public reasons a few clerks are required to attend office on certain days which are allowed to remain holidays to the great majority of clerks employed in the public service.

What is here stated regarding the activity of trade during the Durga Puja holidays is confirmed by the following passage in the letter from the Secretary to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, dated the 27th March 1890:—

> The Committee beg further to observe they take particular note of the fact that trade is very brisk during the Puja holidays, the demand for a number of articles being larger during the twelve days than throughout the rest of the year. This may be explained by reason of the large influx of people from all parts of the country bent upon making the most of the holidays. The curtailment of the holidays must necessarily involve a serious pecuniary loss to the trade.

For these reasons, while regretting that the arrangement proposed by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor should not commend itself to those representatives of the Hindu community whose replies are enclosed in your letter, the Government of India sanctions the proposals made, and authorizes the issue of the notifications forwarded by you.

I am, however, to observe that if the Governor-General in Council rightly understands the letters from Mahámahopádhyáya Mahesh Chandra Nyáyaratna, dated the 4th and 14th November 1889, it would seem that the 23rd October is one of those days which should be set apart as required for religious observance, and His Excellency in Council would suggest, for the consideration of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, that it might be added to the 20th, 21st, and 22nd October in the list of holidays to be notified under the Act. If this is done the balance might be redressed by removing the 24th December from the holidays to be gazetted under the Act, and entering it as an office holiday in the other notification.

3. The Governor-General in Council accepts the proposals of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor as regards the offices under the Government of Bengal to be kept open during the holidays which will henceforth not be notified under the Act. In all these offices special arrangements should be made, by contracting the hours of business, by limiting the work undertaken to what is really urgent, by granting leave to Hindu employés wherever practicable, and by utilizing as much as possible the services of their non-Hindu fellow-clerks to minimise the inconvenience which may be felt by those who have hitherto enjoyed close holidays on the days which will in future be open. Under proper arrangements, so far from hardship being entailed on any considerable section of the community, not more than three or four Hindu clerks under the Government of Bengal are likely to be affected by the change. Separate orders to the same effect will be given by the Government of India in regard to the offices directly subordinate to it which are situated in Calcutta.

4. I am to request that, with the Lieutenant-Governor's permission, this letter and yours to which it is a reply, with the enclosures of the latter commencing with your letter Nos. M $\frac{1-H}{1}$ 18-22, dated the 19th January last, and the two letters from Pandit Mahesh Chundra Nyáyaratna, may be published for general information in the Calcutta Gazette.

2. The history of the question is given in my circular letter of the 19th January to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and other Associations. The holidays notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act in Bengal are now exactly the same as those which were sanctioned by the Government of India on the 29th October 1867. Although the Chamber of Commerce have not ceased to press for their reduction, their representations have, with reference to the orders passed by the Government of India on the 28th January 1880, and reiterated in 1882, been invariably rejected by this Government. A copy of the reply sent by the Lieutenant-Governor to the Chamber of Commerce in 1888 was transmitted to the Government of India with my letter No. M $\frac{1-H}{1}$ 7, dated 17th September 1889. A copy of a correspondence with the Chamber in 1889 is among the enclosures now submitted. In the orders issued by Government on that occasion it was pointed out that the reasons adduced by the Government of India in 1882 against any reduction in the number of holidays were in full force, and the following extract from your letter No. 3712, dated 12th September 1882 was quoted:—

"The Governor-General in Council is aware that the closing of the Government offices in Calcutta for a period of 12 days is productive of some inconvenience to the mercantile community, but on the other hand it cannot be overlooked that, in the words of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal the inconvenience and loss which the mercantile community suffer from the existing state of things, great and serious as they are, cannot be remedied without inflicting a still more serious hardship on a far more numerous, though less influential, portion of the community."

3. A new suggestion has, however, now been made, which it is believed will be able to satisfy the reasonable requirements both of the European commercial body and of the Hindu community. When the holidays for the current year were notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act by Government, a deputation from the Chamber of Commerce waited on the Lieutenant-Governor at Belvedere in December last, and strongly pressed upon His Honour the necessity of modifying the form of notification by which public holidays were gazetted. The deputation laid stress on the alteration which the passing of the Negotiable Instruments Act had introduced into the conditions of the problem since the decision of Government was arrived at ten years ago, and indicated that it might be found possible to find a solution of an admitted difficulty by restricting the number of holidays gazetted under the Act, but at the same time retaining by executive authority the existing number of holidays for all public offices save the few which are indispensable to the foreign commerce of the port. The question thus stated was then very carefully considered by the Lieutenant-Governor, and the result was the issue of the circular letter of the 19th January, to which I am to request that a reference may be made by the Government of India for a resumé of the discussion as well as of the arrangements it is proposed to adopt. His Honour's views are so fully expressed in that letter that it is not necessary to enter again upon the subject at any length.

4. Briefly speaking, it is now proposed to notify holidays in Bengal under two separate notifications: first, in regard to public holidays notified as such under the Negotiable Instruments Act; and, secondly, in regard to holidays which are notified as such by the closure of public offices. These two separate notifications would be in the form given and apply to the days specified in the draft notifications annexed to this Government letter of the 19th January.

5. Before publishing these notifications or applying to the Government of India for permission to modify the form in which public holidays are notified in Bengal, the Lieutenant-Governor desired that the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, the Calcutta Trades' Association, the British Indian Association, the Indian Association, the Bank of Bengal, the Exchange Banks, and the Heads of the Offices immediately concerned, should be consulted; and it will be seen from the replies which form an enclosure to this letter that the proposal has elicited considerable difference of opinion. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Bank of Bengal, the Trades' Association, and the Board of Revenue give it their concurrence. But the letter from the Exchange Banks accords only a hesitating and incomplete support. The managers of these banks would evidently prefer to retain intact the holidays notified under the Act. They express themselves as perfectly willing to accept the proposals put forward by Government, if only the majority of the mercantile community is in favour of them. But they observe that "it has not been effectively demonstrated, by general vote or otherwise, whether reduction of holidays finds favour or disfavour among the majority at the present time." Looking to the importance of this question, the Lieutenant-Governor deemed it right to transmit the letter of the Exchange Banks to the Chamber and to consult the Committee again on the subject. Accordingly, upon the 17th February, I was directed to inform the Chamber that although the Lieutenant-Governor had no doubt that the opinion of the Chamber as a body had been expressed in the letter already received from their Secretary, yet, with reference to the observation made by the Exchange Banks, it would be more satisfactory to Government if, with the permission of the President and Committee, it could be stated approximately how far the doubt expressed by the Banks, "whether a majority of the (mercantile) community is in favour of fewer holidays," can be set at rest by reference to the relative number of supporters of either view among the members of the Chamber. In reply to this letter the Committee intimated that they were unable to comply with the suggestion of Government that a formal vote of the Chamber should be taken on the question; but on occasion of the Annual Ordinary Meeting of the Chamber, the President, Sir Alexander Wilson, referred to the subject in his address, and in the course of the proceedings called for an informal vote as an expression of the Chamber's opinion. The result is reported to have been the unanimous confirmation of the views expressed by the Committee. The list of gentlemen present at this meeting is given in Mr. Clarke's demi-official letter of the 7th March, and it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to contain as complete a representation of the mercantile interests of the port as it could be possible to assemble together for such a purpose. Although, as stated in my letter to the Chamber, it would have been more satisfactory to Government to have received an official reply as to whether any considerable minority of their members was opposed to any change, the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that the expression of opinion of the members of the Chamber on the occasion of their Annual General Meeting may be accepted as conclusive proof of the views of the overwhelming majority of the mercantile community of Calcutta. This opinion is in accordance with the views expressed by the Bank of Bengal, the best judge of the requirements of the commercial public, by the Trades' Association, and by the Committee of the Chamber, during a period of agitation for thirty years.

6. On the other hand the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, the Indian Association, and the British Indian Association are opposed to any change in the method of notifying the existing holidays. Their letters are enclosed, and are entitled to the consideration they deserve as undoubtedly representing the great mass of Hindu opinion on the subject. But the Lieutenant-Governor does not find that they bring forward any new arguments or raise any objections which have not already been met by anticipation and fully replied to in my letter of the 19th January. The British Indian Association are, indeed, prepared to admit that the Currency Office and Shipping Office should be kept open during some of the holidays along with the Custom House. The National Chamber of Commerce and the Indian Association are not willing to make any concession. Their apprehension is, as the National Chamber of Commerce puts it, that the Government proposals are "but the thin end of the wedge, which in time must bring about the total abolition of the Doorga Poojah holidays in all public offices."

7. With reference to this remark, I am to explain that the objection of the native associations appears to be based in a large measure on a misconception of the arrangements proposed by Government. The effect of a notification under the Negotiable Instruments Act is that Promissory Notes or bills of exchange do not mature on the holidays therein specified, but are deemed to be due on the next preceding business day, and it is complained by the mercantile community that business is to a large extent paralysed when there are twelve such holidays in succession. There can be no dispute of the justice of this complaint and of the great inconvenience which the present procedure affords to the commercial public. The great increase in the number of steamers visiting the port, and the consequent necessity of expedition in despatching them, has also largely augmented the inconvenience caused by a twelve days' continuous closure of the offices to the trade of the port. To remedy these grievances, it is proposed that the number of holidays under the Act should be reduced; but it is not proposed that the number of holidays in Government offices generally should be diminished, and the executive order which it is intended to issue sufficiently shows that they will continue to be closed for the same period as at present. Nor will the promulgation of these parallel orders produce any perceptible effect upon the general body of the Hindu community. Certain social festivals of the Hindus will be placed on the same footing as Mahomedan holidays. But in both cases reasonable facilities will be afforded by Government for carrying on business. This is now done in the case of Mahomedan holidays and ought to be done in the case of Hindu social festivals.

On the other hand, certain Mahomedan holidays are now granted by executive order, and are, as a matter of fact, universally enjoyed in all parts of Bengal except in certain specified offices at the Presidency. The opening of these particular offices does not in any way govern the practice elsewhere, and we may expect that certain Hindu holidays, if notified in the same way as Mahomedan holidays as days upon which certain offices in Calcutta will be open, will be accepted in exactly the same way as Mahomedan holidays are now accepted.

8. The view which the British Indian Association appear to hold that the holidays under the Act should not be altered, but that by executive order the holidays in certain offices should be reduced, does not in any way meet the difficulty of which the commercial community complain. The opening or closing of a particular public office (important as it is that the offices should remain open) does not so much impede the transaction of public business as the declaration that for twelve days in succession exchange bills receivable cannot be legally collected, and Promissory Notes payable cannot be legally paid. The only manner in which this difficulty can be met is by reducing the number of holidays notified under the Act. And this is what it is now proposed to do without at all interfering with religious prejudice. The proposals now made declare that all days necessary for the performance of religious ceremonies shall be holidays under the Act. The remaining days of the Doorga Poojah, which are devoted to social festivities, are no longer included in the category of such holidays: but in order to allow every possible concession to the claims of Hindu clerks who are employed in public offices, it is proposed to declare by executive order that these offices, with a few specified exceptions, shall remain closed as they are at present. A distinction is drawn between holidays notified under the Act and those declared in public offices by executive order, and it seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that, by the recognition of this clear distinction, a compromise has at last been found, in the only way in which it was possible to find it, which satisfactorily meets the reasonable claims of the Hindu community as well as the interests of trade and commerce.

9. The Registrar of Calcutta and Shipping Master are opposed to the exclusion of their offices from the holidays notified by executive order, but in the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor the arguments adduced by these officers are of no validity. The commercial community have always objected, and with reason, to the closing of the Registration Office for twelve consecutive days; and although, as represented by the Registrar, the number of documents presented for registration at this season is likely to be inconsiderable, it is apparent from this fact that a small establishment will be sufficient for carrying on the work, and that the hardship of attending office will therefore be felt by very few. The Shipping Office is one which, in the interests of the Port, it is absolutely necessary to keep open on every day on which it is possible to do so.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor has the strongest sympathy with the very general desire of the Hindu community that no obstacle should be placed by Government in the way of its Hindu employés meeting together at their homes, at the season of the Doorga Poojah holidays, for the celebration of religious, social, and domestic ceremonies It is far from His Honour's desire to encourage any policy which would deprive Hindu employés as a body of the satisfaction of enjoying their great annual festival in the future as they have done in the past. There is nothing, however, in the proposals now made which, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, is likely to lead to any such unfortunate result. It is true that a few clerks employed in a few offices may be subjected to some inconvenience by being required to attend office on days on which they now get a holiday. But the inconvenience is one which they must bear in the public interest. They will enjoy some compensating advantages. And it is not to be forgotten that in all places in Bengal, and especially in Calcutta, the Doorga Poojah holidays are the season of the busiest life in all the year. The shop-keepers have no holiday, the cloth-sellers, the money-changers, the confectioners, the grocers and the general dealers are busy all day long; in the bazar there is no holiday, but business is as brisk as it can be. The clerks and sircars in the bazar are not idle men. It is only in the public offices that stagnation reigns. It is not therefore a real or just ground for complaint if in a few public offices for public reasons a few clerks are required to attend office on certain days which are allowed to remain holidays to the great majority of clerks employed in the public service.

11. Having regard to the correspondence with the Government of India on the subject of holidays in Bengal on previous occasions, the Lieutenant-Governor does not wish to take action in the direction now proposed without the previous sanction of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council. I am now to request that this sanction may be accorded and permission given to publish the draft notifications which are the annexure to my letter of the 19th January. It will be seen that the opinion of the law officers of Government has already been obtained that there appears to be no legal objection in the way to prevent the Government from cancelling the notification of public holidays already published at page 1010 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of 11th December 1889, and substituting in its place a new list.

12. I am to add that the executive order of the Government of Bengal, under which the public offices under this Government (excluding those specified in the notification) will be closed during certain days of the Doorga Poojah holidays in the same manner as these offices are now closed on the occasion of Mahomedan festivals, will obviously have no force in regard to offices under the Government of India, and the Lieutenant-Governor would therefore venture to recommend that the benefit of similar orders may be extended generally to the offices under the Supreme Government employed in the Lower Provinces. It will no doubt be necessary to exempt certain offices from the effect of such an order, as has been done in regard to offices under the Bengal Government; and in the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor, as intimated in a separate letter of this day's date, the Currency Office should be so exempted; but it may easily be arranged that in these offices, as in the excepted offices under the Government of Bengal, if it be found impossible to grant the Hindu employés their holidays during the excluded days of the Doorga Poojah festival, they should not be required to attend in larger numbers than are actually necessary for the transaction of business, and that other concessions in the way of leave at other times should be given to them.

Nos. Mis. $\frac{1\text{-H}}{1}$ 18-22, dated Calcutta, the 19th January 1890.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Financial Department,

To—The Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce; Secretary to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce; Secretary to the Calcutta Trades' Association; Secretary to the British Indian Association; and Secretary to the Indian Association.

I AM directed to inform you that the Lieutenant-Governor has again had his attention drawn to the question of the number of public holidays in the Bengal Province, and to communicate to you the following observations on the subject, with a request that they may be laid before $\frac{\text{the Bengal Chamber of Commerce,}}{\text{your Association,}}$ $\frac{}{\text{the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce,}}$ and that you will be so good as to furnish the Lieutenant-Governor with the opinion of the $\frac{\text{Chamber}}{\text{Association}}$ on the suggestions made, as well as with any further remarks on the subject which the $\frac{\text{Chamber}}{\text{Association}}$ may wish to offer.

2. It appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to be unnecessary to discuss the early history of the question, but in recent times it is material to note the following points:—

3. In 1860 the Bengal Chamber of Commerce suggested that holidays should be reduced to the days actually required for the ceremonial observances of the Hindu religion. A Committee, consisting of Messrs. J. J. Harvey, W. S. FitzWilliam, and Baboo Prosonno Kumar Tagore was appointed, and recommended, among other things, that the Doorga Poojah holidays should be 14 days for Hindus and 10 days for all other Government servants. These proposals were accepted by the Local Government, but on the 15th April 1862 they were set aside by the Government of India, and 27 days (including 12 days for the Doorga and Lakhi Poojahs) were declared public holidays. The number of days was raised to 30 by the order of the Government of India dated 29th October 1867, and the general holidays * then sanctioned have remained unchanged up to the present time.

4. In 1874 the Chamber of Commerce recommended that the Doorga Poojah holidays should be reduced from 12 days to one week, and this proposal was supported by Sir George Campbell. Much opposition was, however, raised, and the proposal was rejected by the Government of India. Arrangements were, however, made for facilitating business in the Custom House, which it was ordered should remain closed for one week only.

5. In 1875 the Calcutta Trades' Association urged that the Doorga Poojah holidays should be reduced to the days of actual religious observance, and it was then directed that the Custom House should remain closed for five days only. The proposal that the Bank of Bengal should be closed for five days only was then rejected by the Government of India.

6. In 1878 the Chamber of Commerce again addressed Government, requesting "that the Doorga Poojah holidays be reduced and restricted to the four days which they understand are absolutely necessary for the observance of that annual festival, with the proviso that, should the festival terminate on a Friday, the holidays be extended so as to admit of business being resumed on the following Monday."

7. A representative Committee was appointed to consider and report on the question. The majority† reported as follows:—

† Mr. G. Yule. | Mr. S. Cochrane.
„ C. J. Brookes. | „ J. D. Maclean.

"That only the four days required for strictly religious purposes be close holidays;

"That if the fourth religious day fall on Friday, the offices shall not re-open till the following Monday;

"That the Public Debt Office, the Treasury, the Currency Office, the Money-order Office, the Stamp Office, and all Pay offices be closed on these four days only, but that in other Government offices the Heads of Departments shall have discretion to give leave to their subordinates for the whole or any part of the twelve days, provided the current work of their office is carried on."

8. The two Hindu Members‡ of the Committee recorded a dissent which concluded as follows:—

‡ Baboo Kisto Das Pal.
„ Durga Churn Law.

"Considering that the arrangements made by Government in 1874, by which the Custom House is kept open during the Doorga Poojah vacation, except for five days, and the jetties work without intermission, the inconvenience to the trade of the city is not serious; that the number of holidays in Bengal is less than that in the other provinces; that a general vacation of seven or eight days during Christmas does not in any way affect or inconvenience commerce in Madras and the North-Western Provinces; that the present Doorga Poojah vacation is necessary for the observance of the religious and social ceremonies of the Hindus; that it is a general holiday for all classes of public servants for rest, recreation and travelling; that it affords almost the only opportunity to the lower grades of officers to visit their mofussil homes once a year; that in a sanitary point of view a prolonged rest of 12 to 15 days in a year is of great importance, as it enables the officers of Government to discharge their duties much more satisfactorily than what they could do if no periodical rest was allowed; and that its curtailment would give rise to much hardship and dissatisfaction among the Hindu as well as other servants of Government, and also among the general public whose business engagements are regulated by the practice in the public offices, we are of opinion that no change in the present Doorga Poojah holidays is called for."

9. Mr. Dampier, the President of this Committee, recorded a separate memorandum, in which he stated that the recommendation of the majority of the Committee "amounted to a proposal that all public offices shall be kept open, and that all persons who are engaged in business must attend to business on all but the four close days." But he considered that the mercantile community had made out a case for some reduction in the length of the holidays, and suggested that the number of days should be summarily curtailed from 12 to 9 or 8.

10. The papers of the case were transmitted to the Government of India with a letter from this Government, No. 3809, dated 12th September 1879. In that letter the Lieutenant-Governor observed:—

"It may be conceded that the curtailment of the holidays proposed by the majority of the Committee will not interfere with any bonâ fide religious prejudices of the Hindu community. Any shortening of the vacation may prevent social ceremonies, visits home, and the enjoyment of the rest and recreation of a holiday; but when the question of opening the Custom House was discussed in 1874 to 1876, it was clearly decided that five days are all that are necessary for the purely religious observances of Hindus during the Doorga and Lakhi Poojahs, and this decision must be considered applicable to the Hindu clerks in all other offices. It must be accepted also as regards Bengal that on days when Hindu employés are authorised to be absent, offices cannot remain open, and that, whatever rule is laid down for the Bank of Bengal, the Currency and Pay offices at the Presidency must of necessity govern the holidays of all or almost all the other offices in Bengal. The partial opening of offices during the latter portion of the vacation, as suggested in the third proposal of the majority of the Committee, is not really practicable, and their recommendation amounts to this, that all public offices shall be kept open on all but the four days of religious observance."

11. The question as a balance of convenience was then discussed by the Bengal Government, and it was recommended that there should be no alteration in the present holidays.

12. This recommendation was not accepted by the Government of India, and in orders dated 4th October 1879 it was directed that effect should be given to the proposals of the majority of the Committee.

13. On the return of the Government of India to Calcutta, the orders of the 4th October were cancelled. In a letter dated 28th January 1880 it is written:—

"Since his return to the Presidency, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has found reason to doubt whether the Government of India allowed sufficient weight to the inconvenience which will be entailed by the enforcement of this decision upon the Hindu community of Calcutta and some other parts of Bengal, and to the strength of the popular attachment to these annual holidays.

"On the other hand, His Excellency is disposed to think that he may have underrated the extent to which the complaints of the mercantile community may be obviated, or at least mitigated, by careful arrangements in the several public offices to meet their requirements."

14. It is then ordered that "the observance of the Doorga Poojah holidays in the public offices in Calcutta shall continue as heretofore," and the Bengal Government are enjoined to take measures to meet, as far as possible, the convenience of the mercantile community.

15. In 1882 the Chamber of Commerce again urged that the Doorga Poojah holidays should be restricted to the four close days which are alone observed as religious holidays. But both the Government of Bengal and the Government of India refused to re-open the question.

16. During 1886 and 1887 the Chamber of Commerce made several representations on the subject of Custom House holidays and the general routine of Custom House business. Special objection was taken to the continuous closing of the Custom House for periods varying from two to seven days. In 1888 a Committee* was appointed to enquire into the whole question, and submitted the following recommendation:—

* Mr. C. P. L. Macaulay.
„ R. Steel.
„ E. D. Wylie.
„ J. Scobell Armstrong.

"It has hitherto been the usage that the Custom House should not be opened on any gazetted holiday for any purpose free of charge, except on certain days in the long holidays of the Doorga Poojahs. This practice appears to us not to be suited to the requirements of the trade of Calcutta. We recommend that for the Custom House, as distinguished from the Preventive Department, Sundays, New Year's Day, Good Friday, the Queen's Birthday and Christmas Day should in future be held to be absolutely close holidays, but that on the week days for which the office is closed in the Doorga Poojahs, and on all ordinary gazetted holidays other than the days mentioned above, the Custom House should be opened free on charge for one hour, viz., from 11 A.M. to 12 noon, all work applied for up to 12 o'clock being carried through, provided that notice is given to the Assistant Collector before closing hours of the day previous, or if this be a holiday, 24 hours in advance, that it is required to have the office so opened. On such opening, vessels would be allowed to enter and clear on the import and export sides, and provisional bill-of-entry for free goods as well as shipping bills for free goods issued, but the treasury would, as in Bombay, remain closed. It is understood that arrangements can be made to carry out this in the Doorga Poojah holidays without obliging Hindu clerks to attend. The above change will further not affect the opening of the Custom House as heretofore on such advertised days as may be fixed on in the Doorga Poojah holidays for the receipt of duty and complete transaction of Custom House business."

17. These proposals were sanctioned by the Local Government.

18. In 1888 and in 1889 the Chamber of Commerce have made further representations to Government, urging that "only those days should be declared public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act which are actually required to be devoted to necessary religious ceremonies." To these letters the Government has replied at length reciting the arguments which were accepted by the Government of India in 1880 and 1882. It has been pointed out "that the inconvenience and loss which the mercantile community suffer from the existing state of things, great and serious as they are, cannot be remedied without inflicting a still more serious hardship on a far more numerous, though less influential, portion of the community." The Government was unable to comply with the wishes of the Chamber, and on the 11th December 1889 a notification was published in the Gazette, under which the holidays declared under section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act will remain the same in 1890 as they have been in previous years.

19. In consequence of the publication of this notification, a deputation from the Chamber, consisting of Sir A. Wilson, Mr. Wylie, Mr. McCaw and Mr. Stuart, waited on the Lieutenant-Governor at Belvedere on the 19th December 1889, and strongly pressed upon His Honour the necessity of reducing the number of holidays under the Act. They laid stress on the alteration which the passing of the Negotiable Instruments Act has introduced into the conditions of the problem since the decision of Government was arrived at in 1879, and they indicated that it might be possible to find a solution of it by restricting the number of holidays gazetted under the Act, but retaining by executive authority the existing number of holidays for all public offices, save the few in Calcutta which are indispensable to the foreign commerce of the port. The question as thus stated deserves very careful consideration.

20. The Negotiable Instruments Act XXVI of 1881 became law subsequent to the discussions of 1879 and 1880. Under section 25 of that Act, when the day on which a Promissory Note or bill of exchange is at maturity is a public holiday, the instrument shall be deemed to be due on the next preceding business day. The expression "public holiday" includes Sundays, New Year's Day, Christmas Day, Good Friday, and any other day declared by the Local Government by notification in the official Gazette to be a public holiday. Under this section the 30 authorised public holidays in Bengal are now published, and the gravamen of the Chamber is, firstly, that public business is to a large extent paralysed during these holidays by the closing of the Exchange Banks, which will not undertake the responsibility of transacting business during days upon which negotiable instruments will not mature; and, secondly, that the trade of the port is materially affected by the closure of the Shipping Office and the inability to obtain port clearance during these days. It is pointed out that in the interval from 30th September to 10th October 1889, which were declared public holidays under the Act on account of the Doorga and Lakhi Poojahs in 1889, the shipping arrivals in the port of Calcutta showed a gross tonnage of 73,210, and a registered tonnage of 48,179; that the departures showed 63,962 gross and 45,538 registered tonnage; that 29 steamers and 2 ships arrived in port, and that 19 steamers and 13 ships left the port. The East Indian Railway brought into the market 25,084 tons of goods, and the Eastern Bengal State Railway 4,52,514 maunds, of which 3,63,875 were jute. The fact that all bills maturing in the interval fell due on Saturday, September 28th, is brought to notice as a most serious inconvenience and burden on the trade of the port. In the discussion that took place in 1879 much stress was laid by the native members of the Committee on the fact that the then existing facilities were sufficient. They urged that, though the Banks were closed, exchange operations might be and were carried on, and, that as a matter of fact, the Banks did take cheques from purchasers of bills during the vacation; and that remittances by telegram or otherwise were not necessarily suspended. The Chamber urge that this is not now the case, and that the Banks have felt it unsafe to do any business at all on holidays gazetted under the Negotiable Instruments Act since that Act came into operation, and consequently that the inconvenience to commerce has become intensified.

21. Of the force of these representations there can be no doubt; and it is equally clear that it is the duty of the Government to mitigate the grievance if it is possible to do so without imposing greater hardship on others. The question to be examined is whether this can be done by reducing the number of public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act, and at the same time increasing the number given in Government offices by the executive order of Government. Mahomedan holidays are now granted by the executive order of Government in the following way:—"It is notified for general information that," on specified dates, "all public offices and Revenue and Magisterial Courts in Bengal, with the exception of the offices of Collector of Customs, Shipping Master, the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, the Collector of Stamp Revenue, Calcutta, the Stamping Department of the Office of the Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta, and the Salt Rowanah and Opium Sale Departments of the Board of Revenue, shall be closed." The effect of these orders is to give a general holiday in Government offices with the exception of those specified. To those excepted offices special instructions are issued that "though it is not expedient to close them on the days in question, it is hoped that it will be possible to arrange to relieve of their duties on those days any Mahomedan ministerial officers who may apply for leave." The holidays are granted generally, but the trade of the port is not allowed to suffer. It is an arrangement which His Honour believes has been found to give satisfaction to all concerned. What the Lieutenant-Governor would now propose for consideration is that all those days of the Doorga Poojahs, which are not actually required to be devoted to necessary Hindu religious ceremonies, should be notified as holidays in the same way as Mahomedan holidays are now notified, and that only those days which are devoted to religious ceremonies should be notified as public holidays under the Act.

22. An objection which may be brought against this proposal is that on Poojah days, which are not notified under the Act as public holidays, every bank and mercantile office in the city will be kept open. This is the argument which was felt to have so much weight in the discussions of 1879-80. But the objection is less strong than it seems to be. The Banks would be in no worse position—indeed in a better one in regard to enforced closing—than they were in before the Act was passed: whatever force attached to the argument used by the native members of the Committee as to their being able to afford sufficient facilities to commerce without absolutely closing their doors, would acquire additional strength under the present proposal; while in regard to mercantile offices, the Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to doubt whether there will be any very material change. All the merchants in Calcutta now require so many of their clerks as are necessary to carry on business to attend during the holidays; business is not allowed to stop, notwithstanding the closure of the Exchange Banks and Shipping Office; and the Lieutenant-Governor is assured on competent authority that the reduction of the number of holidays under the Act is not likely to appreciably affect the actual attendance of clerks. The merchants of Calcutta have always been ready to give holidays during the days actually devoted to religious ceremonial observance, and all employés in merchants' offices now know very well that a condition of their service is that on other days they are expected to attend office when work has to be done.

23. Sir Steuart Bayley has no doubt that the mercantile community will continue to show every reasonable consideration to their Hindu clerks in regard to attendance. It is to their interest to do so: the work of their offices depends on mutual agreement on both sides. After all, attendance in office is a matter of contract arrangement between employer and servant, and it is impossible to justify any interference on the part of Government, which would insist on mercantile offices remaining without clerks for twelve days at a time. Of course no such interference is really contemplated, but the papers on the subject give some colour for supposing that the claim has sometimes been made. If it is formally abandoned, the objection under discussion must also be given up.

24. On the other hand, I am to point out that a notification in the proposed form will enable Government to give a general holiday in its own offices, excepting those only which are required to remain partially, or it may be wholly, open to meet the exigencies of commerce. All that is expected from Government is to afford reasonable facilities for carrying on business. This is done in the case of Mahomedan holidays, and ought to be done in the case of Hindu social festivals. The number of Government offices affected is inconsiderable, and the amount of hardship which would be inflicted on the Hindu employés concerned would not be great. The Lieutenant-Governor would, however, strictly enjoin in regard to these excepted offices that the Hindu employés should be allowed their holidays, whenever possible, and that, if it be found impossible to grant them, other concessions in the way of leave at other times should be given.

25. A point which had great weight in influencing the decision in 1879 was that advanced by Mr. Dampier and others that the opening of certain offices at the Presidency would necessarily govern the practice of all or nearly all the other offices in Bengal. It is now argued that this position is no longer tenable as shown by the fact that certain Mahomedan holidays are granted by executive order, and are, as a matter of fact, universally enjoyed in all parts of Bengal, except in certain offices at the Presidency. The opening of these particular offices does not in any way govern the practice elsewhere. It appears to follow that certain Hindu holidays, if notified in the same way as Mahomedan holidays, will be accepted in the same way as Mahomedan holidays are now accepted, and it is urged there is an opportunity of settlement on this basis. The provisions of the Negotiable Instruments Act enable the Government to make a clear distinction between public holidays notified under the Act and holidays notified by executive order: and it seems to His Honour that advantage may be taken of this distinction, which did not exist when the question was formerly under discussion, to sanction arrangements which, while recognizing the claims of the Hindu community, will also satisfy the interests of trade and commerce.

26. It is undoubtedly the case that the attitude of the Chamber becomes a stronger one every year. The proportion of steamers which comes into the port constantly increases, and the requirements of trade are more urgent now than they were ten years ago. The holiday arrangements are proportionately more irksome and impose greater comparative restrictions than they did then. The claims of commercial progress are recognized in other parts of India. It was pointed out by Baboos Kisto Das Pal and Durga Charan Law in 1879 that "the number of holidays in Bengal is less than that in other provinces." But whatever may have been the case in 1879, the exact reverse is the fact in 1889. The number of holidays for 1889 notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act in Madras (including New Year's Day, Good Friday and Christmas Day, which are public holidays under the Act) was 18; in Bombay the number was 21; in Bengal the number was 29. A primâ facie case is therefore made out for reduction in the number of public holidays notified under the Act. If the number of Doorga Poojah and Lakhi Poojah holidays gazetted under the Act were reduced from 12 to 5, there would still remain 22 public holidays in Bengal, which is a larger number that either at Bombay or Madras, and is, the Lieutenant-Governor understands, a larger number than is allowed in any other country in the civilized world.

27. The Chamber of Commerce have proposed that the total number of public holidays notified under the Act should be reduced to 12 days only as specified in their recommendation, and they have declared that these 12 days "shall be the holidays recognized by the Chamber under shipping orders and charter parties as holidays according to the custom of the port." But the Lieutenant-Governor is not aware of any reason why Government should accept so great a change as this. The Chamber are at liberty to declare what charter party holidays they please; but they cannot expect that the Government should regulate the public holidays throughout the province according to the custom of the Calcutta port. It appears that in Madras the public holidays under the Act are identical with the charter party holidays declared by the Chamber of Commerce. In Bombay, however, the local Chamber of Commerce have fixed the number of their charter party holidays at 14, while the Bombay Government has notified the number of public holidays to be 21. Similarly in Bengal there can be no objection to the Chamber fixing the number of holidays according to the custom of the port at 12, while the number of public holidays may be 22, or any other number notified by Government under the Act. Moreover, it has been stated that a reduction in the number of continuous Doorga Poojah public holidays will sufficiently meet the contention of the Chamber, which is not so much against the total number of holidays in the year as against the obstruction to business occasioned by the occurrence of 12 public holidays in succession. Although objection has been taken to the continuous character of the Christmas holidays which, now when Sundays are included, usually amount to five days in succession, it has not been pressed home with the same persistence as the objection to the Doorga Poojah holidays, which are at present also continuous and are more than twice as long in duration. It is only in regard to the Doorga Poojahs, therefore, that the Lieutenant-Governor is disposed at present to consent to any reduction in the number of public holidays under the Act. The other public holidays might remain unchanged for the present. It is desired by the Chamber that if any change is made it should take effect from the year 1890, and the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to take action as he may be advised in this respect.

28. I am to sum up this letter as follows:—

It is proposed to notify holidays in Bengal under two separate notifications: first, in regard to public holidays notified as such under the Negotiable Instruments Act; and, secondly, in regard to holidays which are notified as such by the closure of public offices. These two separate notifications would be in the form given, and apply to the days specified in the draft notifications annexed.

In addition to any remarks on the general question which may be offered, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to be favoured with an opinion on the following points:—

(1)—Whether the effect of the publication of these notifications will be to make a clear distinction between public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act and those notified by executive order only, in so far that the Exchange Banks will remain closed on the "public holidays" only, and not on the other days.

(2)—Whether the effect of the publication of these notifications will wholly or partially meet the growing requirements of trade and commerce.

(3)—Whether the effect of the publication of these notifications will be to inflict serious hardship on a considerable section of the community by depriving them of holidays which they now enjoy.

(4)—Whether the proposals now made are accepted by the Chamber / your Association as a reasonable present compromise between interests which admittedly conflict with one another.

29. The third question, as to the effect on the general community of notifying the non-compulsory days of the Doorga Poojah as holidays by executive action instead of under the Negotiable Instruments Act, is the most important, and that to which your attention is specially invited. The Lieutenant-Governor would in no case make a change without the previous sanction of the Government of India, and he desires to lay the question before His Excellency in Council with the fullest light that previous enquiry can throw upon it.

30. In conclusion, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to obtain an answer to this letter at the Chamber's / Association's early convenience.

ANNEXURE.

DRAFT NOTIFICATION.

The 1890.—Under section 25 of Act XXVI of 1881, entitled "The Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881," the Lieutenant-Governor hereby declares the following days to be public holidays during the year 1890 :—

25th January	...	Sripanchami.

I AM directed to enclose a copy of a letter on the subject of public holidays in Bengal, which has been addressed to the undermentioned Chambers and Associations, and to enquire, with reference to the notification which has already been published at page 1010 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of 11th December 1889, if there would be any legal objection to the supersession of this notification by the publication of another notification such as is proposed for the public holidays of the current year. It is necessary to consider this point before deciding whether any change in regard to public holidays should apply to the year 1890.

From—Lieut. E. W. Petley, R.N., Port Officer and Shipping Master, Calcutta,
To—The Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Dapartment.

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. Mis. $\frac{1\text{-}H}{1}$ 35, dated the 20th instant, and annexure, calling for the opinion of this office in respect of certain proposals relating to the public holidays in Bengal, and in reply to state that it appears to me that the proposal contained in paragraph 29 of the letter of the Government of Bengal, Nos. Mis. $\frac{1\text{-}H}{1}$ 18-22 of the 19th idem, will meet the requirements of the mercantile community as represented by the Chamber of Commerce and the Trades Association; but I fear the publication of the proposed double notification will cause hardship to the Government employés who will be deprived of their holidays. My reason for such opinion is based on the following grounds:—

In the six departments and offices which the notification will affect, the bulk of their establishments is composed of Hindus, who usually take this opportunity of visiting their country homes during the Doorga Pooja vacation. These homes, I understand, are mostly ancestral properties, where the social system of the Hindus, being of a patriarchal type, all the relatives, close and distant, of the holders of these properties meet from the different parts of India, and this deprivation of intercourse between relatives, &c., is the hardship which will chiefly be felt, and which concession in the way of leave, &c., at other times, when families are again separated, will hardly satisfy.

No. 75, dated Calcutta, the 3rd February 1890.

From—Baboo Pratapa Chandra Ghosha, Registrar of Calcutta,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. $\frac{1\text{-}H}{1}$ 34 Mis., dated the 20th ultimo, forwarding copy of letter No. $\frac{1\text{-}H}{1}$ 18-22 Mis. of the Financial Department, with its annexure of draft notification regarding the holidays to be observed in public offices, for opinion and report.

1. In reply, I beg to submit my views on the point indicated in paragraph 29 of your letter seriatim.

(1) The publication of the notification, draft of which has been annexed to the letter under reply, will, in my humble opinion, make a clear distinction between public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act and those notified by executive order only in so far that the exchange banks will remain closed on the "public holidays" only and not on the other days. The excepted offices will, as a matter of fact, be kept wholly open, and although the benevolent special instructions of the Government direct that, though it is not expedient to close them on the days in question, it is hoped that it will be possible to relieve of their duties on those days any ministerial officers whose religious requirements compel them to apply for leave, the heads of departments as a matter of fact will find great difficulty in extending that privilege, exigencies of the service constraining them to refuse the just claims of the poor clerks who cannot force themselves into the notice of the higher authorities without suffering seriously in return. The Government cannot be unaware that it is as much difficult for poor clerks to make their grievances heard as it is for Government to make the heads of departments carry on their business with a portion of their establishment in attendance.

(2) I believe the effect of the publication of these notifications will wholly meet the growing requirements of trade and commerce. It is not for me to remark that whether the mercantile community have proved that they have any real complaint to make. The Negotiable Instruments Act was passed in 1881. And in 1888 and 1889 the Government has been pleased to negative the Chamber's representations because the inconvenience and loss which the mercantile community suffer from the existing state of things, great and serious as they are, cannot be remedied without inflicting a still more serious hardship on a far more numerous though less influential portion of the community. Within this short interval, forgive me if I say no new circumstance has intervened as to justify the reversal of the most noble, wise, and statesman-like ruling the Bengal Government issued in 1889, i.e. last year. In my humble opinion, further enquiries are necessary to ascertain the exact nature of the loss complained of by the mercantile community. The inconvenience arising from the closure of the exchange bank may easily be removed without the direct interference of Government; for, as the constituents of these banks are members of the mercantile community, they may be kept open or close at their pleasure.

(3). I cannot help confessing that the publication of these notifications will not only inflict serious hardship on a considerable section of the community by depriving them of holidays which they now enjoy, but will extend its evil effects not only to the Hindoo community at large but to all classes of population in Calcutta. In these days, when the demonstrative feeling of the community is in its highest tension, a curtailment as indicated by the notification is likely to wake up invidious distinction in the minds of the Hindoo community especially, for within the last couple of years, while the Government has recognised the propriety of closing offices on days of Mahomedan festivals, a backward movement has been evinced in the case of the Hindoo community by the deprivation of the privileges which the latter have been enjoying ever since the British flag was unfurled from the towers of Fort William. For nearly two centuries the Government has not thought it proper to recognise the rights of the Mahomedan community of Calcutta, and the good which the extension of the privileges to that section of the community by closing public offices on Mahomedan festivals is calculated to secure will, I am constrained to admit, be greatly counterbalanced by the unpleasantness which the contemplated curtailment will create in the minds of the Hindoo community. I need not add that such a curtailment will, in addition to the unpleasantness mentioned above, materially injure and inconvenience the public non-trading community generally.

2. The question of the number of public holidays in the Bengal Province has been the subject of much discussion for upwards of a quarter of a century, and although the mercantile community of Calcutta, represented by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Calcutta Trades' Association, have been urging for the last 30 years the desirability of affording greater facilities to the trade by reducing the number of Hindoo holidays observed in public offices, considerations of privations and difficulties to which the general community as well as the clerks would be subjected have always influenced the patriarchal Government in ruling otherwise. The attitude of the Chamber has, however, become stronger every year, and it may be surmised that some inconvenience and loss are sustained by the mercantile community owing to the long Doorga Poojah vacation which under the Negotiable Instruments Act have become public holidays, and that that loss is princpally due to the closing of the following offices:—

(1) The Office of Collector of Customs.
(2) ,, ,, Shipping Master.
(3) ,, ,, Collector of Stamp Revenue.
(4) ,, ,, the Stamping Department of the Superintendent of Stamps.
(5) ,, ,, the Salt Rowannah and Opium Sale Department of the Board of Revenue.

3. It will be observed that from the list I have excluded the office of the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, and my reason for doing so I will have the honour to submit further on. It is not for me to say that the customs and habits of the country of adoption of the mercantile and trading community should bear some weight in determining the question of holidays and balance of convenience, nor am I justified to refer in detail to the accommodations already provided for by keeping open the Customs and the other offices, but I cannot help observing that the period of 12 days already fixed for the Doorga Poojah vacation is the minimum to which it can possibly be reduced."

4. The proposal regarding the curtailment of public holidays, as has been set forth in the Government letter, has to be considered in its two different aspects—firstly, in so far as it will affect the general public by the opening or closure of the public offices generally; and secondly, in so far as it will affect them by the opening or closure of the office of the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta.

5. As regards the first side of the question I need not repeat the arguments already before the Government, as they had been put forth by abler and more influential members of the community. As a Hindoo officer and having a certain number of Hindoo clerks under me, and having to deal with all classes of Hindoo and mercantile community of Calcutta, I cannot but record that the Doorga Poojah vacation is already too short. I do not know what interested political pundit has induced the Government to believe that the real Doorga Poojah ceremonies occupy only three days. There is not a Hindoo pundit or layman who can say that the real Doorga Poojah does not extend over a period of more than fifteen days. It commences on the ninth day of the waning moon and ends on the tenth day of the waxing fortnight following. It may be said that there are not many families in Calcutta who observe the ceremony for such a long period—that is to say, who observe the Navamyádi Kalpa; but the same argument may be urged against the "three days' (correctly five days ceremony," for, as a matter of fact, there are few families who observe even the same. Properly speaking, the minimum observance of the poojah occupies five days, for it commences on the sixth and ends on the tenth day of the waxing moon. But the Doorga Poojah of the Hindoos of to-day is in one sense more important than the great Asvamedha (horse sacrifice) of the Vedic period, inasmuch as the horse sacrifice was observed by the ruling sovereigns only, while the Doorga Poojah (the Asvamedha of the Iron age) is observed by all classes of people—nay, it is said in the Shastras that it is to be observed by the Mlechhas, Savaras, and all non-Hindoo races; besides, the Asvamedha was a free will offering, while the Doorga Poojah to every Hindoo is a compulsory observance and not to observe it is a sin; and although the actual worship may not occupy a longer period, the preparations, the collections of a thousand and one things for the proper performance of the ceremony cannot possibly be made in a short time. Besides, the five days and nights are fully occupied in observing ceremonies both social and religious. On the tenth day, until the idol is placed in the water, many Hindoo families observing fast do not prepare their food, and many a family invite their friends close upon midnight of the tenth day of the moon and feast together. It is unnecessary to repeat that all the arrangements for sending ladies to their fathers' house or bringing them back to their husbands fall on the nine auspicious days of the Doorga Poojah so well known throughout India as the Navaratri. And last, though not the least, is the ceremony of the autumnal Navánna, a ceremony observed on the income of the new crop, which is pre-eminently directed to be observed in that fortnight of the month of Asvin when the Devi is worshipped.

6. As regards the second side of the question, the office of the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, is not much resorted to by the mercantile community for any urgent or ephemeral or temporary accommodation of business, for, under the Act, such negotiable instruments have been classed under the optional heads. I have not as yet had an occasion to register a single on demand note, promissory note, hundi, &c., and documents of that nature executed by the mercantile or trading community of Calcutta in course of their business. All such transactions are primarily kept confidential, and the mercantile community loathe to give publicity to such deeds which affect their commercial credit. The only class of deeds for which they resort to this office are of a permanent nature such as leases, mortgages and conveyances, which, under the Act, may be presented any time within four months from the date of execution. Powers of attorney alone of persons abruptly leaving Calcutta not previously arranged may require the Registrar to authenticate during the 12 days' vacation. But the wide distribution of registration offices throughout India and the more liberal provisions of section 33, clause (b), have provided for all such contingencies. It will thus be seen that the closing of the office of the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, is not likely to inconvenience the mercantile community any way.

7. I beg to append a statement showing the number of registrations effected by merchants and traders and also by the non-trading community of Calcutta during the first 15 days following the expiry of the Doorga Poojah vacation. It will be seen that the table contains statistics of the past 20 years, and the figures in column 3, which show the number of registrations by merchants and traders, fully corroborate the fact that the Calcutta Registry Office is rarely resorted to by the mercantile community of Calcutta during the period which intervenes between the expiry of the 12 days' Doorga Poojah vacation and the re-opening of the Court of Small Causes, Calcutta. I have left out figures for the five years preceding the two decades, as my office records do not show any important transactions by merchants and traders during that period. It will also be seen from the statement that even of the few registrations relating to purely mercantile transactions a good portion were powers of attorney, a class of documents of not an urgent nature, as has already been noticed. Although it is out of place to mention here and in the face of the proposals for curtailment of holidays, I cannot help observing that the office of the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, may be kept closed with the Court of Small Causes, Calcutta, without putting the mercantile community of Calcutta to any the least inconvenience and loss.

No. 1328, dated Calcutta, the 4th February 1890.

From—T. T. Allen, Esq., Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

With reference to your No. $\frac{1\text{-H}}{1}$ 24 of the 19th ultimo, having consulted with the Advocate-General, I have the honour to say that there appears no legal obstacle in the way to prevent Government from cancelling the notification of public holidays already published, and substituting in its place a new list.

No. 73, dated Calcutta, the 7th February 1890.

From—S. E. J. Clarke, Esq., Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce,
To—The Offg. Secy. to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

The Committee of the Chamber of Commerce have perused with great interest the able and clear resumé of the holiday question contained in your letter No. Mis. $\frac{1-8}{1}$ 18 of the 19th January, and they cheerfully acknowledge the admission contained in your paragraph 27 that the holiday arrangements under the "Negotiable Instruments Act" are proportionately more irksome and impose greater restrictions now then they did ten years ago, because the requirements of trade are more urgent now than they were then. This admission recognises the principle for which the Chamber of Commerce has so long contended, and renders it unnecessary for the Committee to follow you in your review of the discussion.

There is, however, a statement in your paragraph 25 which the Committee are glad to see made you say that "all that is expected from Government is to afford reasonable facilities for carrying on business. This is done in the case of Mahomedan holidays, and ought to be done in the case of Hindu social festivals."

The Committee are bound to say that they can see no reason why a distinction should be made in the treatment of Hindu and Mohomedan holidays, and they regard with satisfaction the manner in which His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has, in your paragraph 26, approached this point.

I am to point out that the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce have taken equal exception to continuous holidays at Christmas with continuous holidays at the Doorga Poojas, and that in my No. 944 of 22nd November last, they suggested that the holidays at Christmas time should be restricted to Christmas Day and the day after—December 25th and 26th. In the notification which accompanied your letter under reply, the Christmas holidays for 1890 are from the 24th to 27th December, both days inclusive; as the 28th December falls on a Sunday, this means that business must close on a Tuesday, a mail day, and remain closed till the following Monday. There is no reason that they can see for making December 24th a holiday, and they would suggest that the draft notification be amended accordingly.

In the Doorga Pooja holidays, they would point out that the notification would close business from Saturday, October 18th, to Thursday, October 23rd, and they would suggest, for the consideration of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, that the 23rd October might be transposed with the 22nd in the lists under the "Negotiable Instruments Act" and Hindu holidays respectively.

This brings them to the points set out in your paragraph 29, as those on which Sir Steuart Bayley desires an expression of opinion:—

(1) The Committee are clearly of opinion that the effect of the publication of the notifications suggested will be to make a clear distinction between public holidays under the "Negotiable Instruments Act" and those notified by executive order only.

(2) They are further of opinion that the effect of the publication of the notifications will partially meet the growing requirements of trade and commerce.

(3) They do not consider the effect of the publication of the notifications will be to inflict serious hardship on a considerable section of the community, by depriving them of holidays which they now enjoy.

(4) And lastly, the proposals now made, with the exception suggested as to Christmas, are accepted by the Chamber as a reasonable present compromise between interests which admittedly conflict with one another.

The Committee would suggest that the notifications, amended as they have ventured to suggest, should be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and they would be glad to give them, when they appear, the widest circulation possible.

In conclusion, I am to repeat, generally, the request made in my No. 944 of 22nd November, that the Chamber may be permitted an opportunity of considering the holidays the Government may propose to declare under the "Negotiable Instruments Act" before such holidays are published in the Gazette. This request is made on the ground that it would considerably assist the Chamber in settling the holidays under Charter Parties and Shipping Orders.

Dated Calcutta, the 10th February 1890.

From—W. D. CRUICKSHANK, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Bengal,
To—The Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge receipt of your letter No. Mis. $\frac{14}{1}$ 25 of the 19th ultimo, enclosing copy of a letter on the subject of public holidays in Bengal, which had been addressed by you to certain Chambers of Commerce and Associations, and requesting to be furnished with the Bank's opinion on the proposals therein contained for the Lieutenant-Governor's information.

With regard to the proposal to notify public holidays in Bengal under two separate notifications, the first in regard to public holidays notified as such under the Negotiable Instruments' Act, and the second by executive order only, I am instructed by the Directors to state that they consider that the effect of the publication of separate notifications, in the manner proposed, will be to make a perfectly clear distinction between public holidays notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act and public holidays notified by executive order only; and that the distinction will be sufficiently obvious to avoid all risk of Exchange Banks so misunderstanding the effect of the separate notifications as to remain closed on days which are not notified as public holidays under the Act.

As regards the second point on which an expression of the Bank's opinion is sought, I am instructed by the Directors to state that they consider that the effect of the publication of the notifications proposed will not be sufficient to meet the present requirements of trade and commerce, and that they agree with the proposals of the Chamber of Commerce that the total of public holidays in the year to be notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act should be reduced to 12 in number. They desire in particular to draw the attention of the Government to the fact that very great inconvenience is caused by two or more holidays falling on consecutive days, and they trust that, so far as may be possible, this inconvenience may be obviated.

As regards the third question, the Directors consider that the effect of the publication of the notifications will not inflict any hardship whatever on a considerable section of the community; and even were the number of holidays under the Act reduced to the number proposed by the Chamber of Commerce, they think that the amount of hardship, if any, would be so infinitesimal as hardly to be considered of weight as against the benefit to the mercantile community which would be effected by a further reduction in the number of public holidays. The Directors believe that the mercantile community have hitherto shown, and will continue to show, every reasonable consideration to their Hindu clerks in regard to attendance, and they have no doubt that if the number of holidays notified under the Act be reduced, arrangements will be very generally made to grant compensation to native clerks in the shape of holidays at other times.

In regard to the fourth point, the Directors consider that the proposals of the Government of Bengal may be generally accepted as an instalment only, for the time being, of the reductions in the holidays necessary to relieve trade of the restriction under which it now labours.

It is noticed that it is proposed that the reduction in the number of holidays shall take effect during the present year. The Directors are very desirous that the reduction should come into force as soon as possible, but it has occurred to them that the Government may not have power, after having once published the notification in the Gazette on 11th December 1889, to alter that notification by reducing the number of days once declared to be public holidays under the Act, and that any such alteration might interfere with business arrangements entered into on the basis of the existing notification. These points will doubtless receive the Lieutenant-Governor's consideration.

To—The Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

WE, the undersigned, have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 19th ultimo, requesting us to state our opinion on the proposals contained in your letter of same date to the Chamber of Commerce and others. In accordance with this request we beg herewith to submit the following remarks.

We believe that with the increasing volume of trade at this Port, but more especially owing to keen competition in trade generally, it has become a necessity with some merchants at this Port to curtail holidays as much as possible. They say that the obstruction to trade caused by the holidays known as the Doorga and Lukhi Poojas would, if business were closed for 12 days, be seriously injurious to them. The Exchange Banks do not feel the inconvenience to the same extent as others, and would be glad to retain these holidays intact for the benefit both of their European and Native employés. They have, however, for some years recognised that a section of the mercantile community have seemed to have some claim on them for assistance at that season, and have accordingly opened on a certain number of days during the said holidays for the transaction of urgent, though not of ordinary business. This half-and-half way of opening is attended by several inconveniencos, some of which affect our customers and some ourselves. As to the latter, it is enough to state that on any day which is a holiday under the Negotiable Instruments Act we cannot legally collect bills receivable nor pay bills payable, and it seems doubtful whether even cheques can be legally paid or presented. Such conditions throw more responsibility on us than we deem it desirable to undertake, and we should prefer, if we open at all, to open only on days which are not holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act. Our assent or dissent to the proposal to reduce the number of Doorga Pooja holidays from 12 days to 5 depends on whether the necessity to open attaches to a large or comparatively small section of the mercantile community. We do not assert that it is only a small and specially interested section of the community who desire to reduce the holidays, but we hear so many different opinions expressed that it is at least open to doubt whether a majority of the community is in favour of fewer holidays. It has not been effectively demonstrated by general vote or otherwise whether reduction of holidays finds favor or disfavor among the majority at the present time. We can at present therefore only state that, while we should be opposed to any reduction in favor of a minority, we should not wish to oppose the interests of the majority.

We do not think the exigencies of trade are such as to call for the reduction of any of the other holidays notified under the Negotiable Instruments Act.

In reply to the four questions at the end of your letter—

1. Under the change proposed the Exchange Banks would remain closed only on days notified as holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act.
2. We believe that no further reduction is necessary to meet the growing requirements of trade and commerce.
3. The reduction proposed means exactly so many days fewer holidays to the employés of Exchange Banks, and is to that extent a hardship.
4. We should accept the proposal as a reasonable concession to our customers only on the conditions named.

No. 985, dated Calcutta, the 17th February 1890.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Financial Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

WITH reference to the correspondence ending with your letter No. 73, dated the 7th February 1890, regarding public holidays in Bengal, I am directed to forward the enclosed copy of a letter* from the Agents and Managers of the Exchange Banks in Calcutta on the subject. The Chamber will observe that the Banks are prepared to accept the proposals made in my letter No. $\frac{1\text{-H}}{1}$18, dated the 19th January 1890, provided that the majority of the mercantile community is in favour of them, but they add that "it has not been effectively demonstrated by general vote or otherwise whether reduction of holidays finds favour or disfavour among the majority at the present time."

* Dated 11th February 1890.

2. I am desired to request that the Chamber will be so good as to inform the Lieutenant-Governor whether there is a considerable minority of their members opposed to any change. The Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that the opinion of the Chamber as a body has been expressed in the letter already received from their Secretary; but, with reference to the observation made by the Exchange Banks, it would be more satisfactory to Government if, with the permission of the President and Committee, it could be stated approximately how far the doubt expressed by the Banks, "whether a majority of the (mercantile) community is in favour of fewer holidays," can be set at rest by reference to the relative number of supporters of either view among the members of the Chamber.

No. 131-90, dated Calcutta, the 26th February 1890.

From—S. E. J. CLARKE, Esq., Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

THE Committee of the Chamber of Commerce desire me to reply to your No. 985, dated 17th February, in which you state, as a deduction from a remark occurring in a letter dated the 11th of February on the subject of holidays, addressed to Government by the Agents and Managers of the Exchange Banks in Calcutta, that it would be more satisfactory to Government if it could be stated approximately, by a reference to the relative number of supporters of either view among the members of the Chamber, "whether a majority of the (mercantile) community is in favour of fewer holidays."

This appears to be an invitation to the Committeee to take a vote of the Chamber on the question whether they do, or do not, represent the views of those by whom they were elected.

As regards the remark of the Exchange Banks, I am to say that the Government will attach to it no doubt just so much weight as it deserves. But the doubt expressed by the Banks had never, until you favoured the Committee with a copy of their letter, been expressed to the Committee. The representatives of five Banks met the Committee on 5th September last in conference on the subject of holidays. Further, on 27th December, and again on 24th of January, a representative of the Exchange Banks attended meetings of the Committee. But on neither of these three occasions was the question raised which you have now brought to notice. The Exchange Banks, I am to say, have not sent in to the Chamber a copy of their letter of the 11th of February.

It is known to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor that the Committee of the Chamber is now in a special manner, as compared with what formerly obtained, representative.

As to the attitude of the Chamber on this holiday question, I am to point out that the first step taken by the Committee was in obedience to a mandate of a general meeting held on the 11th December 1860, and that during the intervening period of more than 29 years the attitude of all the previous Committees in office has been consistent, has been supported by the Chamber, and has never, until now, been questioned as representing the wishes of the mercantile community. That attitude can to-day be correctly expressed in the following extract from a letter addressed by the Chamber to the Government of Bengal so far back as 27th of November 1878:—

"The Committee do not undervalue the convenience attending the entry and clearance of vessels during the holidays, and the partial importation and exportation of merchandise on passes obtained in anticipation of the holidays; but these operations are after all only a fraction of the general business of the port, which is practically prevented from being carried on during that long interval: for while the Bank of Bengal and the other banking establishments are compulsorily closed, a general suspension of business, for a period longer than takes place in any other port in the world, is inevitable, and the inconveniences resulting from such a system are of such grave concern to the commercial community that their interests urgently call for a material amendment of the recognition which these holidays receive from Government."

Reviewing the whole history of this controversy, and their own position in relation to it, the Committee can see no reason for complying with the suggestion you seem to have put forward, that they should take a vote of the Chamber and must accordingly decline to take any such action.

No. 173, dated Calcutta, the 7th March 1890.

Demi-official from—S. E. J. CLARKE, Esq., Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

THE Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, although unable to comply with the suggestion of Government that a formal vote of the Chamber should be taken on the question whether the views as to holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act, advocated by the Committee, were the views of the majority of the Chamber, yet agreed with the late President, the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Wilson, to take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the Annual Ordinary General Meeting to remove the matter beyond doubt. Sir Alexander Wilson, therefore, referred to this phase of the holiday question in his address, and in the course of the proceedings called for an informal vote on the point as an expression of the Chamber's opinion. The result was an unanimous confirmation of the views expressed by the Committee.

I enclose for your information a list of those present.

Dated Calcutta, the 24th February 1890.

From—G. HICKIE, Esq., Secretary, Calcutta Trades Association,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. $\frac{1\text{-H}}{1}$20, dated 19th January, on the subject of public holidays inthe Province of Bengal.

2. The Committee of the Trades Association have noticed with much satisfaction that this matter is again receiving the attention of the Government. From the statement of facts set out in your letter, it is abundantly manifest that the whole question of public holidays is one of great importance to the mercantile and trading community of Calcutta, and the Committee trust that the present consideration of the subject will result in a settlement which will be more satisfactory to all interests

3. The Trades Association, as far back as the year 1875, addressed the Government of Bengal on the injury inflicted on the commerce of the Port by the prolonged suspension of business during the Doorga Pooja vacation, and the arguments then advanced have not lost any of their force. The inconvenience and loss to the business portion of the European community, characterised by the Government itself as "great and vexatious," continue to be felt, and will increase unless the reasonable claims of those who suffer from the existing state of things and earnestly seek a remedy are adequately met.

4. There is another feature of the question which should not be overlooked. Calcutta is the centre of business for the whole of Upper India, and the cessation of business in Calcutta for twelve consecutive days causes very serious loss and inconvenience to the large community outside Lower Bengal who know nothing of the Doorga Pooja holidays and have no sympathy with them.

5. It is gratifying to the Association to learn from your letter that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor proposes that only those days of the Doorga Poojas "which are devoted to religious ceremonies should be notified as public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act." It was precisely on this basis that the Association, in its representation of March 1875, contended that these holidays should alone be maintained, and the Committee feel sure that the justice which marks His Honour's proposal will commend itself to those who regard the question in all its bearings without feeling or prejudice. His Honour has now, it is noticed, expressed his willingness to limit the number of these holidays to five days under the Negotiable Instruments Act, and to allow a similar number of holidays for the Doorga Poojas by executive order, the latter number to be applicable to certain specified offices under the Government of Bengal. It is further proposed to deal with this distinction under two separate notifications, and in connection therewith you desire to be furnished with the opinion of the Association on the following points.

Whether the effect of the publication of these notifications will be to make a clear distinction between public holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act and those notified by executive order only, in so far that the Exchange Banks will remain closed on the "public holidays" only, and not on the other days.

6. The proposed notifications will, the Committee believe, be sufficient to make a clear distinction between public holidays under the Act and holidays to be given to Government employés by executive order.

7. The Committee are of opinion that the effect of the notifications will be to minimise, in some measure, the inconvenience heretofore experienced; it will, however, be possible only after some experience of the working of the new arrangement to state whether it has met the requirements of trade and commerce to the full extent desired.

Whether the effect of the publication of these notifications will wholly or partially meet the growing requirements of trade and commerce.

8. In regard to this point, the Committee believe that the time has come when the Government may, without inflicting any real hardship upon any portion of the community, assume a firm attitude and grant to the commercial interests in Calcutta the relief so constantly sought in the direction of the curtailment of the long official Doorga Pooja holidays. The question of interference with religious observances may be at once set aside; there is no wish on the part of the European community to interfere with these, but with reference to the social aspect of the question, it may properly be urged that the Hindus themselves, by opening for the most part their places of business even on the close Pooja days, support our arguments for the reduction of the holidays. The Committee believe that, for years to come, the present practice of allowing Hindu employés a long holiday to visit their homes will be continued, with this difference, however, that the holiday will be granted by the employer and not be forced upon him by a social custom backed up by Government orders.

Whether the effect of the publication of these notifications will be to, inflict serious hardship on a considerable section of the community by depriving them of holidays which they now enjoy.

9. In regard to the fourth and last question, I am desired to say that the Committee accept the proposals as a reasonable compromise between the several interests, and with the hope that in their actual working they may be found sufficient.

Whether the proposals now made are accepted by your Association as a reasonable present compromise between interests which admittedly conflict with one another.

10. While action is being taken, the Committee are of opinion that it would be well to lay down as a principle, that when a Hindu holiday falls on Sunday, it shall not be necessary to declare as a public holiday the previous or the following day.

In submitting these remarks for the favourable consideration of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, I am directed to convey the thanks of the Committee to His Honour for affording them an opportunity of again expressing their views on this question.

No. 206B, dated Calcutta, the 20th March 1890.

From—A. E. STALEY, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L.P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of Government order No. $\frac{1-H}{1}$ 23, dated 19th January last, forwarding a copy of a letter addressed to the Chambers and Associations noted in the margin, regarding public holidays in Bengal, and requiring the Board to obtain and submit with their own opinion the opinions of the Collector of Customs, of the Superintendent of Stamps, and of the Collector of Stamp Revenue, Calcutta, on the proposals therein contained.

HON'BLE F. B. PEACOCK.

1. To the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.
2. To the Secretary to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce.
3. To the Secretary to the Calcutta Trades Association.
4. To the Secretary to the British Indian Association.

To the Secretary to the Indian Association.

2. In reply, I am to state that the officers above referred to were, as desired, consulted on the subject, and an abstract of their opinions is given below for the information of Government.

Collector of Customs, Calcutta.—The only change that the step contemplated would make in the present practice of the Custom House would be the addition of one day to the four days on which it is kept open entirely during the Doorga Pooja holidays.

Provided the other public holidays are left as in the draft notification, there is no reason, as far as the Custom House is concerned, to take exception to the change now proposed.

Superintendent of Stamps, Calcutta.—The Stamping Department of this office consists of one Christian and one Hindu clerk, two pressmen and two coolies. These last are all Mahomedans, and therefore are not affected in any way so far as their religious observances are concerned by the Doorga Pooja holidays.

If it is eventually deemed expedient to curtail these holidays in the interests of the commerce of the port, there would not be any serious objection to urge so far as this office is concerned. Arrangements might be made by which part of the establishment would be present to do any urgent work, or notice might be given to banks and mercantile firms to get any cheques, &c., they wanted stamped done before the commencement of the holidays. All documents stamped here are printed forms, and it would only be necessary for these parties to lay in a sufficient stock of each kind to carry them over the holidays to allow of the Stamping Department getting the same holidays as other Government servants.

Collector of Stamp Revenue, Calcutta.—As to the supply of stamps by this office, it is to be observed that all firms and men of business, as a rule, provide themselves with a sufficient supply in advance of their ordinary requirements, and particularly against wants during close holidays. The public are also served in this direction by licensed stamp vendors, 70 to 80 of whom have shops in various parts of the town, which are kept open every day, and it is the interest of the vendors to do business even on close holidays.

The number of European, Christian and Mahomedan hands in the office of the Collector is not large enough to admit of the Hindu assistants being relieved during the Hindu holidays; and it is to be borne in mind that the proposal affects not only the officers attached to the Stamp Department, but also those employed in the Treasury and Account Departments, which must necessarily be kept open with the Stamp Department; so that practically almost the entire office will be deprived of a concession which has been long enjoyed and which is highly appreciated for several good reasons.

As regards the effect of the proposed notifications, the Collector feels no hesitation in stating that the proposal, if adopted, would cause serious hardship to a considerable section of the community, and he ventures to state that, so far as this office is concerned, the measure is not needed.

3. As to the Custom House and the office of the Superintendent of Stamps, there need be no difficulty in carrying out the change proposed by Government, nor do the Board think there need be in that of the Collector of Stamp Revenue. There are, it will be seen, means, outside that office, available to the general public to provide themselves during holidays with most, if not all, the stamps they require; and as regards the Doorga Pooja vacation, the Board think it would go far to prevent any inconvenience that might otherwise arise if, some time before the vacation arrived, the Collector were to put a notice in the newspapers asking mercantile firms and others requiring stamps to supply themselves therewith before and not during the holidays, in order that as many of the employés as possible might not be compelled to attend office during the vacation. If this were done, it would not be necessary to have more than one or two clerks present to meet any emergency that might arise. The Collector would no doubt be able to arrange that these clerks should not be Hindus. In this view, the Board see no objection to holidays being notified in Bengal under two separate notifications, as proposed in paragraph 29 of the letter which forms the enclosure of the Government order under reply.

No. 60, dated Calcutta, the 15th March 1890.

From—Baboo Surendronath Banerjee, Honorary Secretary to the Indian Association,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I am directed by the Committee of the Indian Association to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. Mis. $\frac{1-H}{1}$22, dated the 19th January 1890, and to observe as follows.

2. The Committee must be permitted to express their regret that the Chamber of Commerce should now seek to reopen the question of the Doorga

Pooja holidays, which was definitely settled after careful consideration by a Committee consisting of such men as Mr. Dampier, Raja Durga Charan Laha, the late Hon'ble Kristo Dass Pal and others; and the views of the Committee received the support of no less an authority than Sir Steuart Bayley, who was then officiating as Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. "The fact is," remarked Sir Steuart Bayley, "their (those of the mercantile community) interests and those of the Hindu community are on this point not reconcileable, and it is necessary for the Government to decide between the two; and the Lieutenant-Governor does not recommend, for the sake of what would be an inappreciable relief to Commerce, any alteration in the present national holidays of the Hindus." The Committee naturally enquire if anything has happened since then which should lead to the change which the Chamber has so often pressed for. Mr. Cotton states in his letter under reply:—

"The gravamen of the Chamber is, firstly, that public business is to a large extent paralysed during these holidays by the closing of the Exchange Banks, which will not undertake the responsibility of transacting business during days upon which negotiable instruments will not mature; and, secondly, that the trade of the port is materially affected by the closure of the Shipping Office and the inability to ob ain port clearance during these days. It is pointed out that in the interval from 30th September to 10th October 1889, which were declared public holidays under the Act on account of the Doorga and Lakhi Poojas in 1889, the shipping arrivals in the Port of Calcutta showed a gross tonnage of 73,210 and a registered tonnage of 48,179; that the departures showed 63,962 gross and 45,538 registered tonnage; that 29 steamers and two ships arrived in port, and that 19 steamers and 13 ships left the port. The East Indian Railway brought into the market 25,084 tons of goods, and the Eastern Bengal State Railway 4,52,514 maunds, of which 3,63,875 were jute. The fact that all bills maturing in the interval fell due on Saturday, September 28th, is brought to notice as a most serious inconvenience and burden on the trade of the port. In the discussion that took place in 1879, much stress was laid by the native members of the Committee on the fact that the then existing facilities were sufficient. They urged that, though the banks were closed, exchange operations might be and were carried on, and that, as a matter of fact, the banks did take cheques from purchasers of bills during the vacation; and that remittances by telegram or otherwise were not necessarily suspended. The Chamber urge that this is not now the case, and that the banks have felt it unsafe to do any business at all on holidays gazetted under the Negotiable Instruments Act since that Act came into operation, and consequently that the inconvenience to commerce has become intensified."

3. Influenced by these considerations, the Government have suggested a modification of the existing arrangements in connection with these holidays. It is not indeed proposed to curtail the holidays, but they will be provided for in a way somewhat different from what has hitherto been the practice. Only five days, the days of actual religious celebration, will be included as holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act, and the rest will be declared so by an order of the Government, which would have the effect of placing them on the same footing with the recently created Mahomedan holidays. The Committee must declare their inability to endorse these proposals, and they must enter their respectful but firm protest against any recommendation which would involve any alteration in the existing number of holidays, or the procedure which is now adopted in granting them. The feeling is general that this would be but the beginning of the end, and would mean the eventual curtailment of the holidays. An executive order may vary from year to year, and it involves an element of uncertainty, which would afford each year a further temptation to renewed agitation. Nor is this all. An executive order of the Government of Bengal will not apply to the offices under the Government of India, many of which at the time of the Doorga Poojas are located in Calcutta; whereas a declaration under the Negotiable Instruments Act would have the force of law, and would be binding upon all offices, whether of the local or of the Supreme Government.

4. The most important allegation made by the Chamber, on the strength of which mainly the proposed alteration in the holidays has been recommended, is that "public business to a large extent is paralysed during these holidays by the closing of the Exchange Banks." But the Committee learn that the Exchange Banks are opposed to the curtailment of the holidays and to the changes that have been proposed If the Committee are correct in their information, then they have no hesitation in saying that the Government would not be justified in making any change in any way in connection with these holidays.

5. There is one other remark which the Committee would desire to make in this connection. In the notification which it is proposed to be issued for the closing of the Government offices, there are some offices named which at the present moment remain closed, but which would be deprived of their holidays if the Government carry out their present proposals; for instance, the office of the Registrar of Assurances now enjoys its annual Doorga Pooja holidays: under the proposed orders it will be deprived of them. The Committee earnestly hope that the Government will continue the present arrangements in connection with the Doorga Pooja holidays. These holidays have a deep hold upon the national mind, and any step which might be construed into an attempt to interfere with them would spread dissatisfaction and alarm throughout the community. The benefit that might be gained, the Committee are convinced, would be inconsiderable compared with the harm that would be done.

Dated Calcutta, the 27th March 1890.

From—BABOO SITANATH ROY, Honorary Secretary to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letters No. $\frac{M\ 1—H}{1}$ 20, dated 16th December 1889, and No. $\frac{M\ 1—H}{1}$ 21, dated 19th January 1890, with their accompaniments. The Committee of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce have directed me to submit the following for the consideration of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor.

The Chamber believes that the question raised in the letter of the Government of India, dated the 4th November 1889, of keeping the Currency Office open to some extent during the Doorga Pooja holidays, is one of a most important character, inasmuch as it affects a very numerous portion of Her Majesty's subjects. The question ought not, therefore, to be disposed of without very serious and full consideration in its various aspects.

2. Although the Government of India, in recognition of the views of the Government of Bengal, expressed in Mr. Macaulay's letter (referred to in the above communications), attaches due importance to the necessity of maintaining the liberal principle on which the policy of the Government is based, yet having in view the question of the "inconvenience and loss upon the mercantile community by the entire closure of the Currency Office for 12 consecutive days," offers a solution of this difficulty by proposing to adopt the suggestion of the Head Commissioner of Paper Currency, which it believes "does not necessarily involve a departure" from that principle.

3. The Chamber as composed of merchants and mainly of Hindu members, before expressing its opinion on the particular suggestion, begs to put on record a full exposition of the facts relating to the religious and other aspects of the question, which may help the Government to come to a right conclusion on the subject.

4. The Doorga Pooja is regarded as their greatest festival by the Hindus, specially in Bengal. Its initial ceremony, called bodhan, which is regulated according to the practice observed in different families, takes place on different dates previous to the commencement of the image worship days, the longest period from the bodhan, including the four days of the Pooja, being 17 days, during which the rituals and Bodhan worship are continuous, as also the various entertainments connected therewith. In former times, therefore, Government in consideration of the above facts and the time required for preliminary preparation, granted very long holidays, but in later times, in view of the dates on which the Bodhan ceremony was being generally observed and of the improved facilities for travel, the duration of the holidays was reduced to the lowest possible limit, viz. 12 days, inclusive of the Lukshmi Pooja holidays. It may be useful to add that many Hindus specially devote themselves to a very strict religious ritual, called the Navaratri, or nine days' fast.

5. During these holidays relatives and friends from different parts of the country meet in the houses of such amongst them as celebrate the Poojas there, or for social reunions at home. Some busy themselves in arranging their private business and domestic affairs, for which they find no leisure during the rest of the year, others enjoy a much-coveted rest or seek to recoup their health in various ways. Thus then, it will be seen that in its religious, social, and humane aspects, the duration of the Doorga Pooja holidays is none too long. It is not also true that the religious holidays are only four. My Committee are not unmindful of the interests of foreign commerce, but they feel that in fixing the number of the Doorga Pooja holidays at twelve, the reduction of those holidays has reached the lowest possible limit.

6. These holidays commence only a day before the latest day for the worship of Bodhan, i.e., the Shastiday, which is indispensably necessary for the preparation of the inaugural ceremony of worshipping the deity; and from that day to the immersion of the image into the river is one consecutive series of devotional days, and the period intervening between the immersion day and the Lukshmi Pooja days is devoted to social and family reunions, which form a part of the religious ceremonies of the Hindus in Bengal.

7. All respectable mercantile firms generally make payments by cheques, which again mostly pass into different accounts in the bank-books, and when cashed at the banks may be converted into coin or notes of all denominations. Whatever small business, therefore, of the mercantile community may be impeded by the Currency Office being closed could be arranged for beforehand, and, as hitherto, without any serious difficulty.

8. Under the above circumstances the Government of Bengal, in Mr. Macaulay's letter above referred to, rightly concurred in the views of the British Indian Association that there was no very great necessity for opening the Currency Office during the holidays, and that a partial opening of it during a portion of the period would be an infringement of the wise policy of the Government.

9. The desirability of a reconsideration of the India Government orders of 1882, based upon the views of the Bengal Government reaffirmed by His Excellency's late decision, rests upon a somewhat exaggerated idea of the inconvenience caused to a portion of the mercantile community.

10. Sir Steuart Bayley, though he allowed that some loss would be caused to the mercantile community by the observance of these holidays in public offices, pointed out that such inconvenience should be subordinated to a much respected popular national custom. As for the public inconvenience, the Chamber is of opinion that the majority of the general public, consisting largely of Hindu merchants themselves, willingly forego work to merge themselves for awhile into the happy domestic life in the country, and thus little or no inconvenience is actually felt by the general public by the entire closure of the Currency Office.

11. My Committee find it difficult to understand why the question of the duration of these holidays should be re-opened once more. It was understood that the Negotiable Instruments Act had settled it once for all, and my Committee respectfully submit that the mere opinion of the Head Commissioner of Paper Currency should not be allowed to have greater weight with the Government than the maturely formed decisions on the subject by successive Viceroys and Governors-General in Council.

12. The Head Commissioner proposes to employ a few non-Hindu clerks in the Exchange Department of the Currency Office; this may be either as additional hands or in place of the Hindu clerks. The Chamber begs to point out that such an arrangement would be introducing a religious test in the public service, which would be contrary to the spirit of the administration and the declared policy of absolute religious tolerance among its subjects by the British Government. The consideration how far the scheme would harmonise with the arrangements of the Treasury the Chamber cannot undertake to decide now; but with the general knowledge which it has of such arrangements, with the light thrown by the India Government letter itself, it cannot but express an opinion unfavourable to the scheme and to its practicability.

13. The Currency Treasurer, from the very nature of the business that is transacted in the Currency Office, is obliged, to a very great extent, to place implicit confidence in his subordinates. To compel him therefore to accept the services of people not known to him, much less of those in whom he may have no confidence, the Chamber is of opinion, is an unmerited and uncalled for hardship which, with the small amount of deposit which he may reasonably expect from such of his subordinates, may not be mitigated. Besides, in the opinion of the Chamber, the scheme seems to be an infringement of a broad principle.

14. There is yet another objection to keep the Currency Office open even partially during the said holidays. Such opening on the same ground (that is, inconvenience to commerce) must to a certain extent lead to some other offices being kept open, and others would soon follow suit. Thus it is feared that this change is but the thin end of the wedge, which in time must bring about the total abolition of the Doorga Pooja holidays in all public offices, and what is now enjoyed by all the clerks as a right will, if the modification is adopted, be left to the option of the office masters. The question rightly viewed is not one of conflicting interests of the mercantile community and the general public on the one hand and the Hindu clerk on the other, but one of some avoidable inconvenience and perhaps petty loss to a portion of a particular class of merchants, as against the grave religious, social and economic interests of the whole Hindu community, and also as against the declared policy of the Government, and, to a certain extent, against the efficiency of the Government service itself.

15. The Committee beg further to observe they take particular note of the fact that trade is very brisk during the Pooja holidays, the demand for a number of articles being larger during the twelve days than throughout the rest of the year. This may be explained by reason of the large influx of people from all parts of the country bent upon making the most of the holidays. The curtailment of the holidays must necessarily involve a serious pecuniary loss to the trade.

16. With reference to the question raised in your 2nd letter, whether it might not be possible to effect a compromise between interests which admittedly conflict with one another "by restricting the number of the Pooja holidays gazetted under the N. I. Act to five days only, but retaining by executive authority the existing number of holidays for all public offices in Bengal, save the few in Calcutta which are indispensable to the foreign commerce of the port," the Chamber most respectfully beg to observe that such a procedure once sanctioned will ultimately lead to the total abolition of the Doorga Pooja holidays in all offices, especially in Calcutta. For, in the words of Mr. Dampier, the opening of certain offices in Calcutta would govern the practice of all other offices, if not in Bengal, at least at the Presidency, and as such, only those five days gazetted under the N. I. Act would be treated as close holidays, while the other seven days which might be notified as Doorga Pooja holidays under the executive order of the Government would never be observed as such.

17. The Committee of the Chamber apprehend that in time it might be deemed necessary, in the interest of trade, to keep other offices, besides those named in your letter, open, or such a result, they believe, would follow of itself, as a necessary consequence, while all the mercantile offices would at once regulate their practice according to that observed in the Government offices.

18. The proposed change would thus necessitate the attendance of all the subordinate officers (Hindus and non-Hindus) even during the days gazetted as holidays under the executive order of the Government. And as Hindus form the bulk, from 90 to 95 per cent. of the total employés or subordinate officers in the several offices in Calcutta, no office can be kept going and in working order, and absolutely no business could be done, unless Hindu employés were made to attend. It will be thus seen that by necessitating the compulsory attendance of all such Hindu employés, the ultimate result would be the extinction of the Pooja holidays, all but the few days which may be gazetted as such under the N. I. Act, and even of those few days there is absolu tely no guarantee that they will not be required to be sacrificed to the exigencies of the growing trade of this port.

19. Under the circumstances, any curtailment of the allotted number of Pooja holidays now granted under the N. I. Act would not only be a source of serious dissatisfaction to the Hindus in general, whether in Calcutta or in the mofussil, but inflict great hardships upon a very large number of Hindu employés and their families and relatives; while the solution proposed by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, though it may satisfy the requirements of the trade of this port, would be regarded as a new departure from the principle of religious neutrality hitherto observed by Government in its relation with the subject races, and as such would give rise to serious heart-burning.

20. There can be no analogy between Hindu and Mahomedan employés, for the Mahomedans form a very infinitesimally small portion of the subordinate officers in the several offices in Calcutta, and thus no harm is done by the Mahomedan religious days being notified as holidays under the executive order of the Government, for the offices during such holidays can very well be kept open without necessitating the attendance of Mahomedan employés.

21. Under the circumstances the Chamber is of opinion that the course proposed by the Bengal Government, by way of solution of conflicting interests, cannot be regarded at all as satisfactory from the Hindu point of view, being all advantageous to the other side. It is true that some inconvenience, and it may be loss, is caused to foreign commerce by the absolute closure of the several Presidency offices for 12 days together, but the same complaint may justly be made not only by the mofussil merchants and traders, but by zemindars alike, on account of the absolute closure of the mofussil Civil Courts and of the Small Cause Court here for a month; but for all that, in a country where the majority of the population are Hindus, and where the Pooja festival has such a strong hold upon them, no one can venture to suggest that the number of Pooja holidays should be curtailed in the mofussil Civil Courts as well.

Dated Calcutta, the 7th April 1890.

From—Raj Kumar Sarvadhikari, Secretary, British Indian Association,
To—The Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letters noted in the margin* on the question respectively of keeping the Currency Office open to some extent during the Doorga Pooja holidays, and of the number of public holidays to be observed in the Bengal Province under the Negotiable Instruments Act. In reply I am directed by the Committee of the British Indian Association to submit, for the consideration of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, the following observations.

* No. Mis. $\frac{1H}{1}$ 21, dated 16th December 1889.

No. Mis. $\frac{1H}{1}$ 21, dated 19th January 1890.

2. It seems unnecessary to the Committee to refer to the history of the question previous to the year 1882. In March of that year the Chamber of Commerce submitted certain representations, to be noticed hereafter, respecting the curtailment of the Doorga Pooja holidays. The Government of Bengal on the 27th July 1882 made the following pertinent remark: "The inconvenience and loss which the mercantile community suffer from the existing state of things, great and serious as they are, cannot be remedied without inflicting a still more serious hardship on a far more numerous, though less influential, portion of the community." The Government of India in September 1882 felt "bound to attach its proper weight to the strong attachment which the Hindu community of Calcutta manifest to these holidays, and to the serious hardship which any curtailment of them would inflict on a large class." The Governor-General in Council accordingly "regretted that the consideration put forward by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce did not appear to him sufficient to justify any modification of the orders passed in January 1880, or the re-opening of a question which had been decided after careful consideration in all its aspects."

3. The principle so deliberately laid down in 1882 has since been reaffirmed in the letter of the Government of India, dated 4th November 1889, received with your letter of the 16th December last. In suggesting the possibility of making certain arrangements for the conduct of a specified class of business in the Currency Office during a portion of the holidays, the Government of India remark, paragraph 6, that such arrangements do not "necessarily involve a departure from the principle on which the policy of Government is based."

4. The Committee of the Association observe that the Negotiable Instruments Act was passed in 1881. In their representation made to the Government of India in March 1882 the Chamber of Commerce dwelt on the fact "that great and general inconvenience and serious loss are caused by the total closing of the Currency and other Government offices for the whole period of 12 days, and on the possibility of making arrangements by which the employés of Government offices could take leave in relays without stopping the work of the offices. The unqualified decision of the Government on this representation has been already adverted to. It is now only necessary to refer to two circumstances which require particular notice, viz. (1) that the representation was made and the orders of Government were passed some time after the Negotiable Instruments Act had been in operation, and (2) that all that the Chamber asked for was the possibility of making some arrangements for the conduct of business in particular Government offices as against the "total closing" thereof.

5. The gravamen of the Chamber's present contention is, 1*st*, that public business is to a large extent paralysed during these holidays by the closing of the Exchange Banks, and 2*nd* that the trade of the port is materially affected by the closure of the Shipping Office and the inability to obtain port clearances.

6. Hitherto the objections raised were based on the inconvenience caused to trade by the continuous closing for 12 days of certain Government offices only. The objection that Exchange Banks will not undertake the responsibility of transacting business during days upon which negotiable instruments will not mature is now raised for the first time, i.e., eight years since the Act has been in operation; at all events the inconvenience could not have been keenly felt. Whatever inconvenience was heretofore entailed upon the mercantile community by the general observance of the Doorga Pooja holidays has been removed to a great extent by the Bank of Bengal and Custom House being kept open during certain days of the period. The interests of Exchange Banks depend altogether on those of commerce; in fact both act upon each other; and if in the interests of trade it is essentially necessary that they should be kept open, at least on the days on which the Bank of Bengal transacts business, it is only natural to suppose that they will be kept open. Perhaps the inconvenience caused by their remaining closed is not great, or is minimised by the Bank of Bengal being kept open. If the Bank of Bengal can transact business, notwithstanding the holidays, in all its departments—Exchange as well as others—it does not appear why other Banks, having large transactions, should find it unsafe to do any business at all on certain days among the holidays gazetted under the Act. In this they will be particularly helped if arrangements can be made in the way suggested by the Government of India for the transaction of business in the Government Currency Office.

7. The second objection now raised by the Chamber is as respects the closing of the Shipping Office during the holidays. The objection is of the nature of that raised against the total closing of the Currency Office. Both will be noticed further on.

8. The general question now under discussion under the orders of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor is whether it would not serve all interests to notify only four of the Doorga Pooja holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act, and to notify the rest as holidays except in certain offices in Calcutta, which will be kept open for all these days to meet the exigencies of commerce. If the words of Mr. Dampier, quoted in your letter, do not fully apply, "if the opening of these offices would not necessarily govern the practice of all or nearly all the other offices in Bengal," it would, my Committee fear, govern the practice of all or nearly all the offices in the Presidency, imperial as well as provincial. The Mahomedan holidays notified by executive order are, so far as the Committee are aware, scarcely observed in the offices in Calcutta, and the opening of these on the Mahomedan holidays scarcely causes any inconvenience, for the number of Mahomedan employés is very insignificant, and such employés can always obtain leave without detriment to the work of the offices concerned. Hindu employés naturally form the majority—a very large majority—in the Presidency offices, and the result of the notifications proposed to be issued will be, the Committee anticipate, the compulsory attendance of Hindu employés not only in the excepted offices, but in all or nearly all other offices in Calcutta eight days out of the twelve. This means that the interests of commerce should be entirely subserved, while a large though less influential portion of the Hindu community of Calcutta, admitted to be strongly attached to this national holiday, will be subjected to serious hardship. Such a result, the Committee are distinctly of opinion, would be subversive of the principle on which the policy of Government is based. That principle, the Committee repeat, is the prevention of hardship to the Hindu community of Calcutta even at the risk of some inconvenience and loss to the mercantile community. The Government of Bengal on the 27th July 1882 observed :—"It is true that it was proposed last year to require only a very small section of the establishment to attend for a part of two days; but it is justly urged that the principle on which the policy of Government is based would none the less be unnecessarily infringed." The proposed notifications would not the less, the Committee venture to hold, cause an infringement of the principle deliberately accepted by Government, and the Committee earnestly trust that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor will be as careful to maintain it as the Government of 1882 was.

9. That in the abstract all questions of leave between employer and employés are purely private, and the Government, which has no State religion of its own, can claim no right on principle to legislate about holidays. As a matter of fact leave on holidays is granted as a matter of favour, and this favour is regulated by consideration of a wider kind than what is indicated by the abstract right. It is well known and admitted that if all holidays be stopped work would not be necessarily stopped, but that certain sections of the community would be grievously hurt, and it is to avoid this injury to the feelings of the community that leave is allowed on broad statesmanlike principles, and not with an eye to the smallest leave possible in the case of certain departments, as in the Navy, where leave for the observance of the Sabbath is not granted. But in questions concerning general leave, such facts are never taken into account. Similarly, in considering the question of Banking and Shipping Offices, we should not think proper to alter or affect the general law. Special conveniences may be secured for particular sections of the community, and that most readily by departmental orders, and not by changing the law. It is undeniable that a general denial of leave on particular holidays would be more desirable to some persons than departmental orders, but in a mixed community our merchants should be satisfied with the principle of mutual toleration, and not insist upon their dues at the sacrifice of those who do not belong to their profession. With the Currency Office in a position to encash Council Drafts during some of the holidays, the Exchange Banks will, it is supposed, find it safe to work, and with the Shipping Office similarly open at stated intervals along with the Custom House, there could be no impediment to port entries and port clearances being effected. Inconveniences now felt are likely to be removed to a great extent if these measures are adopted while holidays are kept intact; and to this extent the Committee of the Association give their assent.

In reply to your letter of the 30th ultimo, No. 884-89, I enclose herewith, in a tabular form, a list of Hindu holidays for the year 1890. I may add that in drawing up the list I have consulted the learned Professors of the Sanskrit College. The Hindu holidays are mostly festivals connected with religion in which worship or ceremonies with a religious sanction are indissolubly associated with festivities. It sometimes happens that a day of worship, with or without festivity, is followed by a day of festivity with no worship, but with only certain observances with a religious sanction. A few of the holidays are days of fasting followed by no fasting. In my list I have included no day in which there is no worship, with or without festivity, or ceremony with religious sanction, with or without festivity.

A list of Hindu holidays for the year 1890.

Holidays.	Months and dates.	Days of the week.	Remarks.
Saraswati Puja	25th and 26th January ...	Saturday and Sunday	This is a festival observed by all Hindus, except those belonging to the lowest castes.
Siva Ratri	17th and 18th February	Monday and Tuesday	The first day is a day of fast. The fast is kept by only a few.
Dol Jatra or Holi ...	5th and 6th March		There are two days of worship on this occasion. This is a very popular festival with Hindustanees, but not so with Bengalees.
Basanti Puja ...	26th to 30th March		These are festivals observed by only a few people.
Annapurna Puja ...	28th March ...
Ram Navami ...	29th ,, ...		This is a moderately popular festival.
Chaitra Sankranti ...	12th April ...	Saturday	This is a holiday observed by all orthodox Hindus of good caste.
Dasahara	29th May	Thursday	This is a bathing festival and is universally observed. The time of the day for bathing is every year not the same. It may be any hour of the day.
Suan Jatra	3rd June ...	Thursday	This is not a general festival.
Rutha Jatra	19th ,, ...	Thursday	Not an important festival.
Punor Jatra	27th ,, ...	Friday ...	Ditto ditto.
Janmashtami	7th and 8th August	Thursday and Friday	An important holiday.
Mahalaya	13th October ...	Monday ...	A day for offerings to the names of ancestors, observed by all orthodox Hindus of good caste.
Durga Puja	19th to 23rd October ...	Sunday to Thursday...	A most important festival.
Lakshmi Puja	27th and 28th October ...	Monday and Tuesday	A moderately popular festival.
Kali Puja	11th and 12th November...	Tuesday and Wednesday.	An important festival.
Bhratri Dwitya	14th November ...	Friday	At this festival sisters entertain brothers. A general and most important festival, though the worship connected therewith has now for the most part been dispensed with. Ceremonies with a religious sanction are, however, observed.
Kartick Puja ...	14th and 15th November.	Friday and Saturday ..	A moderately popular festival.
Jagat Dhatri Puja ...	20th and 21st ditto .	Thursday and Friday	An important festival.
Rassa ...	25th and 26th ditto .	Tuesday and Wednesday.	A festival observed by a few, 25th according to Saktas and 26th according to Vaishnavas.

Demi-official from—Pundit Mohesh Chunder Nyaratna,
To—The Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

In reply to your letter of the 12th instant, No. 914—89, I beg to say that the Doorga Pooja in 1890 will really commence on the 19th October. On this day the worship is to consist of Bodhana and Amantrana, i.e., of rites for awakening the Devi from her sleep, the season being one for sleep to the gods and goddesses according to Hindu belief, and for invitation to her. This ceremony takes place at dusk, and is performed by the priest, and, in the case of Brahmans, sometimes by the head of the family assisted by the priest. The regular pooja with festivities commences on the morning of the 20th October, and continues to the 22nd. On the 23rd there is to be Bisarjana ceremony, i.e., the parting ceremony with the Devi. This ceremony, like that of awakening and inviting, is performed by the priest in the morning. There is, however, the ceremony of throwing the idol into rivers or tanks in the afternoon, with attendant processions, and the exchange of greetings among relatives and friends in the evening. The strictly worship days for others besides priests in 1890 will thus be the 20th, the 21st, and 22nd October. The strictly worship day for the Lukhi Pooja will be the 27th October.

In conclusion, I think it proper to observe that among the people the festivities, &c., attendant on poojas are matters of greater interest than the poojas (strictly religious worship) themselves. From this point of view, I consider the day immediately following the three days of regular pooja on the Doorga Pooja occasion a necessary part of the period of the pooja. From the same point of view, I consider that the day following the day of worship on the occasion of Kali Pooja, instead of the pooja day itself, should be holiday when only a day's holiday is given on this occasion. The pooja takes place at night, and the attendant festivities and processions take place for the most part the following day.

The enclosure of your letter is returned herewith.

AGRICULTURAL CONGRESS TO BE HELD AT VIENNA IN OCTOBER NEXT.

The 9th July, 1890.—The following papers are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Circular No. 5—5-9M&Ex., dated Simla, the 2nd July 1890.

From—J. W. P. MUIR-MACKENZIE, ESQ., C.S., Under-Secy. to the Govt. of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

IN continuation of circular No. 3—5-7 dated the 15th May last, I am directed to forward, for the information of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, copy of a further letter received from the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Consul-General, Bombay, on the subject of the Agricultural Congress to be held at Vienna in October next.

No. 561, dated Bombay, the 9th June 1890.

From—F. STOCKINGER, ESQ., Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Consul General,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department.

REFERRING to my letter, dated the 31st March, No. 311, I have the honour to inform you that, according to a letter recently received from the Imperial Royal Agricultural Society in Vienna, the languages of the debates at the Agricultural Congress to be held in October next will be the German, English and French, not German and French only, as previously stated.

Only papers that may be presented to the Congress have to be written in German or French.

His Excellency the Austrian Minister for Agriculture very much hopes that he will be able to welcome members, official or non-official, from a country of such vast importance in agriculture as India.

I may also mention that the Austro-Hungarian Lloyd's Steam Navigation Company has granted a reduction of 50 per cent. on their ordinary fares for delegates to the Vienna Congress, and similar reductions have been made by the principal railway lines in Austria and Hungary.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE 1890.

DURING the first half of June ordinary hot-weather conditions usually prevail over the greater part of the province, the chief features being clear skies with low humidity and high temperature. But the moist current from the Bay of Bengal beginning in Burmah some time in May and passing northwards is deflected by the Assam hills, so that in the north-east corner, and sometimes in the northern part of East Bengal, heavy rain continues to fall from the beginning of June. The dry hot weather remains unchanged till the commencement of disturbed weather in the Bay, when somewhat suddenly the sky becomes cloudy, and hot moist weather is general in the lower districts, till the disturbance, crossing the coast, moves in a north-westerly direction, giving heavy rain along its course. After its passage the rainfall area gradually extends, and rain becomes general in all districts. Thus as a rule the change from the hot weather to the rains is clearly defined by the commencement of the depression in the north of the Bay.

During the present year heavy rain began to fall in Burmah very early in May, and it will be remembered that during the first two weeks of May intensely hot weather prevailed in Bengal till near the end of the second week, after which cloudy weather with high humidity, low temperature, and scattered showers prevailed till the end of the month. The weather during the first two weeks of June has been similar to that of the latter half of May. Scattered rain fell except in East and North Bengal, where heavy and continuous rain was reported, especially from the former. Pressure was low over Behar, and a steady wind circulation continued for some time, velocity rising at times as the differences of pressure increased over the province. But notwithstanding the cloudy weather, rainfall was generally below the normal except in North Bengal, and though a moist current was undoubtedly blowing over Bengal, heavy rain did not set in till about the end of the third week. During the first week a shallow depression formed in Behar, pressure falling briskly on the 4th, and rapidly on the 5th, in the northern districts, in consequence of which heavy rain fell, not only in North Bengal, but also in North Behar, from the 6th to the 8th, and heavier and more general rain fell in the south-eastern districts. In the western districts, over which westerly winds were blowing from the Central Provinces, the sky was clear with very high temperature, excess in South Behar being 4° and in Chutia Nagpur 2·4°, so that differences of pressure as well as of temperature were large from east to west, and conditions were very favourable for strong easterly winds. After rain commenced to fall in Behar, temperature fell very rapidly at western stations, the largest falls on the 7th being 16° at Dehree, 15·6° at Gya, and 11·5 at Hazaribagh, and from being 4° in excess for the first week, mean temperature fell to 3° below the normal for the second week in South Behar. Rainfall continued to be considerably below the normal in all the southern districts except Orissa, where general rather heavy rain fell on the 7th and 10th, and scattered showers on the 8th and 11th. From the fact that rainfall during this week was largely above the normal in the northern districts, while over a strip of country lying between Orissa and these districts there was considerable defect, this heavier rain in Orissa was probably due to the disturbed conditions which at that time were general over the greater part of the peninsula. From the 13th to 17th only scattered rain fell in the north and east, skies clearing and temperature rising slowly in all districts, but about the 17th pressure began to fall in the north-west corner of the Bay, and the first depression of the season formed.

Shallow depression from 17th to 20th.—A brisk fall of pressure commenced in Orissa and the north-west corner of the Bay on the 17th, and the low-pressure area became more distinct on the 18th, when a narrow trough of low pressure ran from the head of the Bay in the usual north-westerly direction. The intensification of the depression was accompanied by a slight deepening along the length of the trough, while on the 19th there was considerable defect and steep gradients to the south-east behind the centre. After remaining two days close to the Orissa coast, the depression moved over Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, where it filled up on the 20th. The influence of the depression was not wide, light cyclonic winds blowing in its near neighbourhood, while comparatively fine weather prevailed in the north and east of the province. Fairly heavy general rain fell in Orissa on the 18th, in Orissa and South-West Bengal on the 19th, and in all districts on the 20th. Immediately after the filling up of this shallow depression in Chutia Nagpur, and before the unsettled conditions resulting therefrom had passed away, a second depression began to form over the eastern part of South-West Bengal. The combined influence of the two depressions, that is, the after-effects of the first being intensified during the formation of the second, caused very stormy weather with abnormally heavy rain in all parts of Bengal.

Second depression from 21st to 24th.—On the 20th easterly winds were blowing over the whole province except in Orissa, and these directions remained unchanged on the 21st, but velocity was diminishing rapidly. On the 22nd westerly winds had set in over South Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and South-West Bengal. Pressure at first fell briskly, the fall becoming more rapid on the 22nd, when the area of lowest pressure extended from the head of the Bay to Mymensingh and as far east as Silchar. The depression was therefore well to the east, and winds were cyclonic over the whole of Bengal. Heavy rain had begun to fall, Midnapore reporting 8 inches, and all the southern stations from Calcutta eastwards from 2 to 4 inches. On the following day the depression had moved nearly due west, the centre of lowest pressure and of the cyclonic circulation being between Berhampore and Burdwan. A very perfect circulation obtained with very strong winds at the head of the Bay and in Lower Bengal. Rainfall was heavier than on the 22nd at all stations to the south of the centre, Jessore and Akyab reporting 10, Raneegunge and Krishnagur 8, Burdwan 7, and several other stations from 3 to 6 inches. Wind velocity averaged more than 30 miles an hour for the day previous to 8 a.m. on the 23rd, at which hour it was 36 miles at Saugor Island and 40 miles an hour at Pooree Up till 8 a.m. on the 24th the stormy weather intensified, the depression moving in a north-westerly direction, but it would appear that it broke up, one portion being near Allahabad and the other near Purneah and Bhagulpore when observations were taken on the 24th. Pressure at Purneah was then 29·344 inches, and at Bhagulpore 29·349 inches, defect at these two stations exceeding a quarter of an inch, while gradients were steep over the province and the Bay, the difference between Purneah and Tavoy exceeding ·6 inch. The average wind velocity at Saugor Island rose to 42 miles an hour, and very strong winds were blowing at all inland stations except those in the extreme north. Heavy rain continued in the southern districts, but in North Behar and the greater part of North Bengal comparatively small amounts were received. The depression had filled up on the 25th, and after that ordinary monsoon weather prevailed in Bengal for some days.

The influence of the depression practically ceased on the 25th, and on the 28th pressure began to fall again in the north-west corner of the Bay and the adjacent districts. The low-pressure area which then began to form developed slowly on the 29th and 30th without much change of position, so that the description of this storm belongs to the meteorology of the month of July. It was not accompanied by heavy rain except in the immediate neighbourhood of the centre, and passed in a westerly direction over False Point into Central India during the night of the 1st July, but it was peculiar in being followed by rapid and large atmospheric oscillations, the waves passing from east to west across Bengal and the nothern half of the Bay. While it retained its position at the head of the Bay, moderately calm weather with light rain prevailed at inland stations.

As the only means of comparing the strength of the monsoon in different years is by means of the wind velocity, the accompanying table has been prepared to show the average wind velocity in June at the coast stations and at a few a short distance inland. It will be seen that the average for the present month is normal or below the normal at the eastern stations, but is considerably above the normal in the north-west corner of the Bay. The only part of Bengal where rainfall is below the normal is that contiguous to the north-east corner of the Bay, so that both wind force and actual rainfall bear out that, so far, a weak monsoon current has been blowing on the east coast, but that in the west of the Bay it has been stronger than usual:—

Pressure—Was rising in the early part of June, but after the first three days a rapid fall set in in the northern districts, resulting in a depression over Behar. The most rapid fall was ·17 inch at Julpigoree and Dhubri, and defect was ·15 inch in South Behar, from which it gradually diminished towards the south till it had almost vanished at the head of the Bay. During the second week it was generally in excess by variable amounts ranging up to ·06 inch, the relatively higher pressure being in Orissa, South-West Bengal, the Sunderbuns, and Singbhoom. During the third week pressure continued high in all districts except Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, where the formation of the depression caused somewhat rapid changes. These were of no importance till the 18th, when a brisk fall commenced at Orissa stations and continuing on the 19th gave defect of ·2 inch at False Point and ·15 inch at the other stations. On the 20th the depression was over Chutia Nagpur and slightly more diffused, defect being ·15 inch at Ranchee only. By the following day it had filled up. Gradients were very steep to the south-east of the depression, the difference between False Point and Tavoy at one time being half an inch. While the second depression was moving over the western districts, changes were large, defect near the centre being ·25 inch, and the rise after the passage of the centre being at some stations about a third of an inch. On the 25th the rise was very rapid over the whole province. The means for the whole month are very nearly normal, differences being generally under a hundredth of an inch.

Temperature—During the first week was high in the western districts and gradually fell towards the east, mean excess in South Behar being 4°, and defect in Assam 2·7°. In the second week it fell rapidly, especially in the western districts, where there was defect ranging up to 4·6° in North Behar. From being 4° above it fell to 3° below the normal in South Behar. Differences from the normal were much smaller for some days in the middle of the month, but on the occasion of the unsettled conditions towards the end of the month very cool weather prevailed, defect in Chutia Nagpur being 4·6°, in South Behar 3·9°, and in South-West Bengal 3·2°. Mean temperature for the month is normal in East Bengal, ·4° below in North Bengal, ·5° in South Behar, about 1° in Orissa, South-West Bengal and Assam, 1·6° in North Behar, and 1·9° in Chutia Nagpur. The highest temperature in South Behar was 110·6°, in South-West Bengal and North Behar slightly above 104°, and in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur above 103°, while in the other districts it was always under 100°.

Rainfall—Was generally deficient, except in North Bengal, during the early part of the month, but between the 20th and 24th unusually heavy rain fell in all districts with the result that the falls for the whole month are above the normal over the whole province except in the south-east corner, including the Sunderbuns, Chittagong, and Tipperah. The falls during the week beginning on the 20th expressed as percentages of the normal for each district give—South Behar 332, South-West Bengal 330, Chutia Nagpur 280, East Bengal 203, North Behar 192, North Bengal 128, and Orissa 74. Some of the heaviest falls in twenty-four hours during these days were—Jessore 9·9, Mankur 9·7, Jamtara and Jhalda 8·6, Jehanabad 8·4, Culna and Krishnagur 8·2, and Raneegunge 8 inches on the 23rd. On the 24th falls were lighter, generally under 4 inches, but Chittagong reported 9·3 and a few subdivisional stations in East Bengal 6 inches.

The falls for the month are very heavy in the neighbourhood of the Assam hills, and especially in the north-east corner of the province, Alipore Duar receiving 55, Cooch Behar 48, Mickilgunge 47, Fallacatta 45, Matabhanga and Buxa 44, Julpigoree and Dinhatta nearly 41 inches. Amounts decrease rapidly towards the south, only a few stations in that neighbourhood reporting more than 20 inches. Over the rest of the province falls are between 10 and 20 inches except in Chutia Nagpur, where they are generally about 8 inches. Over a strip of country stretching from the Hooghly district in a north-westerly direction, and including the western districts of South-West Bengal and part of South Behar along the course taken by the centre of the depression which began to form in the centre of Bengal about the 20th, relatively very heavy falls were received, the actual falls being between 15 and 20 inches, and in some cases above the latter amount. In the Sunderbuns and Chittagong and Tipperah falls were generally between 15 and 20 inches, and in the Chittagong Hill Tracts under 15 inches, but 34 inches fell at Cox's Bazar and 27 at Hurrishpore.

In the north-east districts excess was generally over 10 inches, the largest difference from the normal being 19·6 inches at Mickilgunge. Along the course taken by the centre of the depression excess amounts of about 10 inches are also recorded, these being chiefly in Burdwan, Bankoora, Rajshahye, Gya, Monghyr, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. In the other districts, except Chutia Nagpur and the south-east corner, falls are from three to four inches above the normal, but small areas of deficient rainfall occur in the following districts:—Cuttack, Midnapore, Pubna, Bogra, and Maldah, the differences, however, being generally small. In Chutia Nagpur the fall is very nearly normal, and in East Bengal below the normal by amounts ranging up to 6 inches.

CALCUTTA, the 15th July 1890.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 11TH OF JULY 1890.

In the early part of the week a shallow depression lay along the foot of the hills over North Bengal and North Behar, causing westerly winds in all districts. While these winds continued, that is, on Saturday and Sunday, general rain fell in East and North Bengal and the eastern parts of South-West Bengal, but over the western half of the province rain was almost entirely absent. Meanwhile in the Bay strong winds were again developing, velocity at Saugor Island increasing from 10 miles an hour on Sunday to 21 miles on Monday and 31 on Tuesday. These high velocities were not due to any depression over the Bay, as pressure decreased steadily to North Bengal, but gradients were steeper than usual owing to the shallow depression in that district. Pressure remained steady in the north-east corner of Bengal, and fell briskly in Chutia Nagpur and the west of Behar, the low-pressure area becoming more diffused, and ultimately lowest pressure being transferred to the western districts. After this easterly winds recommenced in North Bengal and Behar, and the normal circulation was established by the 8th. General heavy rain then fell in all districts except Orissa and part of South-West Bengal, some heavy falls being reported on the 9th, and this general rainfall continued, though not in such large amounts, till the end of the week. During the last three days very few stations did not receive daily rain. During the latter half of the week pressure changes were of very little importance. On Thursday a brisk fall in Chutia Nagpur caused a very shallow depression to appear there, but within it defect was not more than a twentieth of an inch, and as the distribution was very nearly normal over the Bay, differences of pressure increased very slightly, and only a faint cyclonic circulation was perceptible in its near neighbourhood.

Pressure—Changes have been very unimportant, the largest rarely exceeding a twentieth of an inch. In the early part of the week defect was about a twentieth of an inch in North Bengal, and towards the end in Chutia Nagpur. As, when above the normal it has been by very small amounts, the means for the week are below the normal at nearly all stations, the largest differences being in North Bengal and North Behar, where they are very near a twentieth of an inch, and in one or two cases exceed it. There is a slight excess in Orissa, and defect of about two-hundredths of an inch in Lower Bengal.

Temperature—Fell almost steadily throughout the week, changes being somewhat irregular, from the variable falls of rain. In the early part of week, and again at the end, it rose in the western districts, and about the middle of the week it rose in East and North Bengal, but at other times it has been falling slowly as a rule. The means are hence below the normal in all districts, defect being largest in the west. In Chutia Nagpur it is 1·6°, South Behar 1·4°, East Bengal 1·2,° Assam 1·1°, South-West and North Bengal and Behar rather less than 1°, and Orissa ·5°. The highest temperature recorded during the week was 99° in South Behar, and the lowest 67° in East Bengal.

Rainfall.—Heavy general rain has been falling in East and North Bengal during the greater part of the week, and in the other districts from about the middle of the week. The heaviest falls were on Wednesday the 9th, when many stations reported heavy falls, the largest amount being 9·7 inches at Chittagong. Some other heavy local falls are Matabhanga 7·6 inches on the 5th and Fallacatta 5·8 inches on the 7th. The mean rainfall for the different districts are all above the normal except for Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, there being defect of ·4 inch in the former and ·1 inch in the latter. Excess is slightly over an inch in East Bengal and Behar, ·7 inch in South-West Bengal, and ·2 inch in North Bengal. Falls for the week are uniform and generally under 2 inches in Orissa, between 2 and 4 inches in South-West Bengal, but with a few local falls between 6 and 9 inches. In East Bengal the falls are usually over 3 inches and above 6 inches at Munshigunge, Dacca, Naraingunge, Ramchandrapore, and Netrokona. In Julpigoree, Cooch Behar and the Darjeeling Hills, falls, except at a few stations, are between 10 and 20 inches, the largest being Kurseong 19 inches, Fallacatta and Darjeeling 17 inches, Siliguri and Buxar 16 inches. In Behar and Chutia Nagpur amounts are more variable, but usually lie between 2 and 4 inches.

MEMORANDUM.

Quarterly review of births and deaths registered in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the Quarter ending 31st March 1890.

BIRTHS.

THE births registered in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal during the three months ending with March 1890 were 5,691, and correspond to an annual rate of 21·44 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is ·68 lower than the mean rate of the corresponding quarters of the past five years (1885—89) but higher than the rate of the corresponding periods of any of the past five years except 1885 and 1889, vide the figures below :—

The above statement shows that birth registration is still extremely imperfect. The supposed standard in India is 40 per thousand, and it is probably even higher than this, but it will be seen that in not one of the twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal was this standard reached during the quarter under review. The nearest approach to it was attained in the town of Arrah, where the ratio was 33·28. In only eight, however, out of the twenty-seven principal towns of the province, viz., Arrah, Comillah, Naraingani, Serampore, Monghyr, Durbhanga, Darjiling, and Rampore Beauleah, did the statistics of birth registration exceed 30 per thousand. In all the rest the rate was very low, especially in the towns of Jessore, Patna, Chittagong, and Purneah, where the statistics are so imperfectly recorded that the ratio was less than 15 per thousand. This result is very discouraging, and shows that the Municipal Commissioners do not pay attention to this elementary and very necessary portion of their duties.

DEATHS.

The deaths registered in the twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal during the quarter ending with March 1890 were 5,948, and correspond to an annual rate of 22·40 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns. This rate is ·44 higher than the mean rate of corresponding periods of the five years 1885—89, and is also higher than the recorded mortality of the first quarters of 1887, 1888 and 1889, vide the figures below :—

The registration of deaths in most of the principal towns of Bengal is also unfortunately extremely imperfect. The total registered mortality of the quarter under review is a trifle higher, it is true, than that of the corresponding periods with which it is compared, but in individual cases it is deplorably defective and supplies very little scope for any observations on the comparative health of municipalities. It will be seen that the statistics vary very widely in different municipalities the natural climatic and other conditions of which are similar; for instance, Gya, Patna, and Arrah; Serampore, Uttarpara, Ranaghat, Santipore and Kishnagar. There can be no reason why under proper administrative arrangement the registration should not be as complete at Patna and Arrah as at Gya or in Ranaghat, Santipore and Kishnagar as in Serampore and Utterpara. The Municipal Commissioners of those five towns, as well as the Municipal Commissioners of Howrah, Bali, Rampore Beauleah, Dacca, Chittagong, Mozufferpore, Chupra, Bhagulpore, and Purneah would do well to enquire into and test the accuracy of registration in their towns which are backward in this respect. The very high rate of mortality in Poori during the quarter under review is due to an epidemic of small-pox and cholera in that town.

The total mortality during the quarter under review from the several registered death-causes is compared in the following table with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding quarters of 1889 and the average of the five years 1885—89 :—

	Ratio per mille during the— Quarter ending 31st March 1890.	Quarter ending 31st March 1889.	Quarterly average of quarter ending 31st March 1885—89.
Small-pox	·72	·16	·16
Fever	9·08	8·00	9·24
Bowel-complaints	3·08	2·68	3·21
Injury	·48	·44	·36
Other causes	6·32	6·56	6·52

Compared with the average figures of the past five years it will be seen that the figures of 1890 are pretty even except small-pox. Compared, however, with the first quarter of 1889, there is a noticeable increase in the mortality of the 1st quarter of 1890 under the heads Fever and Small-pox.

The highest annual death-rates from the several registered death-rates occurred in the following towns :—

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL;
The 12th July 1890.

W. H. GREGG, Dip. Publ. Health, Camb.,
Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly review of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 28th June 1890.

BIRTHS.

THE births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 28th June 1890, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal, correspond to an annual rate of 16·9 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is ·6 lower than the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is also lower than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years except 1887 and 1889, vide the figures below :—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Weekly average of five years 1885-89.	1890.

Comparative statement of the principal commodities carried over the Eastern Bengal State Railway during the month of April 1890.

INCREASES.

	Tons.
Coal	17,039
For railway and flotilla consumption principally.
Cotton piece-goods	843
Ordinary fluctuation.
Rice	3,691
Principally from Forbesganj (49,000 maunds) and from Hilli (10,000 maunds). The period with which the comparison is made was one of partial failure of the rice crop.
Jute, unscrewed	4,631
Goalundo, Serajganj, Narayanganj, and Mymensing contributed this increase; a considerable percentage of last season's crop was withheld in hopes of a rise in prices.
Betel-nuts	728
Almost exclusively in receipts from the B. C. Flotilla.
Salt	3,209
The increase was in despatches from Chitpore.
Firewood	681
From the Southern Section.

DECREASES.

Oil-seeds	1,881
Decreases in despatches from the Eastern Section generally; also from Serajganj. The crop was late, and the market is dull.
Railway plant, &c.	2,434
Completion of work on Behar Section.
Sugar	1,243
Falling off in despatches from Chooadanga, Alamdanga, Jagati, and Goalundo. There has been no demand in Calcutta for raw sugar produced in Eastern and Central Bengal.

MORETON BAY.

Amended southern limit of inner white sector of Yellow Patch light.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 78, dated the 10th June 1890, issued by this Office, the British Admiralty has given notice (No. 301 of 1890) that the southern limit of the inner white sector of Yellow Patch light is on an E. ¾ S. bearing, not E. ¼ S., as previously stated. Vessels entering North channel when northward of this southern limit must keep Tangaluma light slightly open westward of Cowan Cowan light, and should not get westward of the leading mark of Tangaluma and Cowan Cowan lights in line while within the distance of one mile southward of the limit. With these lights in line, the depth abreast East bank does not now exceed 17 feet at low water.

Also that Yellow Patch old lighthouse is still standing, and kept in line with cape Moreton lighthouse, gives by day the same position in Howe or North channel, as that of the southern limit of the inner white sector of Yellow Patch light.

Position of Point Divi light-house.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 289 of 1890) issued by the British Admiralty is republished :—

The following information has been received from Commander R. F. Hoskyn, R. N., in charge of India Marine Survey, relative to the position of point Divi light-house :—

Point Divi light-house is situated on the bank of the river, not on the coast, S. 7° W., 9$\frac{8}{10}$ miles from Masulipatam flagstaff, or in lat. 15° 59′ 30″ N., long. 81° 8′ E.; it is on the eastern bank of the river, but owing to the inaccuracy of the existing chart, the above position places it on the western bank. The configuration of the coast has also much altered since last surveyed.

HIGH COURT NOTICES.

General Letter No. 7, dated Calcutta, the 2nd July, 1890.

From—H. W. C. CARNDUFF, Esq., Offg. Registrar,
To—The District Judge of HIGH COURT.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.
Civil.

I AM directed to invite your attention to the High Court's Notification of this date on the subject of the rate at which charges should be levied under Section 8 of Act XII of 1856 on account of the daily expenses of a Civil Court Ameen employed on any duty connected with a pending suit or the execution of a decree, except a sale of property.

2. I am to point out that the rate thus fixed is not intended to interfere with the exercise of the discretion, given by Section 397 of the Code of Civil Procedure, to fix the expenses of any commission ordered by it and to direct payment of such sum before the issue of the commission. In such sum, if the Court thinks proper, the amount payable as travelling allowance may be included; but it should be understood that no party should be charged on account of any expense with any sum which is not actually incurred or chargeable by some authoritative rule or legal enactment.

3. If the amount of the deposit under Section 397 of the Code has been exceeded and, therefore, found to be insufficient, no further expense should be incurred until some further sum has been paid into Court by the party concerned. The proceedings of the Commissioner should be forthwith suspended, and should the necessary deposit not be made within a reasonable time, the trial should proceed.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated the 2nd July 1890.

IT is hereby notified that the High Court is pleased to direct, under Section 8 of Act XII of 1856, that, whenever it is proposed to employ a Civil Court Ameen on any duty connected with a pending suit or the execution of a decree (save by the sale of property), the charge for the expense of the Ameen shall be at the fixed rate of three rupees per diem.

NOTIFICATION.

THE following Rules framed by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in the exercise of the powers vested in it by Section 15 of the Charter Act, 24 and 25 Victoria, Chapter CIV, and sanctioned by the Governor-General in Council, are published for general information.

H. W. C. CARNDUFF, Offg. Registrar.

The 14*th July*, 1890.

1. To Rule 5, Clause (a), Chapter III, at page 35 of the General Rules and Circular Orders (Civil), add the following:—

NOTE.—Any sum deposited in Court under Section 14 (1) of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889) with an application for a certificate or for the extension of a certificate must be classed as a Civil deposit.

2. To Rule 9 of the same Chapter at page 38, ibid, add the following:—

Any sum deposited under Section 14 (1) of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889) must be received in cash, even though tendered after the hour prescribed by Rule 15.

To the explanatory note under Rule 19 of the same Chapter at page 40, ibid, add the following:—

In the case of sums deposited under Section 14 (1) of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889), the deposit chalans must show that the amount is deposited to the credit of the Judge.

To Rule 36 of the same Chapter at page 46, ibid, add the following:—

The final order for payment of deposits under Section 14 (1) of the Succession Certificate Act (VII of 1889) must contain a direction to the Treasury Officer to pay the amount in stamps to the Nazir of the Judge to whose credit it was deposited, and to transfer the amount of deposit to Stamp Revenue.

HIGH COURT—(Original Side).

Dated the 21st July 1890.

The following Rules and Orders passed by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, with the sanction of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council are published for general information.

By order of the High Court,

R. BELCHAMBERS, Registrar.

It is ordered that the following Rules be read and passed as Rules of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, to take effect from the first day of August 1890:—

Rules for the preparation of Paper-books in Appeals from the Original Side.

1. When an appeal is preferred to the High Court from its Original Jurisdiction, the appellant's attorney shall prepare a Paper-book.

2 When the appeal is from an original decree, the Paper-book shall contain the following papers arranged in the following order:—

(a) Table of contents with reference to pages.
(b) The plaint.
(c) Written statements.
(d) Memorandum of the issues.
(e) Depositions of witnesses examined on behalf of the plaintiff, including depositions taken de bene esse, if put in and used at the hearing.
(f) Documentary evidence put in on behalf of the plaintiff, including such answers, to interrogatories delivered for the purposes of discovery as have been used at the hearing and marked as exhibits, together with the interrogatories so answered.
(g) Depositions of witnesses examined on behalf of the defendant, including depositions taken de bene esse, if put in and used at the hearing.
(h) Documentary evidence put in on behalf of the defendant, including such answers to interrogatories delivered for the purposes of discovery as have been used at the hearing and marked as exhibits, together with the interrogatories so answered.
(i) The judgment.
(j) The decree.
(k) The memorandum of appeal.
(l) Objections, if any, under Section 561 of the Code of Civil Procedure.
(m) Any document rejected by the Original Court where its rejection is a ground of appeal or cross-objection.
(n) Such other documents as the Registrar may direct on notice to the parties.

3. In the case of other appeals, only such papers shall be printed as were used by the parties at the hearing, or as the Registrar may direct on notice to the parties.

4. Only the English translation of any document, not in the English language, shall be entered in the Paper-book or printed.

5. The Paper-book shall be printed in accordance with the following directions issued by the Lords of the Privy Council in respect of appeals to Her Majesty in Council:—

(a) All Paper-books are henceforth to be printed in the form known as demy quarto, and not in demy folio, as hath heretofore been used.
(b) The size of the paper used is to be such that the sheet, when folded, will be eleven inches in height and eight inches and a half in width.
(c) The type to be used in the text is pica type; but long primer is to be used in printing accounts, tabular matter and notes.
(d) The number of lines in each page of pica type is to be forty-seven, each line being five inches and three-quarters or 146 millimetres.

6. There shall be ordinarily printed thirty copies of the Paper-book, but the Registrar may, when necessary, direct a larger number to be printed.

7. The appellant's Attorney shall be responsible for the preparation of the Paper-book, and shall, within two months from the filing of the memorandum of appeal, where the appeal is from an original decree, and within one month in other cases, deliver three copies of the Paper-book to the Registrar, and shall also without delay deliver to the respondent, or to each respondent where there is more than one appearing separately, as many copies as he may require, not exceeding six, on payment by him of the price of such copies, the price being arrived at by dividing the cost of printing by the number of copies printed.

8. In the event of non-compliance with the last preceding rule, the respondent may apply, on notice to the appellant, to have the appeal dismissed for want of prosecution, or for such other order as he may be advised. If no application be made, the case will be set down in the next Peremptory List of appeals from the Original Side, and be disposed of by the Court as it may think fit.

9. The cost of preparing the Paper-book shall be at the following rates:—

(a) The Court charges for office copies.
(b) Copying papers for the press, including examination, at 8 annas per folio of 90 words.
(c) Arranging papers for the press, 4 annas for each paper.
(d) Examining and comparing papers, at 750 words per rupee.
(e) Printing, actual cost, at a reasonable rate to be allowed by the Taxing Officer.
(f) Lithographing maps (where necessary), actual cost.

10. The costs incurred in the preparation of the Paper-book shall be costs in the appeal unless as to the whole or any portion thereof the Court shall otherwise order.

11. A Division Bench may, upon application and upon sufficient cause being shewn, enlarge the time prescribed by these rules for doing any act to be done under their provisions. An application for enlargement of time must ordinarily be made before the expiration of the prescribed time, and must be supported by an affidavit of facts, and also by a certificate of the Registrar shewing the dates on which the acts prescribed by these rules were done.

A Division Bench may also, upon application and upon sufficient grounds verified by affidavit, exempt the parties or any of them from the operation of the whole or any part of these rules, or may make such special order as it deems fit as to any matter with which these rules are concerned.

12. Instead of the fees allowed to Attorneys under item 13 in Schedule I, and items 2, 8 and 18 in Schedule II of the General Table of fees (Belchambers' Rules and Orders, pages 325, 333 and 334), the following fees shall be allowed:—

To the Appellant's Attorney.

	Rs.
Instructions to advise on judgment, perusing judgment and advising thereon	25
Perusing papers and preparing observations for Counsel, in the discretion of the Taxing Officer ... from Rs. 75 to	150
Briefing necessary papers not included in the Paper-book, at the ordinary rate.
Attendance in Court during the hearing of an appeal and when judgment is delivered, for each day not exceeding	50

To the Respondent's Attorney.

Instructions to defend	10
Attendance at the Office of the Appellant's Attorney to examine the printed copy of the transcript with the official copy, for every hour or part of an hour	5
Perusing papers and preparing observations for Counsel at the discretion of the Taxing Officer ... from Rs. 75 to	150
Attendance in Court, the same as to the Appellant's Attorney.

13. In these rules the word "Registrar" includes an Assistant Registrar, and words in the singular include the plural and vice versâ.

14. These rules shall apply to appeals filed on and after the first day of August 1890.

Rule 467 at page 209 of Belchambers' Rules and Orders is hereby repealed, except as to appeals filed previous to the said first day of August 1890.

SURVEY OF INDIA DEPARTMENT,
Calcutta, 14th July 1890.

ST. G. C. GORE, Major, R.E.,
Assistant Surveyor-General,
In charge Map Record and Issue Office.

Survey of India Department.

RULES FOR THE SUPPLY OF MAPS AND FOR THE EXECUTION OF LITHOGRAPHIC OR PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK ON THE PUBLIC SERVICE OR ON PAYMENT.

A.—Supply of Printed Maps.

1. The Map Record and Issue Office, Calcutta, supplies printed maps from stock on book-debit on the public service. It also arranges for the colouring and mounting of maps when required. All charges for freight and postage of parcels must be borne by applicants themselves. Such incidental charges as colouring, mounting, and binding maps, as well as packing cases, are not to be paid in cash, but will, together with the price of the maps, be adjusted by book-debit, for which purpose it is absolutely necessary that the triplicate copy of the invoice should be signed and promptly returned to this Office.

2. Maps can also be obtained for non-official use from the above mentioned Office on payment prepaid, as well as from the following Local Agents, who, however, have no authority to issue maps on the public service :—

ALLAHABAD—Curator of Government Books.
AHMEDABAD—Huzoor Deputy Collector.
LAHORE—Munshi Gulab Sing.
MADRAS—Messrs. Higginbotham & Co.
LONDON—Mr. Edward Stanford.
NAGPUR—Curator of Government Books.
POONA—Supdt., Govt. Photozincographic Dept.
RAJKOT—Mr. Narainji Sunderji.
RANGOON—Supdt., American Baptist Mission Press.
MANDALAY—Manager, "Mandalay Herald Press."
SIMLA—Mrs. E. Corstorphan.
MUSSOORIE—Secy., Mussoorie Book Society, Baring Institute.

3. All applications for maps on the public service should be made to the Assistant and should give full particulars as to the kind of map and its scale, and any other information that will guide this Office in knowing exactly what is required. In the case of confidential maps the previous sanction of the Foreign Office must be obtained. (N. B. Trans-frontier maps are confidential.)

4. The mode of transit and address or station to which the maps are to be sent should invariably be specified.

5 Indent forms for maps on the public service can be obtained from the Assistant Surveyor-General, in charge of the Map Record and Issue Office.

6. Lists of all newly published maps are periodically notified in the Gazettes of India and Local Governments.

7. All indents for printed maps on the public service must be duly approved and countersigned by the heads of departments, or other authorized officers under whom indenting officers may be serving, before they can be complied with, viz. :—

Survey of India Dept., Trigonometrical Branch,	by Deputy Surveyor-General

Judicial Officers	„ District and Sessions Judges.
All other Civil Officers, or Military Officers in Civil employ.	„ Secretaries to Government or Board of Revenue under which serving.

8. Power is reserved to the Surveyor-General to refer to the Local Government for orders any indent brought to his notice by the Assistant Surveyor-General which may appear to him to require such reference, or to refuse compliance with any indent which he may consider unreasonable.

B.—Requisitions for Lithographic or Photographic Work.

9. The Photographic and Lithographic Office at Calcutta reproduce maps, plans, and drawings by lithography and by photography on book-debit on the public service, and on cash payment in certain special cases only. The Trigonometrical Branch Office at Dehra Dun does not, as a rule, undertake work for other Departments.

10. As a rule, drawings in line can be reproduced by photozincography, if suitably drawn in accordance with instructions which may be obtained on application to the Assistant Surveyor-General, Photographic and Lithographic Office, No. 14, Wood Street, Calcutta. Coloured and other drawings unsuitable for photozincography must be lithographed, but the cost is considerably greater.

11. Photographs if required in large numbers can be cheaply reproduced by the photo-collotype and heliogravure processes from suitable negatives.

12. All applications for Lithographic or Photographic work on the public service should, if possible, be submitted in the following form, which is not required in duplicate. Blank forms may be obtained on application to the Assistant Surveyor-General, Surveyor-General's Office, or as in Rule 10.

Indent No. on the Photographic and Lithographic Office, S. I. Dept., for _____ to be reproduced by _____ for the use of _____ Dated _____ 189 .

Description of map or drawing.	Number of original sheets.	Scale.	Scale of reproduction.	Number of copies required.	Quality and size of paper to be printed on.	Purpose for which required.	How and where to be despatched and other special instructions.
							The address which should be affixed to the parcels or cases to be distinctly given in full. Abbrevia-

I do hereby certify that the maps, &c., specified in this indent, are indispensably necessary to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Recommended.

Countersignature of approving authority. Signature of Indenting Officer, with designation of appointment in full.

13. All necessary information as to the scale of reproduction, number of copies required, quality and size of paper, mode of transit, and address to which proofs and printed copies are to be despatched, should be shown on the face of the indent and not in a covering letter, unless more explanation is required than can be given on the face of the indent.

14. All indents must be duly approved and countersigned by the heads of departments, or the Government under which indenting officers may be serving before they can be supplied, viz. :—

Survey of India Dept., Trigonometrical Branch,	by Deputy Surveyor-General	or by Surveyor-General,
Ditto ditto, Topographical ditto	,, ditto ditto
Ditto ditto, Revenue ditto	,, ditto ditto
Settlement Department	,, Boards of Revenue,
Public Works Department	,, Superintending Engineers or higher authorities,
Military Works Department	,, ditto ditto ditto,
Telegraph Department	,, Director-General of Telegraphs,
Marine Department	,, Superintendent of Marine,
Quartermaster-General's Department and all Military indents.	,, Quartermaster-General of the Army,
All other Civil Officers or Military Officers in Civil employ.	,, Secretary to Governments under which serving or Secretary to Board of Revenue,
Forest Department ...	,, Provincial Conservators and Director of the Forest School at Dehra Dun,
Meteorological Department	,, Meteorological Reporter to Government of India,
Geological Survey	,, Director of the Geological Survey of India, and they should be addressed to the Assistant Surveyor-General, in charge of the Photographic and Lithographic Office, Calcutta, at No. 14, Wood Street.

15. Lithographic and Photographic work will be undertaken on behalf of Municipalities, Port Trusts, Railway Companies, the Trustees of the Indian Museum, and other quasi-official bodies for cash payment on indents in the form prescribed above. Private work cannot be undertaken, except in very special cases, when it cannot possibly be done otherwise, and when the office can take it up without inconvenience. On such work an extra charge of 10 per cent. will be made over and above the usual rates. In all cases where cash payment is required, an estimate will be given, and the amount must be remitted before the work can be put in hand.

16. As a rule, maps and drawings reproduced by lithography or photography are not coloured, but in special cases, where colouring is essential, it can be done and will be charged for on book-debit as prescribed under Rule 1. Packing charges will be dealt with in the same way, but transit charges both ways must be paid by indenting officers.

17. To enable the indenting officer, as well as the officer who countersigns and finally passes an indent, to know the cost involved thereby, a Scale of Charges showing the average ordinary price of each description of work executed in the Photographic and Lithographic Office can be obtained on application.

18. Indents should be regulated, not according to what an officer would like to have, but by what is absolutely necessary. It is in all cases an economy to have maps and drawings reproduced on as small a scale as possible.

C. — Requisitions for Maps required to be specially prepared.

19. In cases where maps are required on service for special purposes, as for illustrating reports for which none of the published maps are suitable, application should be made by letter giving full information, addressed to the Assistant Surveyor-General, in charge of the Drawing Office, 13, Wood Street Calcutta.

The Indian Law Reports,

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

For the complete series, including postage, Rs. 22-8.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

 No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England, exclusive of packing and postage.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the ›uncil of the Governor General of India for e purpose of making Laws and Regulations the 10th July 1890:

No. 9 of 1890.

Bill to provide for certain matters in connection with the taking of the Census.

WHEREAS it has been determined to take a ısus of British India during the year 1891, l it is expedient to provide for certain mat- ; in connection with the taking of such cen- ; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Census Act, 1890; and Title and commencement.

) It shall come into force at once.

(1) This section and sections 3, 4, 13 and 14 extend to the whole of British India.

Extent.

) The remaining sections extend only to parts of British India as the Local Gov- ıent may, by notification in the official ette, direct.

(1) The Local Government may appoint any person, by name or by office, to take, or aid in or supervise the taking of, the Appointment of census-officers.

(3) The Local Government may delegate to such authority as it thinks fit the power of appointing census-officers which is conferred by this section.

4. (1) A declaration in writing, signed by any officer authorized by the Local Government in this behalf, that any person has been duly appointed a census-officer for any local area shall be conclusive proof of such appointment.

Proof of appointment of census-officers, and their status as public servants.

(2) All census-officers shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. XL

5. (1) (a) Every military or naval officer in command of any body of men belonging to Her Majesty's military or naval forces or of any vessel of war, Discharge of duties of census-officers in certain cases.

(b) every person (except a pilot or harbour-master) having charge or control of a vessel,

(c) every person in charge of a lunatic asylum, hospital, workhouse, prison, reformatory or lock-up, or of any public, charitable, religious or educational institution,

(d) every keeper or manager of any sarai, hotel, boarding-house, lodging-house or club, and

(e) every occupant of immoveable property having at the time of the taking of the census not less than fifty persons employed under him on or in such property, shall, if so required by the District Magistrate, or, in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, by such officer as the Local Government of his house or present on or in such property, as such Magistrate or officer may, by written order, direct.

(2) All the provisions of this Act relating to census-officers shall apply, so far as they can be made applicable, to all such persons while performing such duties, and any person refusing or neglecting to perform any duty which he is directed under this section to perform shall be deemed to have committed an offence under XLV of 1860. section 187 of the Indian Penal Code.

Power of District Magistrate to call upon certain persons to give assistance.

6. (1) The District Magistrate may, by written order, call upon all owners and occupiers of land, tenure-holders, farmers, assignees of land-revenue and lessees of fisheries under the Burma VII of 1875. Fisheries Act, 1875, in his district, or their agents, and upon all members of panchayats appointed in his district under the Village VI (B. C.) of 1870. Chaukidari Act, 1870 (Bengal), or the Chota V (B. C.) of 1887. Nagpore Rural Police Act, 1887, to give such assistance as he needs towards the taking of a census of the persons who are at the time of the taking of the census on the lands of such owners, occupiers, holders, farmers and assignees, within the limits of such fisheries or in the villages for which such panchayats are appointed, as the case may be.

(2) Such order shall specify the nature of the assistance required, and such owners, occupiers, holders, farmers, assignees, lessees or their agents, and the members of such panchayats, shall be bound to obey it.

Asking of questions by census-officers.

7. Every census-officer may ask all such questions of all persons within the limits of the local area for which he is appointed as, by instructions issued in this behalf by the Local Government and published in the official Gazette, he may be directed to ask.

Obligation to answer questions.

8. Every person of whom any question is asked under the last foregoing section shall be legally bound to answer such question to the best of his knowledge or belief:

Provided that no person shall be bound to state the name of any female member of his household, and that no woman shall be bound to state the name of her husband or deceased husband.

Occupier to allow access, and permit affixing of numbers.

9. Every person occupying any house, enclosure, vessel or other place shall allow census-officers such access thereto as they may require for the purposes of the census, and as, having regard to the customs of the country, may be reasonable, and shall allow them to paint on or affix to the place such letters or numbers as may be necessary for the purposes of the census.

Occupier to fill up schedule.

10. (1) Subject to such orders as the Local Government may issue in this behalf, any census-officer may leave, or cause to be left, at any dwelling-house within the local the purpose of its being filled up by the occupier of such house or of any specified part thereof with such particulars as the Local Government may direct regarding the inmates of such house or part at the time of the taking of the census.

(2) When any such schedule has been so left, the occupier of the house or part to which it relates shall fill it up to the best of his knowledge or belief, so far as regards the inmates of such house or part, as the case may be, at the time aforesaid, and shall sign his name thereto, and, when so required, shall deliver the schedule so filled up and signed to the census-officer or to such person as he may direct.

Penalties.

11. In any of the following cases, namely:—

(a) if a census-officer without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to act as such,

(b) if a census-officer knowingly and without sufficient cause puts any offensive or improper question or makes any false return,

(c) if any person refuses to answer to the best of his knowledge or belief any question asked of him by a census-officer which he is legally bound by section 8 so to answer,

(d) if any person occupying any house, enclosure, vessel or other place refuses to allow a census-officer such access thereto as he is required by section 9 to allow,

(e) if any person removes, obliterates, alters or injures before the thirty-first day of March, 1891, any letters or numbers which have been printed or affixed under section 9,

(f) if any occupier of a dwelling-house or part thereof knowingly and without sufficient cause fails to comply with the provisions of section 10 or makes any false return under that section, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Jurisdiction in prosecutions.

12. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette,—

(a) declare before what classes of Magistrates prosecutions under this Act, or for neglecting or refusing to do anything required by this Act to be done, may be instituted, and

(b) direct that no such prosecution shall be instituted except with its previous sanction, or with the previous sanction of some officer authorized by it in this behalf.

(2) Unless and until a notification is published under clause (a) of this section, all prosecutions under this Act shall, in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, be instituted before a Presidency Magistrate, and elsewhere

Records of census not admissible in evidence in certain proceedings.

13. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, no entry in any book, register or record made by a census-officer in the discharge of his duty as such officer shall be admissible as evidence in any civil proceeding or any proceeding under Chapter XII or Chapter XXXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882.

Temporary suspension of local enactments and rules as to mode of taking census in municipalities.

14. Notwithstanding anything in any enactment or rule with respect to the mode in which a census is to be taken in any municipality, the municipal authority may, at the time appointed for the taking of the census of British India during the year 1891, cause a census of the municipality to be taken wholly or in part by any method authorised by this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE main objects of this Bill, which generally follows the Indian Census Act, 1880, are to make provision, as regards those parts of the country where such provision may be deemed by Local Governments to be necessary, for (a) empowering enumerators to put questions in accordance with their instructions and to enter enclosures for the purpose of enumeration, (b) imposing penalties for refusal to give proper information, and (c) imposing penalties for misconduct of enumerators.

A new section (section 14) has been added for enabling municipal authorities with whom it may be arranged to have a municipal census taken simultaneously with, and in substitution for, the general census elsewhere, to adopt any of the methods authorised by the proposed Act in lieu of any method or methods enjoined by any local enactment or rule with respect to the mode in which a census is to be taken for purely municipal purposes.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 10th July 1890:

NO. 10 OF 1890.

A Bill to amend the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Addition to section 5 (1), Act XV, 1872.

1. To clause (1) of section 5 of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, the following shall be added, namely:—

"and that within the limits of a diocese the person be acting as a Minister with the previous consent in writing of the Bishop of the diocese."

38 s.

Amendment of section 11, Act XV, 1872.

2. In section 11 of the said Act, after the words "other than a church" the words "belonging to the Church of England" shall be added, and between the word "no" and the word "church" in the expression "unless there is no church" the word "such" shall be inserted.

Substitution of new section for section 62, Act XV, 1872.

3. For section 62 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"62. (1) Every person licensed under section 9 shall keep, in his own vernacular language and in such form as the Local Government by which he was licensed may from time to time prescribe, a register-book of all marriages solemnized under this Part in his presence, and shall deposit in the office of the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under the administration of the said Local Government, in such form and at such intervals as that Government may prescribe, true and duly authenticated extracts from his register-book of all entries made therein since the last of those intervals.

Keeping of register-book and deposit of extracts therefrom with Registrar General.

(2) Where the person keeping the register-book was licensed as regards a Native State by the Governor-General in Council, references in sub-section (1) to the Local Government therein mentioned shall be read as references to the Local Government to whose Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages certified copies of entries in registers of births and deaths are for the time being required to be sent under section 24, sub-section (2), of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886. VI of 1

Substitution of new section for section 66, Act XV, 1872.

4. For section 66 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

False oath, declaration, notice or certificate for procuring marriage.

"66. Whoever, for the purpose of procuring a marriage or license of marriage, intentionally,—

(a) where an oath or declaration is required by this Act, or by any rule or custom of a Church according to the rites and ceremonies of which a marriage is intended to be solemnized, such Church being the Church of England or of Scotland or of Rome, makes a false oath or declaration, or,

(b) where a notice or certificate is required by this Act, signs a false notice or certificate, shall be deemed to have committed the offence punishable under section 193 of the Indian Penal Code with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years and, at the discretion of the Court, with fine." XLV of Amendment of section 68, Act XV, 1872.

5. For the first forty-eight words of section 68 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"Whoever, not being authorised by section 5 of this Act to solemnize marriages, knowingly solemnizes, in the absence of a Marriage Registrar of the district in which the solemnization takes place, a marriage between persons one or both of whom is or are a Christian or Christians, shall be punished".

Addition to section 74.

6. To section 74 of the said Act the following shall be added.

"Whoever, being licensed to grant certificates of marriage under Part VI of this Act, fails to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by that Part shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees."

Amendment of section 86, Act XV, 1872.

7. Section 86 of the said Act shall be read as if the words "situate within or bordering on" instead of the words "situate within the local limits of" had been enacted in that section when the Act was passed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SECTION 1 of the accompanying Bill to amend the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, follows a suggestion adopted at the conference of Anglican Bishops of India and Ceylon held in January, 1888. Its object is to guard against the possibility of a marriage being solemnised by a person who, though episcopally ordained, does not hold the Bishop's license to officiate in the diocese.

2. By section 2 it is proposed to remove an ambiguity in the expression of section 11 of the Act.

3. The object of section 3 is to require a record to be made of every marriage solemnised between Native Christians under Part VI of the Act, whether a certificate of the marriage is applied for and granted or not.

4. Section 4, which follows a suggestion adopted at the conference held in January, 1888, is primarily designed to render liable to punishment under the Indian Penal Code a person taking a false oath before a Surrogate appointed by a Bishop to issue marriage licenses.

5. The object of section 5 is to remove doubts which have arisen in regard to the intention of the legislature owing to the confused expression of the earlier part of section 68 of the Act.

6. By section 6 it is proposed to attach a penalty to failure to perform the duties imposed by Part VI of the Act on persons licensed to grant certificates of marriage under that Part.

7. Section 7 is designed to remove the objection which has been taken to such States as Travancore and Cochin being described in section 86 of the Act as being "situate within the local limits" of the Presidency of Fort St. George.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF MIDNAPORE FLOODS COMMITTEE.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FAMINE.

Calcutta, the 18th July, 1890.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Resolution of this Government, dated the 12th February, 1889.

Report of the Midnapore Floods Committee, dated the 1st June, 1889.

Letter No. 875A, dated the 11th November, 1889, from the Board of Revenue, with enclosures.

Note on embankments in Bengal, by the Chief Engineer, dated the 24th May, 1890.

1. In the autumn of 1888, the attention of the Bengal Government was forcibly drawn to the large loss of crops caused by floods in parts of the district of Midnapore, and particularly in an area of three or four hundred square miles, forming the basins of the Rasulpore and Haldi rivers. Measures were at once taken to relieve the distress of the cultivators, and enquiries were instituted through the Public Works Department to ascertain the origin of the obstruction to drainage in that district with a view to such remedial action as might be found practicable. It was subsequently determined to appoint a Committee, consisting of the Director of Agriculture, Major McArthur, R.E., and Mr. Reily, a Manager of the Burdwan Raj estate part of which lies in the area affected, to make a further investigation. The report of this Committee was received in June, 1889, and immediate effect was given to some of the recommendations it contained. The Lieutenant-Governor, having since received the opinion of the Collector, the Commissioner, and the Board of Revenue on the subject, is now in a position to review the proposals made by the Committee.

2. In regard to the origin of the disaster, the report of the Committee

1823, 1831, 1832, 1833, 1848 and 1850, a fact which indicates an original deficiency in the natural drainage of these basins, antecedent to the action taken within the last forty years. During that period Government has spent half a million sterling on embankments in Midnapore, four times as much as all the other landlords of that district. Moreover, a sea-dyke has been recently constructed in connexion with the tidal canal, which has, according to the Committee, conferred enormous benefits on the landlords and tenants by protecting their lands from the numerous inundations of the sea to which they were formerly exposed. It is desirable, in considering the general bearing of the report, to bear these facts in mind, as the Committee necessarily dwell mainly on the defects in the action of Government, giving less prominence to the natural agencies which produce floods in Midnapore, and to the success with which in many places these have been counteracted.

3. The Committee attribute great importance, as a subsidiary cause of the floods, to the embanking, by cultivators, for the purpose of reclamation, of salt-water marshes, or low-lying wastes, which has led to the silting up of the tidal creeks, notably those known by the names of Bagda and Mydakhally. As observed in the Public Works Department of this Government—

"These creeks for seven or eight months of the year discharge little or no natural drainage; but so long as the low country lying about them was, comparatively speaking, unembanked, the flood tides swept freely over it; while, with the return of the ebb, these accumulated waters were poured back into the channels with redoubled force, and so scoured them out.. By this simple process the creeks were maintained by nature in an efficient state to discharge the drainage of the monsoon. During recent years, however, the large tidal basin has been embanked and reclaimed. The consequence is that the tidal waves are headed back by the embankment and deposit their silt in the bed of the creeks, which are rapidly rising above the level of the country which they formerly drained. Thus after heavy rainfall not only is the whole of the reclaimed country thrown out of cultivation, but the drainage of more inland tracts is blocked and their crops also are damaged and destroyed."

The ryots themselves have urged the same views on Government by petition, and there seems to be no doubt as to the reality of the evil. Mr. Price, when Settlement Officer, indicated in detail the extent to which private persons possess interests in these lands, the proprietary right of which generally vests in Government. The Committee's recommendations in this matter are as follow:—

(1) That the Public Works Department should determine and mark off the portion of the jalpai lands necessary to afford a sufficient spill area;

(2) That a detailed survey should be made of the lands so defined, to ascertain what bunds should be removed and what compensation should be given for such removal; and

(3) That meanwhile no new settlement of jalpai lands should be made, except for grazing purposes, growth of trees, or other purposes not involving the construction of embankments, and that the construction of new embankments, on jalpai lands already settled within the area considered sufficient by the Public Works Department for spill area, be stopped.

From paragraph 31 of the report it appears that both the Engineer officers and the natives of the district attach more importance to the effect of embanking the jalpai land than the Committee quite endorse; but in the face of the facts and arguments adduced by the Executive Engineer, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot but accept the conclusion that embankments are primarily responsible for the entire difficulty. Cross-dams have doubtless done much harm and accelerated the deterioration of the drainage channels, but until the main drainage channels had been very considerably silted up, cross-dams in them, as, e.g., that at Birjoo, would not have been possible. The sections of the country between the marginal embankments of the Sadar and Bagdu nullahs show that the silting of that portion of the country through which the flood waters are supposed to escape, and of the beds of those nullahs (which are the main drainage lines), has been so great that practically the drainage has to be passed away on the top of an embanked ridge, and that a state of things has resulted which calls for some much more radical measures area," at least as a permanent remedy for the existing evil, inasmuch as these lands are already much silted up and are already considerably higher than the "protected" lands which have to be drained; but, as a remedial measure, the re-opening of these lands to tidal spill, and the absolute prohibition of any new embankment within their limits, will no doubt for a time put a check on the present rapidly increasing obstruction to the drainage of the country, and from this point of view His Honour accepts the conclusions arrived at, and the Board will be requested to make the necessary arrangements as soon as possible in communication with the Public Works Department of this Government.

4. The second cause of floods, as disclosed by the Committee's report, is the construction of cross-dams in the main drainage channels for the purpose of excluding salt water during the dry season. It is stated that—

"The immediate effect of a cross-dam in a tidal channel is to cause a deposit of silt below the dam. In the flood season, when the flow of drainage took place, the dams were cut, and there was a sufficient scour to clear out the beds of the channels. Some deposit did, however, take place, which it was important to remove, and this necessitated the construction of the dam at a lower point in the channel in order to facilitate its removal. Cross-dams were in former years, and as recently as the year 1884, constructed in the Itaberiah, Oodbadul khals, but they were replaced eventually by one dam in the Sadar khal, below the junction of these khals with the main drainage channel, and the last dam constructed in 1887 was made at Birjoo, some three miles only above Kalinagar lock. The effect has been to concentrate the deposit of silt carried up by the first rush of the flood tide and create an obstruction in the main channel.

"During our inspection of the Kolaberiah khal it was found that, although no obstruction was apparent in the bed at the sites of various cross-dams that had been constructed since 1882, at the Birjoo cross-dam there was a depth of water of only 1 foot below the dam, while the depth was 4½ feet above.

"The accumulation of silt here was due to a deposit which had taken place during two years, and which extended to either bank. The cross-dam had been cut in the centre, but not to a width or depth sufficient to allow of drainage water from above being effectually discharged.

"At the same time, following on a recent settlement of the jalpai lands, bunds were being constructed by the chakdars (settlement-holders) along the margin of the channel, and the area of the channel was being contracted.

"Every condition existed for favouring the rapid silting up of the bed and blocking the drainage of the country above.

"It was shown by a cross-section of the country, taken during our inspection, that had free flow been allowed to the entrance of the tidal water, at a point about two miles above the cross-dam at Birjoo, the high tide in the flood season would have risen to 2½ feet above the country immediately on either side of the Sadar khal, and 5 feet above it for a distance of upwards of half a mile on either side to the Government embankments."

The recommendations of the Committee in regard to cross-dams are as follow:—

"I. Cross-dams in the main arterial drainage channels should be removed, and the reconstruction of them should not be allowed save where they are really required in order to protect cultivated land in the neighbourhood of these channels from inundation by salt water. Under the notification to which we have already referred, the construction of these cross-dams without the previous permission of the Collector is prohibited in many, if not in all, the main drainage channels. Moreover the construction of cross-dams in any water-course protected by the public embankments specified in schedule D, Act II of 1882, is illegal, apart from any special notification. The Collector should not, we think, give his consent to the construction of cross-dams unless and until the Engineer has reported, after local inquiry, that the cross-dam is required in each case, and the Engineer should not report in favour of allowing cross-dams save when he has ascertained that the mischief likely to be caused by the construction of a dam is less than the injury which is likely to ensue from unpreventable inundation of cultivated land by tidal water. It must be remembered, too, that it is not enough, in order to justify the construction of these cross-dams, to be able to show that without them certain lands are liable to inundation. It is further necessary to ascertain that such lands cannot be protected by repairs of the existing "hussea" bunds along the sides of the channels, or by the construction of new "hussea" bunds. These "hussea" bunds should be repaired or constructed, as the case may be, at expense of the parties whose lands are protected in the manner provided in the Act. Where channels are protected by public embankments now under charge of public officers, and maintained at the public expense, either as being included in schedule D embankments, or as being situated in Government estates, such repairs of "hussea" bunds as may be required in order to permit of the removal of cross-dams, or prohibition of their reconstruction, will have to be undertaken by the Public Works Department. So also, when Public Works officers have, in connection with the coast or other canals, diverted the ordinary drainage into new channels (called pass khals), Government is responsible for keeping these channels in efficient condition and for maintaining the "hussea" bunds abounding them, so far as the channels are new. Though we are of opinion that the hasty construction of these dams across in due time, has caused much mischief, yet we are not prepared to recommend their wholesale removal or absolute prohibition in future, without having it carefully ascertained beforehand in each case that adequate precaution has been taken to guard against the mischief which might ensue from inundation of cultivated land by salt water. It may be well here to remark that we do not attribute blame to the officers of the Public Works Department, or to the Collector, for having hitherto allowed the construction of these dams in the past. Of the expediency of allowing them there has always been some doubt, and some of them have been constructed from time immemorial.

"Our remarks on the injury that results from these dams, and the inexpediency in general of allowing them to be made, do not apply to temporary dams made for the purpose of permitting the excavation of the beds of the channels themselves when these channels require to be cleared. But even as to temporary dams, made merely for the purpose of permitting excavation of the beds of water channels, care should be taken that they are removed as soon as the channels above them have been cleared. They cause a deposit of silt at or near them. This silt raises the bed of the stream below the dam, and this affects the level at which water flows off throughout the whole country served by the channel. In this way one cross-dam near the mouth of the Kolaberiah khal affected most injuriously the drainage of the Jellamutha and Sujamutha pergunnahs, and caused much loss to the Government khas mehals in the Burdwan estate—a loss which might have been almost entirely obviated by removal of the dam and clearing out of the deposit of silt caused by it between the site of the dam and the mouth of the khal. Since the date of our visit the silt caused to be deposited by the dam in question has been, at our suggestion, cleared away, with the result that the water-logged parts of Sujamutha at once dried up. Wherever, therefore, a cross-dam is constructed, even for a temporary purpose, the authority which constructs or permits its construction should be held responsible, not alone for the removal of the dam in due time, so as not to interfere with the general drainage of the country served by the channel, but also for the removal of any silt which may have been deposited below the dam, which would affect the level of the bed of the stream."

These proposals are approved by the local officers as well as by the Board, but the damage done by these cross-dams is doubtless so great that His Honour is inclined to think that the prohibition suggested in the opening lines of the above quotation from the report is not sufficiently stringent, and that no cross-dams should be allowed except temporary dams put by the Engineer in charge to allow of silt clearance above them, and that the officer putting such dam should be responsible for its complete removal at the earliest possible opportunity. All existing cross-dams, whether in major or minor drainage lines, should be removed. "Hussea" bunds are almost equally objectionable as contracting the area over which the tidal water can spill, and even though the plea be to keep the tide off otherwise culturable land, no increase in their existing number or section should be permitted. The Board add a recommendation in favour of the construction of sluices, which may be separately submitted in connexion with any particular case in which such a sluice may be desirable.

5. The third cause affecting the floods is the canalization of the Sarpai, as to which the Committee observe—

III.—Canalization of the Sarpai.

"It cannot be denied that the construction of a sluice at the mouth of the Sarpai, constituting as it does a permanent cross-dam, has accelerated the deposit of silt in the channel of the Bagda below it, and that too to such an extent as materially to reduce its discharging power. The silting up of the Bagda was, however, stated by Mr. Levinge, before the canalization of the Sarpai, to be only a question of time, and would have occurred apart from that canalization, owing to the causes described in the preceding paragraphs (I and II), had no remedy for them been applied."

As a further remedial measure they proposed to utilise the Balliaghye branch canal as a drain for the country formerly drained by this portion of the Bagda. This, it was stated, will involve a flood enbankment on the right side of the canal, and cutting of an outlet into the Bagda above the Sarpai sluice, and, it is supposed, will cost about Rs. 1,20,000. The work has now been partly executed, and even in its unfinished state has had the most marked success, having the effect of stopping the silting up of the Rasulpore river, and, perhaps, of slightly diminishing the effect of former silting, but unfortunately it appears to be doubtful whether this improvement will be permanent.

6. The Committee do not attribute great comparative importance to the obstruction to drainage caused by the Hidgellee Tidal Canal, as to which they remark as follows:—

"We visited, as already stated, certain places where it had been represented that the natural drainage had been obstructed by the Hidgellee Canal. We found that the old khals or drainage channels had been blocked at these places, but it was stated that sufficient waterway had been provided by the diversion of the old drainage into new channels which the pass khal provided was not in working order in the places visited, and that these khals do not provide as efficiently for the drainage of the country in the immediate neighbourhood of the canals as the old water-courses. Major McArthur gave instructions by which it is understood this defect will be remedied. The remodelling of the Hidgellee Tidal Canal—a project which, we understand, has been recently sanctioned by the Government of India—will, by the lowering of the bed of the canal, afford complete facilities for drainage of that part of country so far as it has been obstructed by this canal."

The work of putting in order the outfalls, and deepening the bed of this canal, is now in progress, and will, it is believed, completely remedy the defects indicated.

7. The Committee properly point out that embankments Nos. 43, 44 and portions of Nos. 40 and 42 were removed from the schedule of works which Government is bound to maintain, without giving to those concerned the notice required by law. This was, no doubt, an error, and in future greater care must be taken to carry out in its entirety the procedure prescribed by the Act. The question whether the defect may affect claims of remission for revenue must be decided separately in each case. The report of the Committee does not indicate that the maintenance of these embankments would by itself have been a measure of any utility.

8. The following recommendations, less directly connected with the causes of the flood, have been made by the Committee:—The drainage of the Government land in the Argoal circuit at a cost of Rs. 50,000; a cutting across from the mouth of the Kholabaria khal to a point near the Kalinagar bungalow, also estimated to cost Rs. 50,000; and a sluice at Bhograi, to cost Rs. 6,000, also a new sluice at Baintghur estimated at Rs. 42,000. In view, however, of the arguments brought forward to show that the silting up of the Russulpore is due to the tidal water being confined to the bed of the river, instead of being able to spill over a wide extent of country forming a reservoir out of which a sufficient body of water returns at ebb tide to create an efficient scour, it seems doubtful whether these proposed cuts and sluice at Baintghur (that at Bograi is in quite a different locality) will not very soon share the fate of the Russulpore into which they would open, and silt up to such an extent as to be useless. Their usefulness depends entirely on keeping the Russulpore river open, and their action in doing so would not appear to be more than very partial and temporary; being of the nature of a continuation merely of the channel of the Russulpore, the action which has taken place there would equally take place in the new cuts. This matter should receive careful consideration in the Public Works Department before such large sums of money are expended on the proposed works.

9. The Committee observe—

"It is manifest that it will be of little use to have the main rivers or khals kept open by Government if the subsidiary channels which pass through several estates are neglected, and that it is useless for a particular zemindar to keep that part of a channel open which passes through his own estate, if his neighbour neglects his part. Many of these channels have been neglected by private owners, and it is obvious that it should not be open to any owner to keep in efficient working order or not, as he pleases, a channel which does not affect him alone, but others whose lands may be situated many miles away from his property. The want of practical interest in the maintenance of embankments and of power of co-operation on the part of the zemindars, was pointed out by Mr. H. V. Bayley in his notes on Midnapore in 1851, and he recommended that 'they should be disconnected with all direct concern in payment for execution of repairs.' The same principles apply with equal or greater force to the clearing of watercourses."

On this view they recommend that charge be taken by the Public Works Department of all the main arterial drainage channels, and that they be kept up at the expense of the zemindars and ryots concerned in the manner provided in Parts II and VI of Act II (B.C.) of 1882. The Commissioner and Collector concur in this opinion, from which the Board do not dissent. The law gives the Collector a discretion to initiate proceedings of the kind indicated, and enquiries should be conducted by him at once, in communication with the Public Works Department, with a view to giving effect to the policy advocated by the Committee.

10. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are tendered to the members of the Committee for their careful enquiry and full report.

ORDER—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that copies of it be forwarded to the Public Works Department of this Government, and the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.
